Benson; decree by default.

Report of Grand Jury. To the Hon. F. M. Calkins, Judge: We, your grand jury, in and for above entitled court empaneled and sworn for the September term thereof beg leave to submit the following report: On being convened in September we found one indictment from information brought forward by the officials of the court. We were then adjourned to reconvene December 4, 1911. We have now been at work in special session six days. During that time we found three true bills from information arising in the justice courts of the county based upon information afforded from other sources we have returned nine true bills, making in all a total of 12 true bills returned by this grand jury. We have had no time at our disposal to examine the books and other official records of the county or any of its institutions. And now having reached the time when the term of this grand jury expires by limitation we respectfully ask to be formally discharged. Dated at Jacksonville, Oregon, this 9th day of December, 1911. P. G. McWilliams, foreman; R. H. Bradshaw, W. A. Cook, G. E. Fox, John B. Hair, F. M. Amy, E. W. Combs.

Here's to Mother and-Cottolene

"The kind that Mother used to Make"

Modern mothers and wise-acre cooks use Cottolene, instead of butter or lard, for frying and shortening. The reason is plain as the nose on your face.

Cottolene is a vegetable product, made from purest, refined cotton oil. It contains no hog fat or impurities, is made in a careful, cleanly manner, never sold in bulk, its purity and freshness are absolutely guaranteed, and it makes food which is free from grease and indigestion.

Imitations of Cottolene are thicker than blackberries in season, so be sure to ask for and take only Cottolene, the original pure food shortening. It is economical because it goes one-third farther.

Made only by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY.
