

MANY FEATURES AT ART EXHIBIT

The opening of the First Art Loan exhibit by the ladies of St. Mark's Episcopal church proved a great success, hundreds of local people visiting St. Mark's hall Wednesday afternoon and viewing the many works of art on exhibition there. The ladies have made a very fine showing and have an exhibit to be proud of.

A detailed account of the many features in the huge hall is almost impossible as they are so varied and vie with each other in interest. There are few which stand out boldly from the rest of the collection.

One of the most valuable exhibits is a painting, "Adoration" by Andrea del Notti, which is famed the world over. To show something of its value the painting was insured for $6000 before being placed on exhibition. It is owned by Mrs. George Boone Carpenter. An interesting feature in connection with this picture is the fact that it went through the Chicago fire and was injured when thrown from a window. Later a man was brought from Italy to repair it.

Another interesting exhibit is a bedroom fitted up at one end of the hall. Here a huge poster bed, hand carved by the great grandfather of Miss Snellicor of this city stands while grouped about it are ancient spinning wheels and an Oregon maple chest which has been in the Hanley family for sixty years. Rugs and coverlets, a hundred years old are grouped about. The exhibit is complete and is most interesting.

Old lace valued at $250 or $300 a yard forms one very interesting exhibit and attract much attention on the part of the ladies who visited the hall Wednesday. Rugs and tapestries, most of them with histories are also to be seen.

General Seoy Smith loaned the ladies an inlaid desk which has been in his family for years which contains a piece of every wood that grows in Ireland. Many other old pieces of furniture are shown.

In addition to these there are silver and gold bowls from the Orient, jade work, Indian collections, tribal effects from many savage nations, ancient armor, firearms, priest's robes, chinaware, glassware, etchings and scores of other interesting things.

A visit to the art exhibit will well repay anyone.

FANS INTERESTED IN COMING MILL

Abe Label, who boxes Bud Anderson next Monday night before the Medford Athletic club, has during his career in the ring fought over 100 battles in the roped arena, in which he has met some of the best lightweights in the country.

In looking over Label's record one notes that Abe has opposed such formidable lightweights as Eddie Hanlon, Johnny McCarthy, Boer Unholz, Eddie Dennis, Johnny Frayne, Lew Powell, One-Round Hogan, Tommy Kilbane and Willie Ritchie. These are some of the world's foremost boxers with whom Label has made creditable showings.

In his bout with Tommy Kilbane, which took place about five months ago, Tommy Kilbane, who is a cousin of Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, was heralded by the Los Angeles newspapers to become the next lightweight champion, like his cousin, Johnny, and after a series of glowing victories in and around Los Angeles he was brought to San Francisco, highly touted as a fit opponent for championship honors.

The Frisco promoters after looking young Kilbane over decided to match him with Abe Label as a sort of a trial bout, to introduce him to the San Francisco public, figuring that if Kilbane could score a decisive win over Label, who is considered a hard nut for any of them to crack, Kilbane would then be a drawing card with the best of them.

Little did Kilbane dream what a stumbling block this Label turned out to be, for after the bout was over Label had won the decision by a wide margin and poor Kilbane—his star had set.

Medford fans will be given an opportunity to see this Abe Label boy pitted against Bud Anderson in a ten-round boxing bout next Monday night. As we all have seen Anderson in action and know just how good he is it will be interesting to see if Label is able to shatter the bright future in store for Anderson, as he has darkened the hopes of so many a promising boxer.

WASTE BASKET PUTS 3 DELEGATES IN JAIL

CHICAGO, June 20.—Three delegates to the republican national convention, whose names the police withheld, were arrested early today, charged with disorderly conduct. The one who gave the name of Everett Johnson (which the police admit is fictitious) bought a flowered wastepaper basket, paying $2.50 for it.

In the Congress Hotel lobby and Poppellian room, he insisted on wearing it for a hat. His two companions good-naturedly—although the hotel management thought too roughly—attempted to rob him of his headgear. The three were having a lot of fun. Two heavyweight policemen saw the "fun" from the policeman's viewpoint. The other two men gave the names of J. S. Francis and J. H. Minnes. The police refused to give out their right names, but admitted that they were delegates and that they were Congress Hotel guests.

TILL TAPPED IN P. & E. STATION

A hold daylight burglary occurred at the Pacific & Eastern depot Wednesday between 11:30 and 12 o'clock noon, the thief breaking open the till in the office and escaping with $21 cash. No clue was left.

The depot of the Pacific & Eastern has two stories. Downstairs the ticket office is located while upstairs the clerks are gathered one of them being in the ticket office below during the short periods before trains pull out. This gave the thief an opportunity to wrench the till loose and take the money left in it.

The police were notified at once but have found no clue.

Requiem of the Sea

Of all that has been written by the secular press about the Titanic disaster, "The Requiem of the Sea" which the New York Times reprints from the Bookman of October, 1908, is particularly appropriate and uplifting just now.

Fear not to sleep
Thy shroud is woven of Heaven's tears,

The tall stars
Are the blessed candles
Burning at thy head,
The drifting mist of ocean,
The incense;

The holy song
The wind that whispers
Its responses
To the deep intoning of the sea;

The stars
And winds
And waters
Say Mass forever
For thy soul.

Fear not to sleep—
These waves were once
The pathway of the Lord.
