

2000 REBELS ATTACK TEPIC

TUCSON, Ariz., April 23.—Two thousand insurgents armed with Mausers, Winchesters and three machine guns, have passed through Yago, 35 miles north of Tepic, capital of the territory of Tepic state, and are advancing on the city.

ICEBERG NOT SEEN FOR LACK OF SPYGLASSES

senators composing the committee shaded their eyes as Pittman described the scenes attendant upon the sinking of the "unsinkable" Titanic.

J. Bruce Ismay, Pittman said, was standing near a lifeboat and he heard him ask about a boat loaded with women. Captain Smith, Pittman said followed out Ismay's suggestions in issuing orders.

Saved Forty Passengers. Pittman declared that his boat saved forty passengers in addition to six members of the Titanic's crew.

Helped Women in Boats. "Women were crawling over the hatches and I rushed out to help load the lifeboats."

"I never saw Murdoch after that. I believed only two or three of the compartment had filled and never had the faintest idea that the Titanic would sink."

Titanic Turned Over. Asked to describe the Titanic's foundering, he said: "The Titanic was submerged to the fore-castle, and afterwards turned over and went down perpendicularly."

"I saw no people on the afterdeck when the boat sank. Everyone whom I saw on the ship wore a lifebelt except a few members of the crew."

Wreck Unmarked. Third Officer Pittman declared that the Titanic's course was changed at 5:50 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He added:

"We turned a corner, but I do not know how many degrees we changed. We were making the same speed at the time the collision occurred as we had been making twenty-four hours previously."

After the wreck, Pittman declared there was nothing to indicate where the Titanic had gone down. There were several icebergs about, he said, but none bore any of the wreckage.

Notice of Iceberg. At this point in his testimony Pittman was temporarily excused, and Fleet, one of the Titanic's lookouts, was called to the stand.

"I began my watch at 10 o'clock Sunday night. There was another lookout on duty, too. Others on watch told us to look out for small ice. At 11:30 o'clock we reported an iceberg ahead. I do not know just how long after this it was before the collision."

"The iceberg appeared very small when I first sighted it but it got larger as we approached. When we got nearer it loomed up slightly higher than the fore-castle head—50 or 60 feet above the water."

Fleet picked continually at his fingernails while testifying and twitched nervously in his chair. His testimony at times was almost inaudible.

How the Iceberg Struck. "She started to port while I was telephoning. We were making straight for the iceberg. It struck us on the starboard bow just before the mast, 20 feet from the stem."

"I asked for glasses at Southampton. Other lookouts told us to ask Second Officer Lightoller. I had a pair of glasses from Belfast to Southampton, but not thereafter."

At this stage in Fleet's testimony the committee ordered a recess.

T. R.'S. VICTORIES PRONOUNCED REAL

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Replying to the charge of Senator La Follette that Colonel Roosevelt's victories in the primaries in Illinois, Nebraska and Oregon were accompanied in each case by the defeat of progressive candidates for governor or United States senator, Medill McCormick of Chicago, who is here today in the interest of Roosevelt's campaign, declared that the Roosevelt victories were genuine and that the other elections were separate phases of a complicated political situation.

Governor Deneen of Illinois, he said is not for Roosevelt, as La Follette stated. Lawrence Y. Sherman, he said, defeated Hugh McGill, the progressive candidate for senator, because Sherman is the most popular man in Illinois.

In Nebraska, McCormick said, Brown and Norris are running neck and neck with Norris a trifle ahead. Norris is not for Roosevelt, as La Follette said. As far as Brown is concerned Senator Bourne of Oregon, himself a warm supporter of La Follette, is for Brown.

McCormick said that Bourne was defeated because he failed to make a campaign in Oregon. He added that La Follette's recent stumping of that state makes him partly responsible for failing to convince the people of Bourne's claims for re-election.

JOHN MUIR RETURNS FROM 25,000 MILE TRIP

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 23.—After traveling 25,000 miles to familiarize himself with three species of plant life in South America and Africa, John Muir, the world famous naturalist, is at his home in Hollywood today.

Muir reports his quest was successful, and that he plans no further travels but expects to spend the declining years of his life here.

Muir celebrated his 74th birthday Sunday.

HOUSE WANTS CHARGES FILED AGAINST ARCHIBALD

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Congressman Norris of Nebraska introduced today a resolution in the house providing that copies of any charges filed against Judge Archibald of the commerce court be transmitted to the house, accompanied by a statement as to whether the department of justice had investigated such charges.

