

The Faithful Employee

By Winsor McCay

GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS AND HOW TO GET THEM

No doubt most people interested in useful reading matter will thank us for information, obtained through official sources, as to how public documents can be procured with least trouble and at trifling expense. The idea that prevails most generally, that this class of literature may be secured through the courtesy of members of congress, is correct only in so slight a degree that it had best be corrected. There are nearly 500 senators and representatives—hence an edition of several thousand copies, if distributed pro rata, gives to each only a few copies. Some of these the senator or representative needs for reference, the few left over are soon exhausted, and those constituents who then write for them are necessarily disappointed, through no fault of the public man whom they have addressed. Now, as a general proposition, the reader who is interested in a government publication will serve himself best by addressing the official known as the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., who is authorized to have reprinted any government publication for which there is a demand, and sell the same, at cost, to all applicants. He will mail price lists, divided by subjects, free upon application, and remittance can then, as required by law authorizing such sales, accompany order.

Too Many Cooks.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 22.—L. Olcott and wife quarreled over who was the better cook. Effective use of a butcher knife won the decision for Mrs. Olcott.
