

LOCAL MEETINGS GROW IN POWER

Great Crowds Attend Revival Being Held at Baptist Church and Accord Dr. Palmer a Great Deal of Attention.

The meetings now in progress at the First Baptist church, Rev. A. A. Holmes, pastor, are growing in power. Great crowds are listening with attention to the sermons being delivered by Dr. Ray Palmer of St. Louis.

All denominations are attending the services, and all express themselves as being highly pleased with the evangelist, his methods and messages. The greatest congregation of the meetings filled the church last night. The singing by the choir is one attractive feature of the revival.

The pastor, Rev. Holmes, has his finger right on the pulse of the meetings. He is a general in the command of his forces, and he seems to stand right back of the evangelist in his work. Last night there were hearty amens as Dr. Palmer scored point after point against the liquor traffic and other great social evils.

Palmer said last night that he was not here to abuse saloonkeepers—he had long since ceased to do that. He declared that the saloons of Medford were here by the suffrage of the people. He raised his voice to a thrilling key and, emphasizing his words with a stamp of the foot, exclaimed: "Hear me, my brother; if all the pastors and churches of Medford would get together, every saloon would be closed tomorrow morning!" (Loud amens over the congregation.)

"Yes," cried the preacher, "when the church crowd of Medford stand before the judgment throne, the blood of lost souls will be on their garments because they permitted the le-galised saloon in this beautiful city. God help the preachers and the churches to get together and drive the curse from Medford," said the evangelist. "Yes," said the speaker, "and then convert the saloonkeepers and bartenders and make them into Baptist deacons, Presbyterian elders and Methodist stewards. God knows some of these fellows would, when born again, beat some of the dead-heads you now have as church officers."

Dr. Palmer told the story of the conversion of John Redding, a Presbyterian evangelist. John was once a drunken tramp. He went to see his old mother back east. Early in the morning he started to the saloon. He had to pass through his mother's room. She was awake. "Awake, mother?" said John. "Are you ill, mother?" "Ah, worse than ill, my boy," replied the mother. "My heart is broken. I am going to die in a few days. Oh, John, I have been awake all night thinking of you—thinking of when you were a sweet, pure baby in my arms. Oh, I thought then my boy can never grow up to be wicked, but, John, for many years you have been a drunkard and a gambler. I have heard you curse Christ, my Savior. Oh, John, promise you will be a Christian." John staid, "Mother, I'll try."

"Com eand kneel by my bed, John, and let me pray for you," said the mother. John knelt there; her hands were on his head. "Such a prayer," said John, "as I never heard before in my life my mother put up to God for me." John left the room, went to the saloon, got drunk again. His mother died in a few days. He was so drunk at the funeral his friends had to hold him up. Soon his wife left him and for two years he became a tramp. He returned home, his wife met him at the door. "Oh, John," she cried, throwing her arms around his neck, "thank God you have come back. If you w ildly be a Christian I shall be your wife again. Get on your knees and let us pray," said Sallie. John knelt. The broken-hearted wife prayed mightily to God to save her husband. Then she said, "Now, John, you pray." He said from the depths of his despair: "Oh, God, have mercy on me, an old bloke!" God heard and answered the prayer. John was saved. He became a preacher. For more than twenty years John Redding preached the gospel of Jesus Christ.

At the close of the sermon many came forward. Rev. Holmes, the pastor, said to the evangelist: "Why, I was converted under the preaching of John Redding, and he afterward helped me in two revivals." It was a striking coincidence.

Dr. Palmer will preach tonight on "The Crown of Gold," one of the evangelist's best. You can't afford to miss it.

ASHLAND WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Mrs. E. M. Harrison Takes Bichloride of Mercury—Extreme Measures Are Found Necessary to Save Her Life.

(Ashland Tidings.)

Mrs. E. M. Morrison, who lives at the corner of Third and A streets, took a bichloride of mercury tablet shortly before 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with suicidal intent, it is said. Immediately afterward she notified others in the house and hurry calls were sent to three physicians, all of whom responded at once. Extreme measures were taken and Mrs. Harrison's life was saved.

Mrs. Harrison bought a bottle of the tablets at a drug store. This bottle contained 100 of the tablets, a single one of which is sufficient to cause speedy death. The doctors at first doubted whether she had actually taken one of them, but the tablets were counted and, as only ninety-nine remained, doubts on this score were removed.

The woman has two small children and was divorced from her husband not long ago. It is said that domestic troubles prompted her attempt to end her life.

No sooner had Mrs. Harrison taken the tablet than she became greatly excited and went into hysterics. After the physician had worked over her for a time, however, she recovered and was taken to the hospital to receive proper care and prevent a possible second attempt.

Perhaps one of the letters you ought to write during the next hour is a reply to some one of today's want ads.

IRRIGATION

IRRIGATION is the science of giving a plant just as much moisture as it needs, and just exactly when it needs it.

IRRIGATION has added more wealth to the country in the last ten years than any three of the largest resources combined. Thousands of acres of worthless land have been reclaimed and some of this land has sold for the highest prices ever paid for horticultural or agricultural land.

IRRIGATION will reclaim "the desert," 6500 acres will be developed into a vast orchard district. "The desert" when irrigated will prove to be the best orchard land in the Rogue River Valley.

IRRIGATION will make the Rogue River Valley famous for its berries. The largest yields in the next few years will come from "the desert."

IRRIGATION will add thousands of acres to the producing area of the Rogue River Valley, and in these new districts there will be no crop failure, for irrigation is a guarantee of bountiful yields, and is real crop insurance for the grower.

IRRIGATION in the Willamette Valley has increased production from sixty to three hundred per cent. It will do the same in the Rogue River Valley.

IRRIGATION will double the population of Medford and the Rogue River Valley in the next few years. New homes will be established. Orchards will be planted on lands that have never been productive. "The desert" will be redeemed and a thousand families will be added through this development.
