Medford, Ore., Nov. 7, 1911.—This is to certify that about November my daughter was taken with a severe attack of rheumatism which rendered her left arm useless, in fact it was so near paralyzed that she was not able to move her fingers, but knowing of some of Dr. Chow Young's marvelous cures of long standing cases of rheumatism, we decided to consult him, in which I am pleased to say made no mistake, as his remedies acted as he claimed they would and after the third treatment the rheumatic pain entirely left her and she has not had any symptoms of rheumatism since; besides her general health is much improved and I do not hesitate in saying I believe those afflicted with rheumatism or paralysis will do well to consult Dr. Chow Young, whose house is corner of Teath and Front streets, Medford, Oregon. L. H. GAGE, FATHER OF MRS. RAY, DEAD

Word has been received here of the sudden death of L. H. Gage, father of Mrs. Frank H. Ray, at Chicago, from pneumonia. For the past three years Mr. Gage, with his wife, resided at the clubhouse at Gold Ray, and was universally esteemed by a large circle of acquaintances. He left last autumn to spend the winter with his daughter, Mrs. Thomas, at Chicago. He was about 70 years of age and is survived by his wife and a large family of children and grandchildren.

For many years Mr. Gage operated extensively as a lumberman at Cincinnati, but some years since retired from active business affairs. While at Gold Ray he busied himself in gardening and made the clubhouse a veritable hower of beauty.

Mrs. Ray has left for the east to attend the funeral.

day rendered in the case of Schubel vs. Oloot and it is unnecessary to further indicate them here.

Chief Justice Concurs.

Chief Justice Eakin and Justice McBride, in concurring with the opinion reached by a majority of the court, pass upon the right of the county to enact laws under the initiative in the following language:

"We concur in the result reached by Justice Burnett, but are of the opinion that the county can by local law submitted to the voters at a regular election, provide for creating an indebtedness and the issuance of bonds for the purpose of building permanent roads."

I believe, therefore, that it is plainly the opinion of the majority of the court as evidenced by the several opinions filed, that the several counties of the state can proceed under the initiative and referendum at a general election to enact such laws as will permit the incurring of indebtedness by the county and the issuance of interest bearing, negotiable bonds evidencing the same.

But, inasmuch as this could not be accomplished until November, and we have a legislature that will convene in January, 1913, it would remove the question from all doubt to pass the matter on to the legislature for its action. In this connection I am firmly of the opinion that the governor of the state should, at this time call a special session of the legislature so that such laws may be enacted as will put this constitutional amendment into immediate effect. An examination of the three bills vetoed by the governor at the close of the last session will show that one of them was passed for the specific purpose of putting this constitutional amendment into effect; to provide a way and manner for calling an election and the method of submitting the question to the voters; the proper safeguarding of the funds derived from the sale of the bonds and authorizing the several counties to issue interest bearing, negotiable bonds; while there were three of these good roads bills and all of them in a measure conflicting, still a careful examination of them all shows that one of them was absolutely free from any of the errors contained in the other two against which objections were urged by the good roads association. It is true that in the bill in question a reference was made to one of the other bills, but this reference was made in such a way that the veto of the other two would not have in any way vitiated or destroyed the effect of the one putting the constitutional amendment into effect. I believe that if these matters could be shown to the governor that he would promptly call a special session of the legislature in order that a proper bill might be passed putting the constitutional amendment into effect at once and providing a procedure for protecting the rights thereby given.

Objections Well Taken.

The objections that are urged to the calling of a special session are in a large measure well taken. They are generally to the effect that within the state there are all kinds of good roads advocates, each set of whom have a different plan of procedure and that should the legislature be convened in special session these different warring factions will be unable to agree upon a proper method of good roads legislation; all of this difference of opinion and the discussion thereon might well be left to the general session. There is one question upon which every good roads advocate will agree and that is that the constitutional amendment should be put into effect so as to give the people the right to act under it at once if they should wish so to do. Therefore, if the legislature would simply meet in special session and pass a law putting the constitutional amendment into effect giving to the county courts the right to call such an election and providing for a manner of safeguarding the funds, authorizing the issuance of the bonds when approved by a majority vote of the people, prescribing their manner of sale and the manner of the disbursement of the money, that they will have accomplished a great good for the entire state; after having passed this law they could then proceed to quarrel as long as they wanted to about state aid and the manner in which it could be granted or withheld. As a matter of fact, I believe that the question of state aid is immaterial to the people of our county. I think that Jackson county is willing to build and pay for its own roads.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Deputy Customs Collector N. S. Farley has moved. He has posted an order in the main room of the customs house prohibiting sneezing. "Don't sneeze," the order reads. "There is no necessity for it." An epidemic now.

Tells on the Kidneys

Medford People Have Found This to Be True.

The strain of overwork tells on the weakened kidneys more quickly than on any other organ of the body. The hurry and worry of business men, the heavy lifting and stooping of workmen, the women's household cares, tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they can no longer filter the poison from the blood and the whole body suffers from the waste matter that accumulates. The weakened kidneys need quick assistance. Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for sick, weakened kidneys; tired, worn-out backs—have cured thousands of such cases. Convincing proof in a Medford citizen's statement.

Mrs. Grace Skeeters, 6 W. Jackson St., Medford, Ore., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Haskins' drug store, for pain and stiffness in the back and other symptoms of kidney trouble. This remedy relieved me when I used it and I have been well ever since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile, Ala.—"I suffered for seven years, with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble."

My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now, I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui. Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years, it has been used by women of all ages, with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.
