

HUME ESTATE CHANGES HANDS

Macleay Estate Buys 15,000 Acre Southern Oregon Place for Sum of $250,000—Deal Has Been Pending for Past Six Months.

The Hume estate of 15,000 acres at the mouth of the Rogue river was sold Saturday for $250,000 to the Macleay estate, of which R. L. Macleay of Portland is president.

The deal has been pending, it is said, for the past six months. The unwillingness of the Hume estate owners, most of whom are residents in California, is understood to have been a retarding factor in completing the sale.

"We shall proceed upon a very liberal policy of settlement and development," said Mr. Macleay. Overlaid with the romance of gold hunting days, rich in timber, with a control over the river mouth and its banks on both sides for fifteen miles back, and including a five mile coast line where centers the famous black, gold-bearing sand, the transfer of the great estate is accounted one of the most important and significant in the history of Oregon.

Hundreds of miners and gold seekers came in the early days from California to try for fortune in the black sands of the coast. Gradually the slow panning processes were supplemented by gold mining plants. Although the center of the gold producing region, modern mining plants have never been installed on the Hume estate, but now that it is Macleay property, said Mr. Macleay, the rich possibilities will be developed to the maximum. Recently the government has sent its experts to look into the region and it is said reports were highly favorable, provided the method of mining is right.

SAYS HIS LITTLE SON KNOWS HOW HE FEELS

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Nov. 6.—"Da may hang me for da murder of my leetle Domitiek, but da boy, I betcha been understands just how his daddy feel about dis thing." This is the continual wail today of John Reeh, Italian gardener, as he sits in his cell, awaiting trial for the alleged murder of his two days' old son. His wife, who is charged with giving consent to the murder sits on her cot in an adjoining cell and maintains that the high cost of living has unbalanced her husband's mind.

AMERICANS IN PEKIN MAY BE MASSACRED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—Concern is expressed concerning Americans in Pekin by the state department here this afternoon as a result of the reported capture of the Chinese city. No dispatches have been received from the legation for two days. Confidence is expressed, however, that the Americans are safe, as the revolutionists have consistently protected the lives and property of foreigners so far during the trouble. The war department will wait until tomorrow before sending inquiries to China regarding the fate of Pekin.

AGED FATHER COMES TO DEFENCE OF THE REV. RICHESON.

Rev. Richeson, who is accused of inducing a young Boston girl to take poison, has found a staunch defender in his father who has come to his son's defense.

Edwin S. Watson, Treasurer of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Cambridge, Mass., is the father of Rev. Richeson.

MONEY RAISED TO SEND CAR

Entering of Newtowns at Spokane National Apple Show Is Assured—Apples Are Very Fine—Grown by Houston Bros.

The committee which is in charge of raising the necessary funds to send a car of Newtowns to the Spokane National Apple show is making much progress with its work and the sending of the car is now assured. The car of apples was grown on the Buckeye orchard near Talent, owned by Houston Bros., and is very fine. Experts declare it will be certain of a blue ribbon.

TEHRAN, Persia, Nov. 6.—Russia has threatened to occupy the provinces of Ghilan and Mazanderan, in the north, unless the Persian foreign minister apologizes to the Russian vice consul, M. Petroff. The threat arises from an insult the Persian minister is said to have given the vice consul on the occasion of the seizure of the property of Shun-E-Saltaneh. Russia also demands reinstatement of Persia cossacks there.

GREAT PHOTOPLAY AT STAR TONIGHT

Dante's Inferno, Greatest Moving Picture Drama Ever Taken Will Be Shown This Evening at Popular Play House.

What is called the world's greatest moving picture will be seen in Medford this evening and for two days following at the Star theatre, when Dante's Inferno will be disclosed. This film has been passed by the censors at Portland and held by them to be a wonderful piece of work from an educational, scenic and mechanical standpoint.

A trip with Dante through hell and heaven is shown on the film. The obstacles to be overcome to keep up the illusion are many, but have all been met. There are 5000 feet of film, depicting the ten days' journey, and a larger troupe of actors are shown than appears in most operas. The costuming and grouping of the scenes follow out the ideas of the artist, Gustave Dore, illustrator whose pictures for the Inferno won him undying fame. Because the films faithfully followed the costuming there was an unsigned protest made against the pictures in Portland but the board of censors held that there were no grounds for the complaint. The price paid for state rights to this picture and the money spent in producing and advertising it are on a par with that given the big theatrical enterprises.

EXPECT HEAVY VOTE IN FRISCO TUESDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 6.—A vote of not more than 60,000 at tomorrow's municipal election is predicted by Secretary James Wilson of the union labor party county committee today, who also says that a large number of labor candidates will succeed in winning office. He claims the reelection of Sheriff Finn, Auditor Boyle and possibly District Attorney Fickert and Coroner Toner, and says there is a possibility that labor candidates may control the next board of supervisors. Secretary Forbes of the Republican county committee says that the sentiment in favor of Mayor-elect Ralph will give him a solid Republican board with majorities of from 5000 to 10,000.

