IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. A. E. Gillam

On Tuesday, February 20, 1912, at 2:15 a. m., Mrs. A. E. Gillam, mother of Mrs. W. S. Hammond, passed peacefully away at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hammond, aged 75 years, 1 month and 2 days. Deceased was born, educated and grew to womanhood in Indiana, and at the age of 24 was married to John W. Gillam in her native state. In 1846 they moved to Iowa, and in 1890 to Denver, Colo., and in about seventeen years returned to Iowa, locating at Lohrville.

To them were born two sons and one daughter—one son, W. J. Gillam of Lohrville, Ia., and Mrs. W. S. Hammond of this city, together with three sisters and three brothers, survive her.

Her husband preceded her a little over a year ago to the beautiful beyond. Mrs. Gillam came to Medford last March and after three months visit went to Los Angeles, Cal., and from there last fall to Idaho, making all these trips by herself.

She was taken sick in Idaho and was brought to this city by her granddaughter, Mrs. Vail, arriving here January 6, 1912. She continued to grow weaker until the end. Mrs. Gillam united with the Christian church in the tender years of her life and continued her membership until her death. She was a firm believer in the word of God and a devoted wife and a loving mother. Beautiful oil paintings of her own work are highly prized in the home of her children. Her friends were warmly attached to her. When nearing the end she expressed herself as being ready to go. With her the great battle of life has been fought and she passed through the gates beautiful and is today rejoicing in the paradise of God. She will be missed but our tears are not tears of sorrow. We should take the comfort which our faith in Christ offers and believe that death is swallowed up of life.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2 o'clock p. m. at the Hammond home conducted by Rev. D. S. Wood, who preached a sermon to the living and paying a tribute to the memory of the departed. The remains were laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. cemetery in Medford.

CLARA WARD OF DETROIT IN ANOTHER LOVE VENTURE. PARIS, Feb. 24.—Clara Ward of Detroit, erstwhile Princess De Chimay, and later the wife of Chevalier Giuseppe Ricciardi, today is engaged again in a matrimonial battle. The Chevalier, who is her third husband, will sail soon for America to sue in the American courts for recovery of the $200 a month which his wife agreed to pay him when they separated two years ago. According to rumor, the former princess is contemplating another matrimonial alliance if she can divorce Ricciardi.

THE AUTOMOBILE.

BORN of the spirit of the age, the strength of all the horses of old Pharaoh slumbering in its breast, to be quickened at a touch until it springs across the earth at lightning's speed, the automobile now takes its place as the humble servant of mankind. It is a symphony of wood and metal. Combustion's strength is married in it to the flight of light itself. The poetry of motion is its own, and every curve and feature breathes with the pulse of distance lessened. Responsive as the gentlest steed, patient as the stile, certain as the tides and swifter than the stag, this modern mechanism of service will stand a fitting climax of transportation for a hundred years to come.

Motoring is something more than a fad. It is a mental condition produced by experiencing an undreamt sensation. It is a sort of disease, incurable, harmless and progressive caused by a germ of delight. It is a new world opened up to view at a time when the old world was beginning to pall.

He has not discovered all of his faculties of delight who has not motored. There is still within him, dormant, a million nerve centers yet to be made to thrill with life and love if he has not sped over city street and country road in an automobile. It is the safest, sanest pleasure that has been invented since first some daring savage hollowed out a log and rode upon the current of a rippling stream. It is the most economical mode of locomotion that has been devised since man first tied a rope about the horns of the patient oxen and made them drag his burdens.

It is as healthful as the sun and air. For luxuriousness and ease and comfort the motor car is incomparable. A ride upon the wings of night could be no more enchanting. Only the fur-clad native of the frozen north, skiing down the mountain side like a flash of light across the glistening snow can approximate the joy of him who sees mile after mile of space torn off and hurled into the teeth of the past as he speeds his car across the country. Only the roaming gods of space can appreciate the soothing comfort that comes to him who holds within his hand the strength of forty horses and the speed of a flight of swallows.

From a toy or plaything the automobile has stepped into the garb of servant to help to bear the burdens of the race. It has broadened the lines of human endeavor, from improving the public highway to the refashioning of a timepiece.

Being herself a product of the best there is in modern civilization it was natural that Medford would be the leading city in the United States in the ownership of these space annihilators. Per capita Medford owns more machines than any other city, says the census report.

In no other city are there more progressive automobile dealers and agents. The business has grown until no dealer can hope to corner it. The selection of a car has come to be a matter largely of personal taste or personal acquaintance with the dealer. There are no gold bricks sold in the shape of an automobile.

Thousands of feet of floor space in showrooms are devoted to the distribution of motors in this city. The capital required is a guarantee of the solidity of the business.

Aggressive men are handling the trade. Competent "help" is employed. The selling cost has been reduced to a minimum. Medford takes her place at the head of the list.

Marvel of the ages! Perfection of human skill! Taking the dusty highways as the eaglets take the air; winding its way to the top of the steepest hill or dashing across the sandiest plain; a gleam of motion and a glow of graceful curves—a restful recreation or a toiling beast of burden—the automobile is enshrined in the hearts of knowing men and women—the gift of genius to the child of thrift.

SACRAMENTO RIVER MAY NOT BE IMPROVED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24.—California congressmen today declare that there will be no appropriation for improving the Sacramento river, included in the house rivers and harbors bill. Despite President Taft's request that the government assist in the development of the river, Chairman Sparkman of the committee declares that he opposes the appropriation this season. It is reported the Sacramento item was stricken from the

MRS. WILLIAM COLVIG IS BROUGHT HOME

Judge and Mrs. W. M. Colvig returned this morning from Portland. Mrs. Colvig is very ill and has been in a Portland hospital for several months. Superintendent L. R. Fields, of the Southern Pacific very kindly placed his private car "California" at the disposal of Mr. Colvig and the car was attached to passenger train No. 15 this morning and upon the train's arrival it was put on a siding in the Medford yards to be returned to Portland Sunday. This act of courtesy on the part of Mr. Fields was greatly appreciated by Mr. Colvig in that it gave him an opportunity to administer to the needs of Mrs. Colvig while en route which he could not have done had they made the trip in a standard car.