PORTLAND POLICE TO CHECK HOCK SHOPS

PORTLAND, April 23.—Portland police today are planning a system of checking by which they can keep track of every article sold or pawned in the "hock shops" of Portland and in this way expect to make it almost impossible for thieves to dispose of stolen property through dishonest dealers.

PEOPLE TO VOTE UPON UNIVERSITY

SALEM, Ore., April 23.—Holding that an injunction proceeding relative to a political matter can only be brought under the laws of the state through its public officer and that an individual cannot institute them unless he can show that he is injured, the supreme court this afternoon reversed the circuit court of this county in the case of H. S. Friendly of Eugene against Secretary of State Olcott, a suit commenced to have certain petitions referring to appropriations made by the last legislature for the University of Oregon declared void because of fraud.

The court does not touch on the question of fraud, but devotes its considerations wholly to the question as to whether Friendly could bring injunction proceedings to restrain the secretary of state from placing the title of the bills on the ballot.

After a review of the law it concludes that Friendly in the event that the bills go to a vote will not be injured either civilly or politically and that, in view of that, he was not within his legal rights, and the case is dismissed and reversed.

The decision means that the people at the next general election will be given the opportunity of voting on the question.

KISSED ALL THE GIRLS AND LANDS IN JAIL

PORTLAND, Ore., April 23.—As a consequence of an alleged insatiable appetite for osculation with Portland's fairest maidens and prettiest matrons, C. E. Colber of Cleveland, Ohio, is in jail here today.

Rushing through the business section, Colber is alleged to have greeted every attractive woman with the salutation: "Well, girls, going to the ball tonight?" at the same time throwing his arm around their necks and implanting a kiss on her lips.

A chorus of feminine shrieks, increasing in volume with the number of Colber's captives brought the police and the amorous one was hurried to the bastille.

Oh, How I Itched!

What long nerve-racking days of constant torture—what sleepless nights of terrible agony—itch—itch—itch, constant itch, until it seemed that I must tear off my very skin—then—Instant relief—my skin cooled, soothed and healed. The very first drops of D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema stopped that awful itch instantly. Yes, the very moment D.D.D. touched the burning skin the torture ceased. A 25c bottle proves it. D.D.D. has been known for years as the only absolutely reliable eczema remedy, for it washes away the disease germs and leaves the skin as clear and healthy as that of a child. All other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute. But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee—if you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent. NO WARNING TO WAKE PASSENGERS

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Chairman Smith this afternoon refused a moving picture concern permission to take photographs of the Titanic hearings.

That no general alarm was given to awaken the passengers aboard the Titanic when the crash came or subsequently was stated by Major Arthur Peuchen of the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto, Canada, in his testimony before the senate investigating committee this afternoon.

Major Peuchen stated that at least 22 women aboard the Titanic owed their lives to the presence of mind of Mrs. John Jacob Astor. The women whose names were not given, slept through the crash and would have been drowned in their berths had not Mrs. Astor rushed to their staterooms and awakened them.

Chairman Smith announced at the opening of the session that the condition of Mrs. John Jacob Astor is such as to necessitate a postponement of her testimony. Physicians sent a note saying that J. Boxhall, fourth officer of the Titanic, was unable to appear today.

Herbert Pittman, third officer of the Titanic, recited the final trials of the great liner at Belfast Loch before the vessel made her first and fatal trip across the Atlantic.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 23.—The case of Albert Prince, the negro prisoner who killed Deputy Warden Davis of the Nebraska state penitentiary last February, was called in court today for trial.

BAR WOMEN FROM INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Because of confusion at yesterday's session of the senatorial sub-committee which is investigating the Titanic disaster, the scene of the committee's inquiry was shifted today from the commodious room in the senate office building to a smaller room.

Here 500 furbelowed, frilled women of many them carrying lunches so as not to lose their positions of advantage during the noon recess of the committee fought for admittance. Less than 100 of their number succeeded in passing the doors. Only diplomats, senators with their wives or other relatives and reporters were admitted.

Mrs. Lucien Smith, daughter of Congressman Hughes of West Virginia, a bride of a few months who was made a widow by the Titanic wreck, was among the first of the rescued passengers to be examined. Major Peuchen, a Canadian army officer, arrived today to testify.
