1414 TAKE COURSE IN HORTICULTURE

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 13.—Registrar H. M. Tennant of the Oregon Agricultural college estimates the total enrollment in the winter short course, farmers' week and poultry show as something over 1600 although the final figures have not been turned in by all departments of instruction.

"There were 842 students registered in the regular short courses," he says, "and a conservative estimate places the number that attended the poultry lectures and demonstrations at 761, making a total of 1603 people benefited by the short courses this year. Men formed 76 per cent of the attendance, and women 24 per cent."

"The total enrollment may be classified by courses as follows: Agriculture, horticulture, including poultry demonstrations, 1414; domestic science and art, 136; special course for forest rangers, 7; mechanical arts, 32; commerce, including courses in business methods and rural law, 14.

WARRING CHINESE TONGS SIGN PEACE TREATY

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 13.—Warring Chinese tonga here have prepared to sign an armistice until March 7. Representatives of the tonga met at the offices of the Six Companies this afternoon to sign up the pact. This insures peace in Chinatown through the Chinese new year festivities at least.

JACKSON COUNTY'S WEALTH.

ACCORDING to summaries furnished by the state tax commission Jackson county, as equalized, ranks fourth among the counties of Oregon in assessed valuation, being rated at $38,027,086, and exceeded only by Multnomah, Umatilla and Marion, in order named.

Jackson county's wealth in tillable lands is given as follows: 80,021 acres, valued at $7,609,147 or $95 an acre. The non-tillable lands are listed at 1,452,939 acres, valued at $11,429,805, or $7.87 an acre.

Town and city property in Jackson county is assessed at $7,225,363 and improvements thereon at $3,561,130. Machinery is assessed at $182,330, merchandise at $874,962, farming utensils at $334,272, money at $63,835, stock at $419,895, household goods at $345,900.

There are 5390 head of horses and mules valued at $373,560 or $69.31 per head; 8251 head of cattle, valued at $140,249 or $17 per head; 8804 sheep, worth $28,915, $3.28 average; 4206 hogs, worth $13,613 or $3.24 apiece; 1048 dogs, valued at $4038 or $3.85 each.

Public service corporations are equalized by the state board at $4,615,187 in Jackson county, and assessed at $5,494,270. Railroads are assessed at $4,839,175 and apportioned $4,064,908, sleeping car companies assessed at $26,005, apportioned at $16,643, electric companies assessed at $265,880 and apportioned at $223,339, express companies at $77,157 and apportioned at $64,812, telegraph companies $41,899, apportioned at $35,195, telephone companies assessed at $214,305, apportioned at $180,016.

The item of tillable lands evidently needs revising, for according to the census taken by the fruit inspectors there is in the neighborhood of 75,000 acres of planted orchard—and not more than a quarter of the tillable land is planted to orchard.

Cooperation is an essential of successful farming. The farmer, like the dairyman and fruit grower, must learn the value of uniting to market their produce—otherwise but little will go to the producer.

Cooperation organizations have made corn and grain farming profitable to the farmer in the central west, where for many years he had either to feed or burn his surplus. It has made orange culture profitable in southern California where it was formerly a breeder of bankruptcy. In scores of lines, the value of cooperation has become an established fact.

Farmers of the Rogue river valley should heed the lessons taught elsewhere and profit by the example of other localities. As the orchardists have united, so should the truck raisers, gardeners and diversified farmers, of this section, so as to supply in businesslike manner the collecting and marketing machinery as well as the growing end.

What use is it to grow produce and let it rot upon the ground? Growers should organize and force the market for their output. Each farmer is a manufacturer in a small way—and marketing his product is just as important to him as to the manufacturer. Therefore the selling end cannot be overlooked—and the only way the small farmers can solve the problem is by cooperation.

Even the Spectorator Shudders (From the Portland Spectorator.) It was with deep sorrow that the Spectorator noticed the shocking language the Oregonian employed on Tuesday in referring to the Medford Mail Tribune. As every one knows, the Oregonian does not love the Mail Tribune; indeed, our Portland contemporary has an unfathomable deep disesteem for our Medford contemporary. But we submit that no newspaper should allow its feeling of contempt, hatred, or loathing toward another to betray it into the use of such wicked and opprobrious epithets as the Oregonian employed toward the Mail Tribune. The Oregonian called the Mail Tribune a laudator temporis acti.

