Four Scotch Lassies With Lulu Glaser in "Miss Dudelsack"

During Lulu Glaser's career on the comic opera stage she has been called upon to wear many picturesque and effective costumes, yet none have had more colorful or becoming effect than the Scotch kilts which she dons in her latest operatic vehicle, "Miss Dudelsack." When the dainty Miss Glaser comes to Medford theater next week in this latest Viennese musical importation, she will be seen for the first time by a Medford audience in the plaids and tartans of bonnie Scotland, and it is said that no ball-gown or comic opera costume ever became the heroine of "Dolly Varden" more than the Stewart plaid, the rakish cap with its eagle feather, the Scotch stocking and the accoutrements of the "Clan MacHumber," which she represents.

Although "Miss Dudelsack" is from a Viennese source, its scenes are laid in the Highlands and many of its characters wear the tartans of authentic Scottish clans. In some cases for the sake of picturesque effect, slight changes have been made in the kilts and accoutrements, but in the main the girls and male chorus wear the costumes of historic Scotia. Miss Glaser, who plays the role of "Betty Dudelsack," wears kilts in the first act and later changes to some artistic modern gowns. "Miss Dudelsack" will come to the Medford theater next Friday for an engagement of one night only, March 22nd. Seat sale Tuesday. Mail reservations now.

Mrs. E. S. Parsons entertained the Wednesday club March 20th at her home on Summit avenue. The subject for the day was "Dickens." Papers were read by Mrs. Neff and Mrs. Parsons. The members contributed by reading extracts from various writers bearing on the life, work and character of the author. Perhaps the most interesting and entertaining feature of the day was the impersonation of Dickens' characters by many of the members. Mrs. Neff, "Dora"; Mrs. Deuell, "Agnes"; Mrs. Haskins, "Mrs. McCawber"; Mrs. Mandy and Mrs. Canon, "The McCawber Children"; Mrs. Meares, "Sairy Gamp"; Mrs. Bracknield, "The boy David Copperfield"; Mrs. Wakeman, "Alice Nickleby"; Mrs. Parsons, Old fashioned costume. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter Dorothy. The next meeting of the club will be held April 3rd at the home of Mrs. Douell on S. Oakdale avenue.
