LIGHT SHIPMENTS CALIFORNIA FRUIT

California Fruit Distributors in the following under date of Sacramento, June 15.—The following gives number of cars of deciduous fruit shipped to all points from California for the week ending Friday evening, June 14, 1912.

Cherries.—50 cars by freight and one by express. Principal shipments are now going forward from the San Jose district, but there are considerable quantities of the later varieties, such as Bing, Republican, etc., still moving from the early sections of Vacaville and Placer county.

Apricots.—31 three-fourth cars. The apricot movement has been considerable during the past week and will probably increase to a limited extent during the week to come.

Plums.—3 1/4 cars. The Clyman plum is the principal variety now offering, although there are a few crates of other kinds in evidence. The crop of early plums will not be as large as promised ten days or two weeks ago.

Peaches.—1/2 car. The crop of Alexander peaches in the early sections is light and there will not be any large quantities offering at any time. Shipments will increase, however, from day to day.

Bartlett Pears.—There is no change to report in pears.

DECLINES NOTED LIVESTOCK MARKET

PORTLAND, June 17.—Receipts for the week have been: Cattle, 1579; Calves, 26; Hogs, 1611; Sheep, 8559; Goats, 13; Horses, 8.

The cattle market did not show any decided break in values but was a little soft throughout the week. Buyers were slow about taking hold declaring themselves for a hand em out policy.

The hog market was a trifle easier and closed with a lower tone than when the week opened.

There was a big receipt of sheep and the sheep market showed a lack of strength. One shipment of feeder wethers came in and was taken out at $2.90.

It seems that carnival week does not add to the strength of the live stock market, hotels and restaurants but their supplies the week previous and with full coolers are slow about adding to their stock.

LAND FRAUD PROSECUTION.

W HILE Francis J. Heney is busy shouting thief and robber at the Taft steam roller, built and created under the Roosevelt regime, details of the Oregon land fraud prosecutions by detective Wm. J. Burns and Mr. Heney as special prosecutor are being laid bare.

That jury stacking was practiced by the prosecution and that there was collusion with the trial judge is shown by the following telegram from Burns to Secretary Hitchcock's secretary W. Scott Smith dated August 17, 1905:

"Jury commissioners cleaned out old box from which trial jurors are selected and put in 400 new names, every one of which was investigated before they were placed in the box. This confidential."

September 28, 1905, Secretary of the Interior wired to Detective Burns regarding Congressman Williamson's conviction:

"Hope the judge will not be over lenient. The crime was deliberate and should be severely punished as an example."

September 29, 1905, Detective Burns wired to Hitchcock:

"You may rely on Hunt giving a good, stiff sentence."

Detective Burns also wired to Smith:

"Correspondent at Washington telegraphed an alleged interview with Secretary Hitchcock which has caused unfavorable editorial comment to the effect that his condemnation of the jury for recommending the defendant to leniency shows a vindictive spirit, and Heney thinks it would be advisable to correct this impression and to remove all ground for belief that the Secretary entertains any personal feeling whatever in the matter of the land fraud defendants. Heney believes this is vitally important to the success of the other land fraud cases, as public sentiment in Oregon is very erratic, and easily susceptible to adverse influence."

Thereupon, Hitchcock denied his attitude, and Burns wired back to him direct:

"You telegram received. Glad to know our surmise was correct and the fault was with the reporter in misquoting you. Will take it up with the Portland paper at once. You may rely on Hunt giving a good, stiff sentence."

All of this is interesting. It shows that federal appointments were made, and held-up, and resignations forced to control the machinery of justice and secure convictions.

In doing this, Heney was simply fighting the devil with fire. He was doing just what the timber barons had always done, what the railroads and great corporations do today—control courts and stack juries. Yet when their own machinery and methods are used against them, there is a fearful howl about the corruption of justice.

The records of our courts show many instances of perversion of justice for the profit of the "interests" which never arouse a word of protest. Yet let their own methods be employed against the interests and loud mouthed horror shrieks.

There is no defense for Heney or his methods. He cannot pose successfully as the apostle of purity. But his sin is no blacker than that which tars those loudest in his denunciation.

When to Spray Again for Coddling Moth

It will be of interest to fruit growers to know when the second brood worms of the coddling moth will appear. We have been keeping careful records in breeding cages and have also been carefully noting what is going on in the orchards. The first eggs were hatched this year, so far as our observations go, on May 23rd, the maximum number of worms hatching out at least a week later.

The young larvae which were not poisoned entered the apples, therefore, on that date. The first worms began to leave the apples on June 13th, and, of course, the maximum number to leave the fruit should be at least a week or ten days later. On June 13th it was noted that a few larvae were also entering the apples, these being related members of the first brood.

The worms which are now leaving the apples will hide behind rough bark, under clods or rubbish, and in other places, in order to form their cocoons in which to go through their transformations from larvae to pupae and finally to the moth stage. Knowing the average time required for the larva of the coddling moth to make its transformations, we may state that the first moths will appear about July 1st to 4th, and the first eggs will be hatched about July 12th.

