JOLTS AND JINGLES

By Ad Brown

It was down in Casey's bar room That my partner said to me, "On this here suffrage question We can never quite agree."

Then he took a glass of lager And he idly blew the foam While he sprang the ancient bromide, "Woman's place is in the home."

But he said it in a bar room, And I think perhaps you see That the setting and the logic Couldn't very well agree.

Why didn't the gas company enter a man in the 100 meter race at Stockholm? We inquire because a friend told us it is a fine joke.

When the Elks come back from Portland I'm as sure as I can be That among the Bills returning There will be a bill for me.

It is to be hoped the Portland moving picture men don't neglect to snap Clarence Reames in the act of being everywhere at once.

Constatine N. Pappamihalopoulos made a speech in Portland the other day. Must have been fun to hear the gink who introduced him.

Roosevelt says the people should disregard party lines, but so far he hasn't satisfactorily explained why he doesn't do so and vote for Wilson.

Seattle has a pitcher named Conannon who is proving one.

OLD CASE HAUNTS STEPS IN FEDERAL JUDGE PROBE

SEATTLE, Wash., July 10.—The ten year old bankruptcy case of Heckmann and Hansen occupied the whole day in the judiciary sub-committee's investigation of Judge Hanford.

Attorney Jerry L. Finch, the complaining witness, was on the stand all day. Finch accused Hanford of unjust conduct in his refusal to re-open the estate of the bankrupt firm and in the whole conduct of the case, incidentally charging Richard A. Hallinger who appeared first as attorney for the maker of the note and shortly afterward as counsel for the bank to whom the note was drawn in the foreclosure proceedings begun by the bank.

During the discussion of the admission of evidence Chairman Garham of the committee took the occasion to say the committee was not bound to take all the testimony offered. He added that the committee was not a court, but was more like a grand jury which is determining whether there is sufficient grounds for impeachment.

He said Hanford's counsel would be allowed to enter in defense, not as his right but as an action of grace. Commencing tomorrow the committee will hold night sessions.

TROOPS BEING MOBILIZED FOR ARMY MANEUVERS

VANCOUVER BARRACKS, Wash., July 10.—General Marion P. Maas today is preparing for the mobilization of between 5000 and 6000 troops, regular and national guardsmen, in the vicinity of Grays harbor, Washington, for the annual army maneuvers, beginning July 20 and extending to July 30.

DON'T ASK BEN SELLING.

HALF of the Oregon delegation to the Chicago convention have repudiated the action of the convention and the nomination of Taft, styling it fraudulent.

The chairman of the Republican state central committee, Bruce Dennis, of La Grande, denounces "the crime at Chicago" in vigorous language, as an outrage to patriotism and to party.

Senator Dan Kellaher of Portland, nominated as a Republican elector, declares that he will cast his ballot in the electoral college for Roosevelt and is busy organizing a bandana party in Oregon.

But nothing has been heard yet from Ben Selling, distinguished seller of pants, also bandanas, and Republican nominee for the United States senate.

Where does Mr. Selling stand? Is he astride the Bull Moose, waving a bandana, with other progressives, or does he sanction the rape of the party in Taft's behalf and follow the flag of fraud?

Mr. Selling was personally selected by Mr. Taft as chairman of the special committee to steal Oregon and had charge of the preliminary Taft campaign. Does he now repudiate Taft, whom he helped elect? Or does he repudiate the rank and file who repudiated Taft?

Immediately after the Chicago convention Mr. Selling refused to state to which faction he belonged—to the standpat bosses or to the progressive rank and file—and then he took to the woods, where he has since been hiding.

Is it possible that our clothier statesman has no convictions upon the subject? Can it be that "honest Ben Selling" sanctions the "Chicago crime" or does he believe with Teddy "Thou shalt not steal," except some little thing like Panama?

Progressive Jonathan Bourne will not support Taft. Will "progressive" Ben Selling? If so, what sort of a progressive will progressive Oregon be sending to the senate?

Is it possible that a month's reflection is necessary for Mr. Selling to make up his mind as to right and wrong and as to his political whereabouts? Does he not know off-hand—just as he does the profit on pants?

What kind of a senator will a man make who has no convictions, or if he has, is afraid to express them? Does Oregon want a senator afraid of his political shadow?

