MANY VISITORS ATTEND OPENING

Big Store of Medford Furniture & Hardware Company is Thronged With People at Formal Opening Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

All Saturday afternoon and evening, until close to midnight, the new Medford Furniture & Hardware store was thronged with visitors upon the occasion of its formal opening. A goodly proportion of Medford's population was present and many came in from different parts of the valley.

The big store was very appropriately decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, many of which were gifts from local and Portland friends of the firm.

Although the opening was styled a formal one, there was a free air of informality about it. The whole store was thrown open and the visitors were asked to inspect every department. The stock was arranged with the idea of display only and upon every floor delightful rest places were provided.

While the big crowd wandered about an orchestra furnished music and this program was varied with an occasional cornet, violin or vocal solo. Congratulations were freely expressed by everyone present and many came in by wire from outside sources.

The formal opening of the new store gave an adequate idea to the people of the valley as to the size and completeness of the institution. That so many people took the opportunity to be present proves the local interest in the venture and was very gratifying to the management.
