Sam L. Sandry, chief deputy fish and game warden on Sunday night confiscated a new 90 foot salmon net at the Bybee bridge in this county.

This is the first evidence secured in four years of illegal fishing with a net in Jackson county. Heretofore the offenses have been committed on the lower portions of the river.

Sandry found the net Saturday and watched until Sunday night for the parties to return and make their haul. When they did show up they succeeded in getting away from the officers but the net was taken.

Sandry stated that it was only an accident that he found the evidences of illegal fishing at that place on the river as heretofore the Jackson county end of the river has been free of such practices. Hereafter however he will carefully watch all portions of the stream.

The poachers were in a boat. Central Point parties are suspected.

CAR TAKES WHEELS OFF OF CARRIAGE Henry T. Haswell, driving an E. M. F. car, accidentally ran into a carriage containing Mrs. A. R. Phipps and Mrs. Dave Phipps on Riverside avenue Sunday afternoon and while no one was hurt the carriage was demolished and the women are suffering from the shock. The accident was said to be unavoidable by bystanders.

The car struck the carriage a glancing blow and took two wheels off of it. The women were not thrown and the horse made no attempt to bolt which accounts for the fact that no one was injured.

MEDICINE SAMPLES NEARLY TAKE LIFE

Distribution of patent medicine samples has resulted in another narrow escape from death in this city. Saturday night Inez Beady, a grand daughter of Louis Hell, picked up some medicine samples of "De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills and Kodal Dyspeptic Tablets" and thinking them candy, owing to their sugar coating, ate most of them. The little girl was seriously ill for a time but after heroic methods had been employed by D. E. H. Porter who was called she was saved. The samples were distributed from house to house.

WILSON PLEASUED BY SHOWING AT BALTIMORE

SEA GIRT, N. J., July 1.—That is very satisfactory," was Governor Wilson's comment accompanied by his broadest smile when the news this afternoon was conveyed to him from the telegraph station on the little lawn at the "Little White House" that he was ahead of Clark by five votes on the thirtieth ballot.

The governor was informed by his lieutenants as soon as Iowa and Vermont put his total score above that of the speaker.

SECOND SPEEDER NABBED BY POLICE

Benjamin Sherman was the second man to be gathered in by the police for speeding during the present anti-speed crusade. He was nabbed on North Central Saturday night and today paid a fine of $10. He was racing a motorcycle when caught. Sherman made no attempt to fight the charge as he was arrested at the time of the race. He appeared today in court and settled the charge. The police continue to be on the lookout for violators of the speeding ordinance and are determined to gather in all offenders.

HOUSE VOTES CONFIDENCE IN SPEAKER CLARK

WASHINGTON, July 1.—In answer to Bryan's charges that Speaker Clark was in league with unhealthy political interests, the house today unanimously voted full confidence in the speaker "regardless of political affiliations."

CHAMP CLARK SECOND

members of the Missouri delegation leaped over and tauntingly yelled: "Clark, Clark," directly in his face and ears. A free-for-all fight started over a banner directly in front of the press stand. A dozen Missourians protected by the sergeant-at-arms, raised the banner on the press section. They were thrown bodily to the floor. A dozen men were fighting on the floor while the Baltimore police were making childishly feeble efforts to stop the near-riot.

Riot is Started

A Missourian tried to rush the press seats and was knocked to the floor by one of the New York reporters over whom he tried to walk.

By this time the entire front of the delegate section just below the platform was a howling mob. Chairman Ollie James rushed to the platform. The Wilson men started to bring their banners, but they were ordered back by William F. McCombs, the Wilson manager, to prevent further fighting. After ten minutes, order was restored and the offending banner was removed.

Meanwhile Bryan was sitting on the rail at the speaker's platform, waiting for his chance.

Chairman James when order was restored tried to place the blame for the disorder on the visitors despite the fact that at least two-thirds of the Missouri delegation had not only precipitated but had participated in the riot.

Bryan Shut Out

James ordered the result of the ballot and ordered the clerk to proceed with the roll call.

Bryan demanded the right to speak. James finally declared that Bryan had a right to a question of a personal privilege and that he could state his question.

"Mr. Chairman, I was seated with my delegation when a banner was placed in front of us. I asked that it be removed from that place. Being refused I went to the Missouri delegation to find out if the banner had been taken to the Nebraska delegation by its authority. If that was the unauthorized act of those who brought it, I have nothing to say. If it was the official act of the Missouri delegation then I demand to answer the question on the banner."

