that your really interesting store is not misrepresented by an uninteresting advertisement.

Can't you write a want ad that will interest the person who is looking for a better place to live?

A FINE INVESTMENT. Several years ago members of an old well established whole fruit business in Saint Louis purchased a tract of land in Oregon which they set to apples and pears of the kind that is in big demand in the east. The orchard is growing to such proportions that it requires their personal attention and it becomes necessary for one of them to locate at or near the place, forcing them to dispose of their wholesale fruit business, which is the best in Saint Louis, and it can be bought right. Their sales aggregate $350,000 per year, and as fruits are sold on short time, it requires a comparatively small capital to conduct the business.

One of the present owners who has been in the business 20 years will remain with the purchasers six or nine months, and any capable employes wanted will remain indefinitely for reasonable salaries, to help make the business a success.

Not wanting to advertise in the press the name of the business for sale, those who contemplate buying should write to A. C. Glenger, Ashland, Oregon, for full particulars.

At this price we do not starch the garments but return them to you washed, dried, and ironed (except the wearing apparel, which is partially ironed). This method of washing has proved a great boon to the housewife, as it relieves her of the hard labor of washing at home. In case you wish the wearing apparel starched, put it in a separate package and we will return it to you starched at an additional cost of 3 cents per garment. Give us a trial and see how much easier we can make your work for you and at really no additional cost. If interested call us up and get further details.
