

BRYAN FORCES WALL STREET OUT OF DEMOCRACY

BALTIMORE, Md., June 28.—William Jennings Bryan led last night the democratic convention into a declaration of progressiveness unheard of in political history. A resolution introduced by him was passed by a vote of 889 to 196 declaring the convention opposed to the nomination of any candidate under obligation to J. P. Morgan, T. F. Ryan and August Belmont or any other member of the "privilege-seeking class." Not alone this, but Bryan wanted the convention to go further and force from the convention any delegate who represented the interest of these men.

The convention was thrown into a furor by the proposition and part of the resolutions calling for the withdrawal of the Ryan and Belmont delegates from Virginia and New York, respectively, was resented as invading the sovereign rights of states. When the full import became known boos and catcalls, jeers and hisses were mingled with hand-clapping, cheers and stamping of feet in the galleries and on the floor.

Representative Flood of Virginia dramatically characterized the proposal as insolent and said it came from the "only man who desired to destroy the democratic party." Former Governor McCorkle of West Virginia called it foolish. Bryan made the situation even more dramatic by asking Virginia and New York to request modification of the resolution, and when they scorned the suggestion he took that course himself. From that moment the sentiment changed and the early voting indicated that Bryan retained his hold upon democracy.

Bryan's resolution in substance was: "As proof of our fidelity to the people, we hereby declare ourselves opposed to the nomination of any candidate for president who is representative of or under any obligations to J. Pierpont Morgan, Thomas F. Ryan, August Belmont or any other members of the privilege-hunting and favor-seeking class. Be it further resolved, we demand the withdrawal from this convention of any delegate or delegates constituting or representing the above named interests."

On his own motion the last paragraph was stricken from the resolution, after he had made a speech in which he declared that if the delegates from Virginia would on the roll call protest against the withdrawal of Ryan and if those of New York would ask for the withdrawal of Belmont, Bryan would then withdraw the last part of his resolution.

After several delegates had spoken in defense of Ryan and of the right of Virginia and New York to conduct their own affairs, Lewis Nixon and others expressed their objection to any change in the resolution. Chairman James, however, supported Bryan when Bryan declared he had the right to have the motion modified to suit his wishes.

On demand for a vote on the resolution it was put on the roll call, but with the paragraph beginning, "Be it further resolved," eliminated. The question was put in the form of a motion to suspend the rules and pass the resolution. There was much confusion and it required a second reading to make it plain. The roll call was attended with the greatest confusion and required two starts. As it was, it was almost impossible to follow the roll call.

Virginia was called out of her turn and she voted 23 1/2 ayes to one-half no. Then New York was called and the disorder was hushed for a moment as Charles F. Murphy shouted, "New York votes 90 ayes." Missouri, Clark's home state, voted 34 ayes, 2 noes.

Regarding the half vote from Virginia, it was stated it was the vote of Robert Tunstall. Tunstall announced this himself when there were shouts that it was the vote of Ryan himself. Before the roll call finished and the result was announced, the Indiana delegates, Florida, Connecticut and half a dozen other states shifted their votes to the "aye" column. The official announcement was: Ayes 889, noes 196, not voting 2, absent 1.

LIEUTENANT OF BURNS TELLS OF $500 BRIBE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 28.—Guy Biddinger, chief lieutenant of Detective W. J. Burns, testified in the Darrow trial late today that Darrow gave him a bribe of $500 in the bar of the Alexandria hotel here August 16, 1911.

According to Biddinger's testimony the money was given as a consideration for turning over to him keys belonging to Ortie McManigal and J. B. McNamara, hotel registers and other evidence in the McNamara trial.

According to the witness, Darrow offered $1000 for the evidence, but only paid him half.

The evidence in question Biddinger secured while working for Burns in connection with the McNamara trial.

RAREST CURIOS AND ART WORK NOW EXHIBITED

(Contributed)

That the people of Medford and the surrounding suburbs do not realize what a splendid display of rare and interesting articles there are at the Art and Loan exhibit is evident by the attendance which is not nearly what it should be and what the exhibit deserves.

This week there has been added to the already extensive exhibit a splendid collection gathered by Mrs. H. H. Sargent during her travels in the Orient and particularly during the time Col. Sargent was stationed at the Philippines. It consists of choice embroideries and brasses both of antique and modern design and workmanship. Particularly beautiful are some brasses purchased from the Moro merchants and especially noticeable is a hand wrought bowl made of gun metal and silver. This beautiful collection which occupies the Guild parlors exclusively would take too much space for description, it must be seen to be appreciated, most especially the relics of the Spanish-American war.

Mr. Geo. H. Daggett has loaned many splendid articles among which is especially notable a patent of nobility. It is a document signed by the Empress of Austria Maria Theresa raising to knighthood Carl Johann Holbeck for services rendered to the crown. It grants a coat of arms, the picture of which is attached—and bears the personal signature of the empress, dated Nov. 4, 1765. This document is artistically executed on parchment and attached to it is the imperial seal of Austria.