BEHLIN, Nov. 6.—A storm sweeping the Baltic and North Sea coast today sank an unidentified steamer off Cuxhaven, distressed several others, destroyed dykes over the country and is causing much general damage. Boats and soldiers are being rushed to the coast in special trains.

MEDFORD TEAM WINS 25 TO 0

Easily Defeat Grants Pass a Second Time—Total Points Scored by Medford this Season is Sixty-Nine.

(By Grid Iron.) By taking the football game from Grants Pass Saturday by a score of 25 to 0, the Medford high school team has brought their total for the season up to 6 points. The game was largely a repetition of the former game with the Pass, Medford using it to develop trick plays, individual ability showing strongly Grants Pass has improved and considering the fact that it has no second team to practice against, put up a creditable fight. The style of play used showed the strength of Beveridge, Isaacs, White, Ware and McDonald. The line is getting into shape but has the most work out before it to be right in the Eugene game that comes on the 18th. Medford football fans will have a chance to see some good games in the near future. Ashland will be here Saturday and Eugene, the next Saturday has hopes of championship. The boys came out of the game in good condition with the exception of Beveridge who has a sore arm.

COAST HANDICAP 1912 PORTLAND

Evidently Efforts of Medford Rod and Gun Club to Bring Shoot to Medford Have Proven to Be Unsuccessful.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6.—The Pacific coast handicap shotgun shoot scheduled for June will be held in Portland according to present indications, officials of the Portland gun club declared today. The 1910 and 1911 shoots were held in Seattle. The event is the banner shotgun shoot of the coast.

The members of the Medford Rod & Gun Club recently made an attempt to bring the 1912 shoot to Medford but evidently they were unsuccessful.

The Sense of Smell. "It is the upper part of the nose that smells," said a perfumer. "The lining there is very sensitive and brown in color, not red, as in the lower nose. Men are more sensitive to odors than women. Scientific tests have shown, I believe, that, while many men can detect the smell of prussic acid even when there is only one part of the acid to two million parts of water, the average woman fails to detect the smell if there are less than ten parts of the acid. Though the white man is much less sensitive to odors than the savage, a prolonged stay in a part of the world where smells are few puts a very fine edge on the sense of smell. Dr. Nansen has declared that when returning from the ice world to Franz Josef Land he knew when he was approaching the assistant he had left there by smelling his scented soap long before he saw him. He could, too, when approaching the hut have given an inventory of the stores there, as he smelled everything it contained separately and distinctly."

Ruled His Servants by Fines. Sir Richard Newdigate, a seventeenth century Warwickshire squire, whose papers were published some years ago by one of his descendants, ruled his servants by a system of fines. The value at which he rated domestic crimes is shown by such entries in his diary as: "Nan Newton, for breaking a teapot, 2s. 6d.; Richard Knight, for pride and slighting, 2s. 6d.; William Hotherington, for not being ready to go to church three Sundays, 18 pence; Thomas Birdall, for being at Nuneaton from morning till night, 5 shillings; cook, dead drunk, 10 shillings." As his cook's wages were only 4s a year she paid pretty dearly for her lapse from sobriety. Sir Richard had a system of rewards as well as penalties. "To my three daughters," he writes, "because they came to prayers, 3 shillings," and "to Tom Cooper, who worked hard after he broke his head, 2s. 6d."

Origin of Foxe's "Book of Martyrs." Foxe's "Book of Martyrs" was published in March, 1563, as the "Actes and Monuments" of an earlier book, says the London Chronicle. The famous volume might never have appeared at all but for the association of Foxe with the printer Day of Aldersgate street, in whose business Foxe took an active part. On the tombstone of Day in the church of Little Bradley, Suffolk, the partnership is thus immortalized: He et a Fox to wright how martyrs runne By death to lyfe; Fox ventured paynes and health To give them light; Days spent in print his wealth.

Even in those days the alien problem troubled industry, for we find Foxe appealing to Cecil to relax the law and permit his friend Day to engage more than four foreign printers.

Iron In Plants. Iron is the substance which gives the green appearance to foliage. It forms a constituent part of chlorophyll and is the green coloring matter which stains the bodies inside the cells of leaves, called plastids. When the first organized food is being formed in the leaves from water and carbonic acid gas a certain amount of energy is required. This is obtained from the sun's rays, but the work of absorbing it is carried out by the chlorophyll. It requires very little iron for the production of all the chlorophyll found in a crop, and nearly all soils contain an abundant supply.