This is not only libellous, but it is billingsgate; not only billingsgate, but dangerous, as it inevitably tends to a breach of the peace. We feel certain—and the certainty arouses in us the very darkest forebodings—that the Mail Tribune will not tamely submit to this brutal and uncalled for insult. None but a poltroon may be called a laudator temporis acti with impunity. The Mail Tribune is not a poltroon. So we fear the worst—and more. And shudder. The Spectorator had hoped that the days of ruffian, swashbuckling journalism had passed. By following a course of sweetness and light ourselves, we have ever sought to set an example worthy of emulation by our contemporaries. We thought that by an exhibition of gentleness and courtesy and kindly patronage we might soften the rankerous hatred that our contemporaries feel toward each other. And we had flattered ourselves that our ameliorative efforts had not been wholly in vain—until we found that the Oregonian, becoming even more brutal and vicious than ever, had deliberately and wantonly insulted the Mail Tribune by anathematizing it as a laudator temporis acti.

There's no use trying to pour Samaritan oil into the raw wounds of the Mail Tribune, nor will it avail to preach peace. When one newspaper applies the opprobrious epithet of laudator temporis acti to another, there can be but one result. We expect to see the pale air of Oregon streaked with gore. And, as we said before, we shudder.

CHAMP CLARK GUEST OF WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark will be the guests of President and Mrs. Taft at a dinner at the White House this evening. The speaker's dinner, which was inaugurated last year by President Taft in honor of the then Speaker Cannon of the house, is the last formal state dinner of the White House season. Unofficially, however, the White House entertaining will continue until Lent.

TAFT SECOND LINCOLN DECLARES BALLINGER

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 13.—"Some prefer Washington, others Mr. Lincoln, still others Mr. Roosevelt, as the ideal representative of true statesmanship and the friend of the majority," said former Secretary of the Interior Ballinger at the Lincoln day banquet here last night. "But without taking the glory from any, I want to say that Mr. Taft is making history that will place him in the front rank of the presidents."

"The greatest difference between Lincoln and Taft is corporal, but the principal of fidelity to truth, to the eternal laws of justice and the common people characterizes both."

Oh, How I Itched!

What long nerve-racking days of constant tortures—what sleepless nights of terrible agony—itch—itch—itch, constant itch, until it seemed that I must tear off my very skin—then—Instant relief—my skin cooled, soothed and healed!

The very first drop of D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema stopped that awful itch instantly; yes, the very moment D.D.D. touched the burning skin the torture ceased. A 25c bottle proves it. D.D.D. has been known for years as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child.

All other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—so to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee—if you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

PAID IN FULL WINS PLAUDITS

One of the Few Very Strong Plays Written During the Past Decade—An American Drama, Well Acted by a Good Company.

(By Ed M. Andrews.)

"Paid in Full" is one of the few very strong plays that has been written during the past 10 years. We say the last 10 years, for during that period a new school of American drama has come into its own.

Prior to this time, the theatrical trust thought that nothing good could come from an American author, so often had the English play often made over to give it a local flavor and others were translated from the French. David Belasco was the first to take hold of our home product. He brought Chas. Klein to the front. "Paid in Full" had the usual hard time in receiving recognition. Its author, Eugene Walter, faced hunger before he found a buyer for his wares.

Last night's cast was in the main a good one. Frank Barton as Captain Williams is an experienced actor. He has marked out the finer points and shadings of his part. He knows the value of a pause. Mr. Baneroff was splendid as James Smith. He is a careful, painstaking actor and was at all times a favorite.

Lester Basset is not quite up to the part of Joseph Brooks. His mental vision does not comprehend the character the author had in mind when he wrote the play. His performance is without color. He puts down the loud pedal in the first act and keeps it down until the drop of the last curtain.

Miss Edna Brothers as Emma Brooks is an emotional actress of far more than ordinary ability; her stage presence is good; she has a fine voice, and has graceful action. The rest of the cast was very good, indeed, the play as a whole was one of the real enjoyable theatrical events of the season.

Isaac N. Van Nuys Dead. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 13.—Isaac Newton Van Nuys, pioneer business man of Los Angeles, is dead today after five years' illness. He came to Los Angeles in 1871. His fortune is estimated at $3,000,000.

600,000 MINERS TO QUIT WORK

LONDON, Feb. 13.—That more than 600,000 coal miners employed in the Cardiff collieries will quit work March 1, when the present wage scale agreement expires, appears certain today.

The operators have flatly refused to grant the minimum wage scale demanded by the men and the officials of the Miners' federation are in session here to discuss the situation. Although nothing official has been given out, it is believed that the governing body will authorize a walkout during the next few days.

Several weeks ago the men voted on the strike proposition in the event of their demand being refused and the balloting showed them almost unanimously in favor of a walkout.