"If you want to know the latest fashions—ask Ben Selling" runs the big ads that silence the Portland press in Selling's behalf. But this authority on men's lingerie is evidently no authority on political fashions—and if you want to know the latest styles of politics—don't ask Ben Selling. Ask one of the dummies in the windows of his pant trust stores.

MEDFORD ENTERTAINS AT HEADQUARTERS

Medford entertained yesterday. We know just exactly what we are talking about. Medford entertained at their headquarters at the Imperial hotel. The way Medford entertains is to get a poor but honest, not to say modest, person to visit their headquarters—Oh, sure, nice, pleasant, sociable folks and all that—then they shove said hashful geek into the middle of the floor and dance a ring around him, singing all the while: "O You Beautiful Doll."

An amusing incident occurred at Medford headquarters yesterday when a visitor mistook Owney Patton for an Irish Jew. Everybody in Medford knows Owney could be restrained from doing brew accent and "commercial instinct" appearances stamps him as a typical representative of his race direct from Jerusalem, and when some well meaning fellow, from Owney's appearance, concluded that there was Irish blood in Owney's veins a protest immediately went up from Owney that could be heard all over the Medford headquarters and it was with much effort that Owney could be restrained from doing violence to the visitor. It was eventually smoothed over when the visitor was assured that when Owney was born there were no Irish in Palestine.

DARROW RESENTS INSULT TO JOB HARRIMAN

LOS ANGELES, July 10.—Scenes of disorder marked the closing hours of Tuesday's session of the Darrow trial when an attempt of the prosecution to have read to Job Harriman, who was on the stand, the statute regarding immunity. The witness himself waived all legal rights to immunity, but Darrow in a most impassioned manner used since the trial began declared the prosecution was trying to insult the witness.

District Attorney Fredericks denied such an intention and Attorney Appel of counsel for the defense asserted the prosecutor was trying to brand the witness as a criminal. Attorney Rogers, who was propounding the questions for the defense, renewed his examination when Attorney Ford objected to the form of questions.

Both lawyers began shouting as loud as they could. Judge Hutton reprimanded both and fined them for contempt, remitting the fine later when both apologized. Harriman contradicted the testimony of Bert Franklin and denied he gave Darrow $4000 which Franklin confessed to having used to corrupt one of the prospective jurors in the McNamara case.

TO ORGANIZE LARGE SUFFRAGE ORGANIZATION

For the purpose of organizing an Equal Suffrage Association of Southern Oregon which will be composed of representatives of the various local suffrage clubs throughout this section Mrs. J. F. Reddy, Miss Gladys Heard and Mrs. Smythe left this morning for Ashland where they will meet and confer with a number of the ladies of Ashland. They will spend the day at the suffrage headquarters in the Chautauqua grove where much effective campaign work is being done.

The ladies are much pleased with the growth of the sentiment in favor of equal suffrage and state that great progress is being made for the cause not only in this section but throughout the state.

BANDS PLAY AS B. P. O. ELKS MEET AT PORTLAND

PORTLAND, July 10.—The real work of the Elks' convention which is in session this week in Portland began Tuesday when the grand lodge session opened with over 1000 accredited delegates. For more than half an hour before Grand Exalted Ruler Sullivan called the session to order the convention hall was a scene of animation the like of which nothing was ever seen here.

Bands which accompanied the delegations all played in anything but unison; songs were sung, many of them and all at the same time, and pandemonium generally reigned. When Mr. Sullivan succeeded in getting the body to come to order, his own report and those of the grand secretary and grand treasurer were read.

Following the ending of the reports the election of officers occurred, and Rochester was selected by acclamation as the convention city in 1913.

The following were the officers chosen for the ensuing year: Grand exalted ruler, Thomas B. Mills of Superior, Wis.; grand esteemed leading knight, James L. King of Topeka; grand esteemed lecturing knight, L. R. Maxwell of Fredsholttown, Ia.; grand secretary, Fred C. Robinson of Dubuque, Ia.; grand trustee, John J. Faulkner of East St. Louis, Ill.; grand inner guard, John Lee Clark of Albuquerque, N. M.; grand tiler, Patrick H. Shields of Clarksville, Va.