Chairman James said: "The chair regrets to have to rule that the gentleman from Nebraska has not stated a question of personal privilege and he cannot talk on the subject."

Bryan bowed to James' ruling, smiled grimly and returned to his seat in the Nebraska delegation. When he got there he said:

"If the Missouri delegation is not responsible for this banner, then I cannot say anything."

James started to restore order again when a new fight started in the Connecticut delegation which defied the efforts of the police to stop.

Suggests Foss' Name

While they were doing this, James issued an order to the police to arrest any person who came into the hall with a banner at any time in the future. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston then broke into the game and while announcing that he would not take advantage of the offer of the chairman to arise to a question of personal privilege at this time he reserved the right when the time comes that the committee cannot make a choice between the leading candidates to suggest that it nominate as a sub-candidate Eugene N. Foss. There was a general laugh over the manner in which Fitzgerald got his speech before the convention.

The fight in the Connecticut delegation resulted from Delegate Mahan shouting slurs at William J. Bryan. State Senator W. M. Kennedy of Nantucket objected and Mahan repeated the remark, and the pair clashed. There was little done, however.

Wilson had started the day with 407 1/2 votes on the twenty-seventh ballot as against 463 1/2 for the speaker. He gained slowly but steadily, however, and on the thirtieth ballot went past the speaker.

Iowa split on his ballot, fourteen delegates voting for Wilson, as against twelve for Clark and Congressman Henry D. Clayton of Alabama, the acting chairman ruled that the mit had been broken and that the vote should be recorded as cast.

The vote on the thirtieth ballot showed Wilson 460 against Clark's 455. The announcement that he had at last secured the highest vote caused the Wilson supporters to start an uproarious demonstration and then the leaders redoubled their efforts to get Illinois into line for Wilson. They boasted that if they could get Roger Sullivan and his men lined up, they could stampede the convention for the New Jersey executive.

All Deals Fail

The Underwood forces were trying to make a deal with all other delegates but failed to make any headway.

Many of the delegates were looking up precedents for an adjournment today. It was agreed that this would only be possible as a last resort and when it had been absolutely demonstrated that no agreement could be reached.

A suggestion that met with favor in certain quarters was for a recess of four weeks during which preferential primaries could be held in the various states. This plan was declared by many western delegates to be a good one but the easterners denounced it as a "Bryan plot."

The New York delegates were in a bitter mood today. The constant exhortation by Bryan was having its effect.

"We have tried to be dignified and not meet abuse with abuse," said Governor Dix, "but I think the time has come when we will have to take a position in opposition to Bryan's diatribes."

It was 11:03 when the convention was called to order by Chairman James, the opening prayer was by Rev. S. Carroll Coale, of Baltimore.

Bryan came in immediately after the prayer and was uproariously cheered by the galleries. The majority of the delegates sat stolidly in their seats.

Clark Makes Failure

A desperate effort was made just before the convention was called to order by the Clark managers to formulate some plan of action but as Representative Sulzer said: "Nothing was accomplished."

Former Governor Francis of Missouri acquiesced in Sulzer's statement.

The break to Wilson which had been expected came on the 28th ballot when Indiana was called. Senator Shively announced that 29 of the 30 votes of that state had been cast for Wilson and one for Kern.

The solitary vote came from Menzies of Mount Vernon.

There was loud cheering when the result in Indiana was announced but the majority of the other delegates held fast on this roll call.

Recorded for Clark

The vote of New Mexico, which had been voting solidly for Clark was challenged on the 28th ballot. Three of the delegates voted for Wilson, but James ruled that under the unit rule the vote should be recorded for Clark.

When West Virginia was reached, Colonel McTear challenged the vote of the state and demanded a poll. McGraw, although instructed for Clark, had been trying all day to swing the delegation to Wilson.

Unit Rule Holds

The state convention instructions were called for the Chairman James ruled that a majority of the delegates had failed to vote for Wilson, the vote being: Wilson 3 1/2 and Clark 11 1/2, the unit rule still held and the state vote must be counted for Clark.

Wyoming broke away from Clark on this ballot, and cast its six votes for Wilson.

And, a moment later Alaska also broke its six votes, dividing three for Clark and three for Wilson.
