EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

By A. C. Howlett.

William Knighton and wife returned from Talent a few days ago, where they had been to attend the funeral of Mr. Godard, one of their old neighbors.

Miss Lois Smith, musical director and lecturer of Oregon W. C. T. U. and state secretary of the L. T. L., gave us a song and story entertainment in Spiker's opera hall Thursday night. She had a good sized audience and entertained them for over an hour. Sometimes she would have them on the verge of shedding tears and then they would be clapping their hands with glee, interspersing her lecture with songs suited to the occasion.

While she was ostentatiously working in the interest of the W. C. T. U., she also impressed on our minds the advisability of giving the women the right to vote and illustrated the thought by telling an incident in her childhood days. She said that herself and mother went away from home once and left her father and brother to keep house and when they returned they found things all topsy-turvy and that since then she has had an idea that men were never designed to keep house.

She then said that Uncle Sam was an old bachelor and didn't know how to keep house and that he needed a helpmeet, as he had attempted to legislate on the liquor question and the more the men legislated on the subject the more mess they made of it. She thought the best way was to give the women a chance to clean up the disordered and unsanitary establishment. She is a very fluent and pleasant speaker and at the close of her remarks asked how many men there were who would vote for the women to try their hand at assisting in the governmental affairs, and almost every man in the house rose to his feet. She seems to be very sanguine that the women of Oregon will join with the women of California, Washington and Idaho in helping to straighten out the tangle in the country in general next November. So might it be.

EDEN PRECINCT ITEMS

L. E. Sims and E. G. Coleman of Phoenix were in Medford on business Thursday.

John Bason of Phoenix has bought one of the butcher shops in Talent and now operates two meat markets, one in Phoenix and one in Talent.

J. E. Roberts and family returned Thursday evening from their trip to Los Angeles.

The many friends of Rev. Ira Wakefield, who formerly lived in North Talent and owned what is known as Dell ranch, are critically ill at his home in Portland, Ore.

W. R. Coleman came out from Jacksonville one day last week to visit relatives in Phoenix.

George Eilers of Phoenix returned last week from a few weeks' stay at San Diego, Cal., where he went hoping to be benefited in health, being troubled with catarrh.

Phoenix people skated Wednesday evening and turned the proceeds of the evening over to Dr. Baile for the benefit of Mr. Johnson, who is ill and in need of assistance. The Christian church people also gave a pound social for the benefit of the family. Both proved quite a help to them.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Georgia Alvino's two billboards, accused by Private Crawford of helping her hold him up, will be chief witnesses in her trial. She says they are small

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

FOR SALE—Suburban store, living room attached. Rare opportunity. For particulars see A. P. Barnett.

KANES CREEK ITEMS.

Mrs. Beggis and Mrs. Mardon spent Wednesday with Mrs. McClellan of near town.

Mrs. Shelly, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Blowers, is at present paying friends and relatives a visit living in Sams valley.

Plenty of water for the placer miners. Mr. Blue of the Centennial mine is doing quite an amount of hydraulic mining since the recent heavy rains.

Mr. Johnson of Derby, Ore., spent Monday and Tuesday here on professional business.

Oscar Nichols of Medford, who has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Highbotham, has returned home.

Mary Boggs is at present staying with Mrs. Blowers of the Braden.

Ralph Householder, who has been spending a few days on Sardine creek, returned home on Sunday.

Mr. Greenleaf, who bought a portion of the Byrley farm, is doing quite a bit of improvement. He is building for himself and family a neat little bungalow on the farm.

John Mardon and Elmer Highbotham, with their wives, attended the leap-year ball in Gold Hill Friday night, which was given by the ladies. Much credit is due them, however, for their good management and fine order, which prevailed throughout the evening.

Mrs. Swinden and daughter of Galla creek were recent Kanecreek visitors.

James Taylor and wife spent Sunday on upper Kanecreek with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Taylor.

Several young folks from this place attended the dance on Galla creek Saturday night and report a large crowd and fine time.
