MONTANA-BANKER HAS HIGH PRAISE FOR ROGUE VALLEY

Ed. C. Hale, a director of the citizens state bank of Big Timber, Mont., who recently came to Medford has loud praises for the wonderful orchards of the Rogue. "Six weeks ago," states Mr. Hale, "my wife and I came to Medford for health and vacation. Medford was recommended to us by the Rogue River Commercial Orchard Company, in whose properties I am interested. "I have never seen a more fertile valley, or one that has greater possibilities. You have excellent climate, fertile soil, plenty of water, and a model city of 10,000. I have seen apple and pear orchards that excel their pictures, so beautiful and perfect in their fruit. I viewed the picking in an orchard where Bartlett pears averaged nine boxes to the tree. I will never forget your well tilled orchards so healthy in appearance, and bending with fruit. "I wish to say that I have found the young orchards of the Rogue River Commercial Orchard Company to have the best of drainage, the best of soil, and good, intelligent care. Their tree growth since I have been here has been a marvel to me, and their properties are up in every way to the report they send to those interested with them. "I hope to return here again this fall, as I am in love with your city and your fertile valley."

FINED PRACTICING WITHOUT LICENSE

Dr. John V. Anderson of Central Point was arrested Monday for practicing without a license. He was given a hearing and fined $50. The matter was called to the attention of the district attorney's office some time ago. Deputy prosecutor Cherry investigated and conducted the proceedings for the state.
