Declares Taft Was Born in Luxury

and Carried to High Office on Beds of Ease-Says Teddy is Man of Words, Not Deeds.

Declares People Have Lost More Ground During Present Administration Than in Any Previous One.

EUGENE, Or., April 15.—Holding President Taft up to ridicule as a man borne to high office on beds of ease and Colonel Roosevelt as a man of many words, but few deeds, Senator Robert M. La Follette carried this city by storm today before a large audience in the theater, composed of Oregon University students and people from miles around.

"Within the last dozen years a mighty power has been built up, which names our senators, presidents, and congressmen," said La Follette. "You have lost your government. The question is can 90.000,000 people regain the right to govern themselves.

"During no other administration have the people lost ground so rapidly as in the present one.

Taft Child of Ease.

"William Howard Taft was born in luxury. He never had to work a day in his life. He was not forced to work his way through college as many of you are doing here. It has seemed his lot in life to have everything brought to him on a cushion, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 15. including the presidency of this re-

"It would be intolerable for Jackson county to be forced to submit to four years of the unprogressive rule of George W. Dunn. Progressive citizens at all hazards must see to it that he is not elected to the office of county judge.

"George W. Dunn is a man of great prejudice, and he is unalterably opposed to Medford and her strivings for development. He is not only a non-progressive, he is a reactionary. Progressive citizens cannot afford to allow him to be reelected to the office he vacated four years ago. It would be intolerable."

These are the published sentiments of Wm. S. Crowell, former county judge, for many years prominent in financial, political and social circles, and long a business associate of Judge Dunn.