SPECIAL NOTICE

GRANTS PASS TO PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Grants Pass and Medford will play again at the ball park next Sunday afternoon and as these teams have been playing a very close game throughout the season the fans will probably be out en masse to see them.

Grants Pass expects to make it two victories for the season Sunday.

Miller, a phenom from Gold Hill, will probably be seen at third for the local team, as Tunny will probably be absent. He is said to be a great find.

The game Sunday will probably be another of the close games which has delighted the local fans so this season.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

(By A. C. Howlett.)

On the Fourth there was quite a number of people come in from the different parts of the country to join in the festivities of the occasion.

Several of the Pence family and Mrs. Lynch and her family of Elk creek, and several from Trail, quite a number from Butte Falls, among them being Charles Edmundson and family, Bill Hildreth and wife, William Perry and family, Howard Bowden and a number from Medford among them was Shorty Garnett and Mr. Kidd, the shoe man, they had an eye to business.

Among the arrivals was enough of the Trusty family to have an unexpected reunion when they were collected enough to form a group of nine, and Henry Childreth hunted around to find someone with a camera to take a photo of the group and finally he found our daughter Agnes and she took a picture of the group and they are anxious to learn the results but at this writing Monday, she has not had them developed. It was a very agreeable surprise to have them all come in on Henry Childreth and wife, the first time they had all been together for several years.

I forgot to mention that Jud Edsall came over from Scott's Bar on the third to celebrate the Fourth with us.

Chaney Florey and family also came over on the evening of the third to join in the pleasures of the Fourth. Chaney is one of our town boys that we may well feel proud of, he has been deputy assessor for the last term.

George Davis, president of the Fruit Growers bank at Medford and one of the principal officers of the Eagle Point State bank, came out the evening of the fifth.

Frank Brown one of our merchants went to Portland Saturday and his brother Merritt went to Medford and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Brown told me that he and Miss Motrix, who taught the intermediate department of our school, were to be married that afternoon in Medford and that they were going to Southern Illinois and that he was going out her farm. If it is the case the congratulations of their friends follow them.

S. B. Holmes and wife started last Saturday to visit relatives in British Columbia.

Extra trains were run from here to Medford to accommodate those who wanted to go, and could, to see the races last week. There was quite a number went over Saturday evening and among them were Roy Smith and Miss Rosa Ayres, L. E. Smith, Mrs. Frank Brown, Jud Edsall and Miss Hattie Howlett and Mrs. Howlett. They returned on Sunday morning at 12:30.

T. C. Moore and a man by the name of Lindsey of Ashland were guests at the Sunny Side Sunday night taking the E. P. Prospect stage Monday morning for Elk Creek.

Mr. Walters and his little boy of Elk Creek walked in Saturday evening from Elk Creek and the next morning went on to Medford.

Just about the time Mrs. Howlett had her dinner dishes washed and put away who should come up and ask for dinner for four but Mike Hanley. His party composed Mrs. C. J. Riley and her daughter Miss Lane and Mr. Joseph Reynolds and Mike himself. He had been up to his place with Mrs. Riley and her daughter and when I asked her how she liked the Butte Creek country she said, "I have always lived in a level country and those mountains are so high that one has to look right straight up to see out," and we speak of them as the foot hills. Mr. Joseph Reynolds is one of the old pioneers of Butte Creek, he said that he was the first one that ever took a ditch out of Little Butte creek. He has lived there long enough to raise a family and now has his grand children around him.

I have a lot more to write but will keep till tomorrow.

HER FRIEND'S GOOD ADVICE

The Results Made This Newburg Lady Glad She Followed Suggestion.

Newburg, Ala.—"For more than a year," writes Myrtle Cothrum, of this place, "I suffered with terrible pains in my back and head. I had a sallow complexion, and my face was covered with pimples. Our family doctor only gave me temporary relief.

A friend of mine advised me to try Cardui, so I began taking it, at once, and with the best results, for I was cured after taking two bottles. My mother and my aunt have also used Cardui and were greatly benefited.

I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women."

Cardui is a purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, tonic remedy for women, and will benefit young and old. Its ingredients are mild herbs, having a gentle, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui has helped a million women back to health and strength. Have you tried it? If not, please do. It may be just what you need.
