HAANA, June 28.—Confirmation of the reported killing by federal soldiers of General Estenoz, the negro rebel leader, was received today from Santiago.
General Montenegro, the government leader, notified President Gomez that it was reported to him that Major Consuegro had the body of Estenoz at Songo, and that a special train had been despatched for it.

BALTIMORE, June 28.—With all traces of last night's storm removed, save in the tired faces of the delegates, Convention Hall was once again packed this afternoon for the nominating session of democracy's hosts.

The galleries were filled to overflowing an hour before the time set for the meeting. But there were very few delegates in their places. The vast hall had been made spick and span once again; the standards showing the delegates' seats had been again fastened to the floor and new seats substituted for those broken in the excitement of the previous session.

The only things reminiscent of the frenzy of 12 hours ago were a monstrous circus portrait of Governor Marshall of Indiana and an oilcloth sign: "We want Wilson," both of which glared from the gallery rail.

Platform Finished

Ten minutes before the meeting time members of the resolutions committee who had been working steadily on the platform since ten o'clock, left the committee room, their task completed. Colonel Bryan declared himself pleased with the party's declarations, asserting that the platform was splendidly progressive.

Chairman James' gavel convening the session fell at 4:11.
Rev. Henry M. Wharton of Baltimore offered prayer.

The invocation over, Chairman James immediately ordered the calling of the roll for the second ballot on the presidential nominee.

It was noticeable that tempers among the policemen and delegates were none too equable. Brief excitement was created on the floor when a Missouri delegate attempted to seat a boy in the front row near him. A policeman promptly ejected the youth.

New York for Harmon

The New York delegates in a caucus just before the convention assembled agreed "for the present to vote for Governor Harmon." This decision will hold good, Judge Parker said, until it is seen that a nomination can be made, and "then the delegation will be ready to vote for any good democrat."

The Clark managers were making a supreme effort to get the speaker.

WOODROW WILSON

BRYAN DICTATES O'GORMAN WRITES PARTY PLATFORM

BALTIMORE, June 28.—The subcommittee of eleven which is writing a six-thousand word platform for democracy resumed its sessions shortly before noon today. The other members of the committee were waiting for Bryan who was the last to arrive. Senator O'Gorman and Bryan have completed their draft, which Bryan modeled and O'Gorman penned in the dictation for which he is famous. The committee took up this draft section by section. Members said they would have their work completed before the afternoon session of the convention at 4 o'clock. There was no prospect of a minority report.

Benton McMillan, who has been honored with nearly all of the important public offices within the gift of the people of Tennessee, is again in the field for the Democratic nomination for governor of that state.

SLAP BRYAN, YOU SLAP MILLIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 28.—"You slap Bryan and you slap millions."

This was the gist of a telegram sent to Theodore A. Bell at Baltimore by Frank A. Hennings, secretary of the Champ Clark league of Lodi, Cal., in protest against Bell's action in opposing William J. Bryan. Protesting letters and telegrams are being sent to Bell in large numbers from California today because of his action in supporting Parker for temporary chairman of the democratic convention. Hennings' telegram is as follows:
"I am indeed surprised. You are the last man who I thought would work against Bryan, the greatest and most loved man in America today. I advise you to stay with the people and not align yourself with Wall Street and reactionary influences. You slap Bryan and you slap millions."

Texas Republicans will meet in Dallas, August 13, to nominate a state ticket.

BURNS AND ROGERS CHALLENGE EACH OTHER TO A DUEL

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 28.—Because Juror L. A. Leavitt was threatened with appendicitis the Darrow trial was adjourned today until Monday. Leavitt is under a physician's care. If he is incapacitated the trial will proceed Monday with the thirteenth juror, A. M. Blakesley, in the box.

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Interest in the trial of Clarence Darrow on a charge of jury bribing reached a boiling point today, the result of the sensational testimony of Guy Biddinger, William J. Burns' chief aide, to the effect that he personally had accepted a bribe from Darrow.

Proceedings also were expected to be warmer because of an alleged near personal assault between Defense Counsel Earl Rogers and Burns and

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE SAYS ROOSEVELT BROUGHT RIDICULE UPON A GREAT CAUSE

MADISON, Wis., June 28.—An editorial signed by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, dealing with his views on Theodore Roosevelt and the progressive cause, is the feature of the senator's weekly, published today. LaFollette says in part:

"Until Roosevelt came into the open as a candidate for the presidency five months ago there was a strong and rapidly growing progressive movement within the republican party. It was based upon clearly defined principles. It stood for the best modern political thought on fundamental democracy. It had assumed national proportions. It was united.

Personal Ambition Projected

"Into this movement, when it gave promise of national success, Roosevelt projected his ambition to be president a third time. He spent weeks carefully planning a 'spontaneous call' for himself. He responded by announcing that he would be a receptive candidate. This candidacy began to drag. He and his friends were in despair.

"Then came his defeat in North Carolina. He became desperate. An enormous campaign fund was raised. Headquarters were opened in New York, Washington, Chicago and states east and west. Newspaper writers were engaged at large pay to boom his candidacy. Special trains were hired and the 'receptive candidate' started in frantic pursuit of the nomination.

"In the history of American politics there has never been in primary campaign for a president an approach to the extravagant expenditures made in his campaign. Men notoriously identified with the steel trust and the harvest trust became his most active supporters. Leading reactionaries, standpatters and political bosses of the Hauna and Quay sort became his closest political friends and representatives in many states.

Reactionaries Enlist

"A number of newer recruits to the republican progressive cause—men who before 1909 with two or three exceptions, had been opposed to the progressive movement—became the noisiest supporters of Roosevelt.

ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE
SENATOR WISCONSIN

"It mattered not to them that Roosevelt had co-operated with Aldrich on legislation during the entire seven years he was president. They forgot that when Roosevelt was out of office and in Africa, through the united efforts of men who for years had been fighting special interests, the progressive cause became a national movement; that Roosevelt was for Taft in 1910; that Taft was denouncing the progressives as 'pirates and traitors'; that he waited until a little more than a year ago, balancing the chances before deciding whether to cast in his lot with the progressives in this presidential year, counted for nothing with the class of progressives who wanted to 'win'—not a real progressive victory, just a victory.

"And they did win precisely that kind of a victory. They carried over overwhelmingly the great standpat states of Illinois and Pennsylvania. That stamped the Roosevelt candidacy with its true character. No true progressive could have secured anything like such a vote in either of the two states. It had, however, the outward sign of success, that catches the crowd. It enabled him to win in two or three really progressive states. It did not enable him to secure the nomination which would have compromised the progressive movement and defeated real achievement for years.

POST OFFICE SERVICE ENDS MONDAY EVE

Failure of Congress to Pass Appropriation Bills Will Tie Up Entire Mail Service of Country and Lay Off All Employees.

President Taft Takes Responsibility for Keeping Men at Work Monday Hoping for Action That Day.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—After conferences with law officers of various departments were held today it seems probable that before night President Taft would issue a statement assuming full responsibility for keeping all departments and branches of the government running Monday, in spite of the fact that the present appropriations expire Sunday at midnight and no provision has been made for the payment of government employees after that time.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—"If congress expects to pass the post office appropriation bill before midnight on Monday," said Postmaster General Hitchcock in a statement issued today "if proper provision is not made for the continuance of the service, the effect will be felt in the whole country.

"The great army of postal employees, 335,000 in all, will have their pay stopped immediately, nor can they continue their service because this is forbidden by statute.

"Upon these employees at least 1,000,000 persons are dependent for their living. At one blow need will come upon them with all its attendant hardships, misery and hunger.

"A great many post office leases will expire automatically; contracts for envelopes, twine and other materials used in quantities in the service will become inoperative and the great plants which furnish the commodities to the government will have to close their doors or cut their force to the limit.

"All over the country the cessation of all mail service will work the greatest inconvenience, and often inestimable hardship. Important letters cannot even be sent, much less delivered.

"Every individual in the country will be affected, the great majority of them directly and others indirectly.

"The postal service is a tremendous machine, the greatest business establishment in the whole world.

Representative A. P. Pujo of the Seventh Louisiana district, whose name will long be remembered in connection with the "Money Trust" investigation, is to retire voluntarily from Congress at the expiration of his term next March.

ENTHUSIASM UNPARALLELED AT CONVENTION

Voiceless from Cheering, Worn Out by Noisy Demonstrations, Delegates and Visitors Remain Throughout Night—Scene of Desolation.

Baiting of Speakers Main Outlet of Amusement While Nomination Speeches Are in Progress.

BALTIMORE, June 28.—A wilderness of chairs; a floor buried inches deep in a heterogeneous rubbish of chewed cigars, bits of papers, remnants of lunch, beer and pop bottles and frayed banners; air fetid and humid, a few dejected employees, listlessly striving to clean up—this was today's view of the national democratic convention hall.

It was not until nearly noon that any attempt was made to clear away the debris for the four o'clock session. Through most of the day a sickly fitful sun strove in vain to lighten the gloom. Outside it rained in fits and starts.

Enthusiasm Unparalleled

Ten minutes after Chairman James' gavel had declared a recess there wasn't a delegate or alternate or visitor left in the vast building. Sleepy-eyed the crowd had revived hurriedly to scurry out of the structure. There was no enthusiasm left.

Probably never before in a national convention have such scenes been enacted as those of last night. The frenzy of enthusiasm was unparalleled. It left strong men weak from exhaustion. When the garish light of dawn vied with electric lights, it revealed a sweat-begrimed crowd of men, flung listlessly into their hard-bottomed chairs, their aching limbs stretched out of half recumbent attitudes. Scores slept peacefully despite a constant din of hoarse comment flung at persistent speakers or Chairman James' vigorous pounding. The Missouri delegation, in the front row was there to a man but not a man had any voice left. An hour of cheering for Champ Clark early in the night left them almost speechless, with only queer croaking utterances.

Baiting of Speakers

William J. Bryan left the hall shortly after midnight, but Chairman Ollie James settled his massive bulk in a big armchair and stuck to the job through practically the entire session, relinquishing the gavel for a few moments rest about 4 o'clock. Expecting a ballot on the nomination, very few of the delegates deserted the hall, and while they were there they had their fun. Baiting of speakers was the main outlet of amusement. At noon the only sign of life in the big hall was in one of the ante-rooms, where the resolutions committee wrestled with the platform and in groups on the floor, where workmen struggled to clear away the debris. The only two things that did not appear dejected in the hall were a rooster, which wandered around, stridently emitting the crow that the men who brought him into the hall had throughout the night vainly endeavored to extract from the bird, and a white dove released during the Underwood demonstration. Both were given freedom outside the hall.

DIRIGIBLE WRECKED; 34 SOLDIERS INJURED

DUSSELDORF, June 28.—Thirty-four soldiers today were injured, several fatally, by an explosion of gas that wrecked the Zeppelin dirigible Schwaben, sister ship of the Victoria Louise, which yesterday made a sensational endurance flight over the North Sea, carrying 126 passengers. The Schwaben was at anchor in front of the hangar and a gust of wind drove the airship against the shed, breaking the gas bag in two. The escaping gas exploded.
