ANDERSON WINS EASILY FROM BURNS

KLAMATH FALLS, July 5.—"I'm sorry gentlemen, but I've got to stop. This air has got my goat." With this statement Rough House Burns gave up at the end of the eighth round of Wednesday night's bout, after he had been outclassed in every way, and badly beaten up by Bud Anderson.

Although Anderson was doing all the boxing, and was landing on his opponent almost at will, hitting him repeatedly about the head, face and body, the scene was one that kept the fans agog, as Burns, apparently not feeling the hard wallops he received, would constantly walk in to Anderson's rain of blows, landing one to the two or three he received.

In the second preliminary, Fred McLellan and Fred Anderson, the featherweights from the opposing camps, were the contestants and after knocking McLellan down three times in the fourth round, Anderson won by a knockout.