Mrs. Geo. Carpenter's collection gathered in India is beyond description. Each article is wonderfully interesting and beautiful and bears a history of its own.

There are splendid and rare etchings and engravings loaned by Mr. P. W. Hamill and Mrs. Geo. Carpenter. The paintings and Persian rugs have been commented on before and are well worth devoting a whole afternoon to exclusively.

There is a case containing curios and interesting articles—among the jewelry is a watch set in pearls, formerly the property of a pope of the 18th century—a chateleine about 300 years old—a turn of brilliants over 200 YEARS OLD—A 15TH CENTURY ITALIAN BROTHERHOOD RING—A CAMEO BROUGHT FROM ROME AND SET IN 1835—A VERY OLD AND QUAIN RING SET WITH ROSE DIAMONDS, ALSO A PEARL AND RUBY RING OVER 100 YEARS OLD—ANTIQUE CHAIN OF WHITLEY JET. IN THIS SAME CASE IS A PICTURE OF A TUTOR PAINTED BY QUEEN VICTORIA, ST. CECELIA CARVED ON STONE TAKEN FROM THE CATACOMBS AT ROME, A 16TH CENTURY IRISH SUGAR BOWL OF SILVER, A BIBLE 112 YEARS OLD, A NEAPOLITAN MANDOLIN MADE OF TORTOISE SHELL AND MOTHER OF PEARL BROUGHT FROM NAPLES; ALSO AN OLD ENGLISH LADLE MADE IN 1753, A MODEL OF A QUAIN JEWEL CASE, THE ORIGINAL OF WHICH WAS MADE IN THE 15TH CENTURY AND IS NOW DISPLAYED IN THE MUSEUM AT NUREMBERG.

The case of rare old laces contains a most exquisite wedding veil of point applique, also a handkerchief of the same lace handed down to Mrs. W. L. Brown's grandmother in 1825. Together with these are a beautiful point de alcon bertha made by the French nuns over 75 years ago; also there is a rare Maltese lace handkerchief and Hamton lace doilie. Among the black laces are a black Chantilly lace shawl loaned by Mrs. Putnam and a thread point mantilla also loaned by Mrs. W. L. Brown.

WALTER MONAHAN CERTAIN OF VICTORY

Walter Monahan, San Francisco heavyweight, who is to meet Soldier Elder of Los Angeles on July 4, arrived in Medford last night, fairly radiating with confidence for the coming go.

Monahan is certainly a husky, weighing 190 pounds in his fighting attire, and has a height of six feet and one-half inch. From his appearance one would judge that not an idle pound of weight was stretched over his massive frame and that his blows would be more in the nature of a fall of a trip-hammer. Cleverness, too, must be numbered among his attainments, for he was for eight months training partner of Champion Jack Johnson.

The last bout that Monahan figured in was with Win Kramer of San Francisco, when he won a popular decision over that individual in a four-round go at the Dreamland rink. In speaking of his coming match, Monahan stated that he was in the prime of condition and that he would remain that way until he got well up on the heavyweight ladder. Elder, he says, occupies an important rung, and that if disposed of will not mean only one step, but two, in his struggle to the top.

DEMONSTRATIONS FOR CANDIDATES UPON NOMINATION

BALTIMORE, Md., June 28.—After determining to adjourn the convention as soon as the nominating speeches were made, the floor leaders of the democratic national convention decided at 1:30 this morning to continue the convention in session until after the ballot had been taken.

At that hour the delegates were in the height of an hour's demonstration in favor of Champ Clark. All candidates nominated except Governor Baldwin were accorded lengthy demonstrations.

The Underwood demonstration lasted twenty-six minutes, the Clark demonstration an hour and five minutes and the demonstration in favor of Wilson, which began at 2:10 and had not concluded at 3 o'clock.

Chairman Jones then announced the calling of the roll of states for the nomination of candidates for president, and under the motion adopted the nominating speeches were limited to thirty minutes and the seconding speeches to five minutes.

When Alabama, the first state on the roll, was called, William B. Bankhead, a member of the delegation, placed in nomination Oscar W. Underwood. When Bankhead concluded at 11:18 a demonstration was started which lasted twenty-six minutes, after which the call of the states was resumed. Arizona yielded to Missouri and Senator James A. Reed of that state nominated Speaker Champ Clark. Reed concluded at 12:25, and the demonstration for Clark was started, which lasted an hour and five minutes. Quiet was restored at 1:30 and J. T. Robinson, democratic nominee for governor of Arkansas, took the platform and seconded Clark's nomination. When Connecticut was reached on the roll Henry Wade Rogers took the platform to nominate Governor Simeon E. Baldwin of that state. At the conclusion of Rogers' speech a short demonstration occurred in behalf of the Connecticut governor. Delaware next yielded to New Jersey and John W. Westcott of that state went forward to nominate Governor Woodrow Wilson. The Wilson people did not wait for the speech to begin before beginning the demonstration. Hats were thrown in the galleries and when the hall finally quieted down Westcott began to speak.
