

GREAT FUTURE FOR THE MOTOR CYCLE

"I predict that with three years the motorcycle will be seen as frequently on the streets of our cities and on the country roads as was the bicycle back in 1895 and 1896, before the development of the gasoline engine made it possible to obtain quick and easy locomotion without any exertion," said R. A. Flynn of the Pacific Motor Supply Co., Harley-Davidson dealers in Medford.

"Thousands of city people who daily must travel a number of miles in going to and from their place of employment found in those days that the bicycle filled a long felt want in economical transportation, and that with healthful recreation. The desire for outdoor recreation was increased greatly by the bicycle.

"The motorcycle is so much superior to the bicycle that there is no comparison between the two machines. The bicycle is merely an improved method of walking, whereas the motorcycle is a modern method of mechanical locomotion that requires little physical exertion upon the part of the rider. Motorcycle riders obtain just sufficient exercise to keep them healthy and happy without tiring them unduly, as is apt to result from riding a horse or a bicycle."

BOY MADE MILLIONAIRE BY COURT'S DECISION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—"Come to Seattle, judge, and I'll show you the sights in my new car," said Frank P. Hiscator, 21, when Judge Graham made final settlement here of the estate of the boy's father, one of the famous miners of the early Klondyke days. Hiscator's widow, now Mrs. Joseph Gordon, has been her son's guardian since his father's death at Michigan City, Ind.

Reunion of Harvard Clubs.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Boastful of the prowess of their college and attesting this spirit with cheers and class yells, 1000 or more graduates of Harvard, representing every section of the country, gathered in the metropolis Friday for the sixteenth annual meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs. The program covers two days and provides for business sessions at the Harvard club and a banquet at the Hotel Astor, with President A. Lawrence Lowell as the guest of honor.

Wedding On Socialist Lines.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 15.—A simple ceremony befitting the socialist views of the contracting parties today united Edmund T. Dana, a grandson of the poet Longfellow, and Miss Jessie Holliday, a well known English portrait painter. A justice of the peace officiated at the wedding which took place at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henry Dana.

GIRLS BACK AFTER CIRCLING THE GLOBE

You may take the word of the Misses Florence and Elizabeth Wood, of Los Angeles, Cal., for it, the world bristles with adventure. They arrived in New York on the home stretch of a "round-the-world" trip, which began at Seattle last September.

They found China in the throes of the great revolution, but saw no fighting until one day when they were in a shop. Then suddenly the street was filled with fighting republicans and Manchus and the air was thick with bullets for half an hour. The young women picked their way to their hotel over the bodies of fifty soldiers.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

Austin Green and wife of Trail have moved out and are now stopping with Mr. Green's grandfather, J. J. Fryer while Mrs. Fryer has gone to Washington to visit her daughter, Mrs. Charles Jones.

Artie Nichols has the machinery in place and by next Monday will be turning out Eagle Point-made ice.

Mrs. Floyd Pierce of Forest Creek came over to Eagle Point the first of the week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fryer.

C. D. Stout, the foreman of the bridge carpenters on the P. and E. railroad, brought his wife and daughter, Miss Ora out to spend a few days at the Sunnyside the first of the week. They remained until Friday morning. While here they made a trip to Butte Falls and spent one day roving through the woods near the bridge on the P. and E. R. R.

Last Saturday evening the Antelope Sunday school gave a basket social in the Antelope school house and on account of my not being able to attend in person, and being anxious to get the details of the occasion I secured a promise of a written report of the affair by Miss Donnie Rader, but when the time came to write it up for me to send to the Mail Tribune her heart failed her, so she sent the Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Cooley, over to give the main points, but he being like myself somewhat advanced in age could not see the funny points, like having the boys try to bribe the girls to designate in some way the name of the owner of the basket that was offered for sale, and how much fun the boys had in running the basket up on some young fellow who was almost dying to get to eat with his best girl, or how the hearts of the girls would flutter when they saw that some young man, or perhaps older man, whom they didn't want to get their basket, was persisting in bidding on their basket, or how disappointed some boy would be when he saw some other fellow eating out of his girl's basket. Oh, I tell you, us old folks sometimes omit to see these little things that go to make up some of the pleasures or disappointments of life. But to the report. There were about thirty or forty in attendance, but there seemed to be quite a scarcity of baskets, and the result was there was considerable sharp bidding and quite an amount of excitement over the question as to who would come out second best in the race for the best girl's basket.

The social was gotten up to raise funds to purchase an organ for the Sunday school and the receipts of the evening amounted to $21.05. The committee has already procured an organ, second hand, for $15.00, leaving a balance of $6.05 in the treasury. It is not necessary for me to add that they had a joyful time for they have the material in that neighborhood to make everything pleasant that they undertake.

P. H. Dally is engaged assessing in the country out east of here.

Sheriff W. A. Jones, wife, daughter and a young lady friend came out Tuesday. His business was to serve papers on Commissioners Frank Brown and James Owens in the Medford bridge injunction suit, and some of the old hayseeds out here are wondering if that suit won't result in the people of the county repudiating the $594,000 illegal indebtedness. Who can tell.

Henry French and wife were doing business with our merchants the first of the week.

On my return from Grants Pass last Thursday I found everything lively around town as usual. I had been to Grants Pass to have Dr. Finley treat my eyes and while there met Mrs. Jack Hustin of Trail who was also there to consult the doctor. I also had the pleasure of meeting Miss Hazel Cox, a daughter of one of our old settlers, Mr. True Cox. She was consulting the doctor with regard to her hearing, and another one of the descendants of one of our old acquaintances of Siskiyou county, Cal., Miss Daisy Height. She was also in to see the doctor with regard to her throat. Grants Pass is quite a lively little place, not so large as Medford, but larger than Eagle Point. They are hustlers in that town and have some beautiful residence buildings and their school houses will compare with either Medford or Ashland.

O. L. Irwin and bride of Prospect spent the night with us last Tuesday taking the Prospect stage Wednesday morning. Mr. Irwin spent the night with us about two weeks ago on his way to Seattle where he was married, and has taken his wife to their home near Prospect. He is one of the electricians who has charge of the electric plant in that region.

Manager Jack Dunn of the Baltimore team says that Bill Bergen is the best catcher in the International league, and that $5000 would not buy the former Dodger from the Orioles.
