OREGON APPLES ARE IN DEMAND

Consul at Southampton, England, Writes of Market There for Oregon-grown Fruit—Demand Constantly Increasing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 2.—Consul Swain, of Southampton, England, reports that imports of apples in cases at Southampton have greatly increased in the past two years, a growth to which the orchardists of the state of Oregon have contributed largely.

The financial results of the second year of this fruit in the Southampton market led a number of Oregon growers to do their own shipping and consigning, with a view to direct trading. The demoralizing effect of these indiscriminate shipments can best be known by concrete examples.

The result was that instead of a well regulated sale of that apple at good prices throughout the season, the early buyers found themselves in competition with dealers whose fruit had cost them much less.

A somewhat different result was obtained by the Oregon apple, known in Southampton as the Winter Banana. Control of this variety fell into the hands of one man, who judiciously fed the consignments to the market at constantly advancing prices.

England's purchases of apples from the west are of vast importance to the American orchardist. If the grower is rightly advised and follows a good business policy, he can be sure of profitable returns in Southampton market, but he must keep control of his shipments, never allowing the Covent Garden auction to make him a victim.

THE DYNAMITERS.

IT SEEMS to be the unfortunate fate of labor to continually exalt crooks, thugs, dynamiters and grafters, who, masquerading in the mantle of a just cause, prey upon their toiling victims, and seek to perpetuate their leadership through acts of insane violence.

Crimes committed in the name of labor are seldom the work of the toiler, but rather of those whom our socialist friends call in other classes "parasites," the walking delegate and agitator who live upon and by others' toil.

The McNamaras are unspeakable. Their bloody hands have not only wantonly and needlessly sacrificed innocent humanity, but they have imposed upon the confidence and betrayed the faith of millions of honest workmen, who were led to believe them champions of the cause of labor, attacked by organized greed.

Only contempt can be the portion of Clarence Darrow, who smote the rock of public credulity that a golden stream of revenue might gush forth from the pockets of the poor.

No capitalist, not even General Otis, ever exploited the people more thoroughly than the McNamaras and their defenders, pharisees of altruistic beliefs and humanitarian professions. Their graft was nation-wide and they kept at it until the coils had so tightened that the case was hopeless.

And now we are told by the Associated Press that "the principles of the teachings of Jesus and the golden rule settled the McNamara case!"

Not the Cost of Living, but the Standard of Living Has Gone Up

By E. J. Kenny in the American Magazine for November, 1911.

As a boy in the early '70s I remember going to the store for my mother and paying nothing less than $1 per pound for tea. Flour was 6 or 7 cents per pound. Sugar was 8 to 10 cents, coffee 40 and 45 cents.

Simply this: I have altered the whole plan of living as compared with my father's time, and instead of doing the thousand and one things personally which my parents did for themselves, I employ others to do them for me, and, of course, have to pay them.

The Cost of a Steak Depends on Handling. A dollar is not a unit of gold, but a unit of labor.

Market Basket Better Than Telephone. If I do as my daddy did, get up in the morning, take my market basket and walk to the places where the same quality of food and vegetables as he bought are still handled, I will get them at the same price.

But the laboring man? A few years ago we had no such man in America. He doesn't exist today in certain parts of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, or Texas, or any other state.

Comparison of Bank Statements Proves It. Finally, I would suggest a comparison of the savings banks' statements of today, ten years ago, twenty years ago; and so on.

Young Wolgat, a likable lad with a sweet smile, took the honors of the evening by displaying real class as a boxer. His opponent Driscoll decided he had enough in the third.

"The most successful season the fish hatchery has ever had" is the report Hugh C. Mitchell, government fish culturist, brings down from the government fish hatchery on Trail creek.

Nearly 5,000,000 salmon eggs have been taken to date, and all of these eggs will be hatched at the hatchery and planted in Rogue river. Here, therefore the greater part of the eggs taken at this station have been shipped and planted in other streams of Oregon and California.