The maximum number of eggs will be hatched at least a week later for the lower part of the valley. In the Ashland district the time will be somewhat later, possibly a week. Up to this time, weather conditions have been normal; and, providing there is no radical change or departure from normal for the next two or three weeks, we should feel reasonably certain that the second brood worms will begin entering the apples about July 12th, as mentioned above.

As stated in Press Bulletin No. 1, the second brood larvae enter the side rather than the calyx end of the apple. The object of the spray, which should be applied before the worms begin to enter, is to thoroughly coat the fruit with an arsenical poison. The spray should be applied not later than July 15th but for convenience it may be applied any time beginning with the first week in July.

For those who have a great deal of spraying to do, it is well to begin at such time as to get the work done before the worms begin to enter the fruit.

A number of growers have asked regarding the application of a spray at this time. Knowing the life history of the insect, namely, that practically all the first brood worms have entered the fruit, it would be a waste of time and material to spray now. From what has been said above, it will be seen that the advantageous time to spray will be just before the second brood worms begin to enter the fruit. There is always a disadvantage in applying an arsenical spray too much in advance of the time when it should be effective. This is particularly true when spraying for the control of the second brood larvae of the coddling moth. At best, an arsenical is fully effective no longer than a month after application; and under certain climatic conditions, and with certain arsenicals, it is less. For the second brood, the apples should be coated with the spray using a fine mist. High pressure is not so necessary but is not objectionable.

BURGESS EASILY HOLDS ASHLAND

With Burgess working as smoothly as Mr. Taft's steam roller at Chicago, Medford was never in danger Sunday winning from Ashland for the second time this season by a score of eight to two.

Burgess in great form pitched one of his best games getting off right and holding his own. His support was unusually good. Local boys used the stick to great advantage but after they had got a lead of two or three runs they slowed up.

The largest crowd of the season was out to see the game expecting a hard fought, close game but it didn't materialize. Most of the talk of Ashland having strengthened her team proved to be bunk.

Score table with columns: ASHLAND, A, B, R, H, E. Lists names like Skeen, Klum, Sayles, Wick, etc.

MEDFORD table with columns: Horton, Miles, Isaacs, Gill, etc.

Summary: Earned runs—Ashland 1, Medford 5; home runs, Horton, Miles; 2 base hit, Tamy; struck out, by Phillips 3, Wick 3, Burgess 2; bases on balls, off Phillips 2, Burgess 2; wild pitch, Phillips 1; double plays, Phillips to Jones, Gill to Wilkinson; left on bases, Ashland 6, Medford 5. Time of game, 1 hour 40 m. Umpires, Melchior, Brons.

WEYERHAUSER GOES TO VISIT BRITISH COLUMBIA

SEATTLE, June 17.—F. Weyerhaeuser, the lumber king, and head of the Weyerhaeuser syndicate, whose timber holdings are said to be larger than the state of Washington, is in Seattle en route to British Columbia where the syndicate has acquired new tracts.

JUNE 24 DATE BOXING CONTEST

Manager Frankie Edwards of the Medford Athletic club signed Bud Anderson to meet Abe Label of San Francisco in a ten-round boxing bout here Monday evening, June 24. Both men have agreed to weigh in at 133 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of said bout.

In bringing together Anderson and Label, Manager Edwards has secured the best attraction in the line of boxing that has ever been staged in Medford.

Abe Label is one of the most well-known lightweights on the Pacific coast and has been one of the headliners in main event boxing contests around San Francisco the past four or five years. Label has to his credit a draw with Willie Ritchie, who recently outfought Ad Wolgast. Label has also held his own against "One-Round" Hogan, Jack Britton and numerous other topnotch lightweights.

Anderson has been in the game a long time, is a good ring general and is noted as having the hardest punch of any lightweight in the business. A more worthy opponent for Bud Anderson than Label would be no easy task to secure, for if Anderson can stow away the "foxy Abe" he had better pack up his belongings and introduce himself to the San Francisco fight fans by trimming a few of the lads Abe has not already licked.

In performing the latter feat, which seems to come natural to Buddy, it would be but a very short time before the Frisco fans would be clamoring to see this Anderson lad pitted against the Ritchies, Wolgasts or Joe Rivers type of boxers, for, while San Francisco fans are accused of Missouri instincts and want to be shown, they are quick to recognize the merits of a champion possibility and it is not unlikely but what this northwestern product will be able to "show 'em."

Cohan and Harris intend to send "The Little Millionaire" on tour with Charles King and Lila Rhodes as the principal parts.

Ask Your Neighbor

Hundreds of Medford Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Medford people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Medford reader, of the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in far-away places.

Read the following: C. C. Kriss, 33 North Grove street, Medford, Oregon, says: "From personal experience with Doan's Kidney Pills, I feel justified in recommending them. I suffered from a dull ache in the small of my back for months. The kidney secretions were also unnatural and at times a retention existed. Upon learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I obtained a supply and began their use. The contents of two or three boxes entirely rid me of the trouble and improved my health. I know that Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to give relief if taken as directed."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
