

GENERAL KILLED BOMB EXPLOSION

Imperial Commanders Throughout Chinese Empire Are Demoralized as a Result of the Assassination of General.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 26.—General Feng Shan, commander of the garrison at Canton, is reported to have been killed by a bomb explosion, according to advices received here. First reports stated that the general had escaped although members of his escort were killed.

The revolutionists are said to have plotted General Feng Shan's destruction with secret allies in his service. The rebels are declared to have desired him out of the way in preparation for an attack on Canton.

An able soldier and a strategist, he would have made a brave defense against occupation of the city, which is thought to be the next move of the rebel army. Imperial commanders throughout the empire are reported in a state bordering on demoralization as a result of the assassination.
