(By A. C. flowlett.)

When I last wrote I promised to when I last wrote I promised to her we, that is the groom, bride and give an account of my trip and exgive an account of my trip and exyour correspondent, took leave of the Mint, Angel Island Pan-American 200-acre stock ranch one mile from perience up on Lost creek on Thanks. giving day. Well, Charley Cincade was on hand bright and early and we seen got the burgy ready and started for Mr. Gressom's on the headwaters of Lost creek. The old home place as the parents have morning was cold and frosty but we moved to Eagle Point, and the two Angeles. From the latter place visit both had prepared for a cold ride brothers have rented the farm and Pasadena, Redlands, Venice and San and consequently did not suffer any great amount with the cold and after we had made about eight miles the sun began to warm up the atmosphere and we had time and opportunity to take in the sights along the road. But before I go any further I must mention some of the things I the banker, recorder; Ed Cincade enjoy the fishing. Returning northnoticed along the road, for bear is minfil that we were traveling through one of the finest valley in southern Oregon. Just after leaving Eagle l'oint, with its fine gardens and orchards we passed the beautiful farm and orchard owned by Mr. Cooley of Medford; just across the creek from known as the Larson orchard, the apples from it taking the premium at the Spokane Apple Show; then comes orehard tract formerly owned by Mrs. E. Jack, then Dr. Cogwin, one of the handsomest orchards in this section; next Fred Palonze's orchard and farm combined; then off to the right on the opposite will sell round trip tickets at fare side of the creek about a half mile and one-third, good December 8th WILL EXCHANGE Seattle income distant is the famous orehard known and 9th, good returning December as the Bradshaw orehard, owned by 9th and 10th.
