

SAW DEAN DAY BEFORE ROBBERY BANK OF MONTREAL

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Sept. 5.—At the preliminary hearing in the police court this morning, witnesses positively identified Charles Dean, as having been in the city on the day previous to the robbery of the Bank of Montreal in this city last September, when $271,721 was stolen.

George R. Greenwood and his son stated that they saw Dean in an automobile, together with four other men, one of whom Greenwood identified from a picture as being the suspect McNamara, and another being Martin Powell, proceeding towards Vancouver on the morning following the bank robbery.

Chain of Evidence

E. P. Davis, of Vancouver, who is prosecuting the crown, is endeavoring to weave a chain of evidence around Dean, and at the same time submitting evidence, for the purpose of identifying Dean, that will implicate McNamara and Powell, who are at present fighting extradition in the United States, and who were arrested and charged with complicity in the robbery.

Chief of Police Bradshaw testified as to his investigations and of the finding of money in the different places. He admitted that he could not swear as to having seen Dean, previously to the time he took him over from the United States authorities. Dean, on the way to New Westminster, after telling the chief that he was glad to see him, and that he knew he would get a square deal in Canada, stated quite voluntarily that it was a frame-up on the part of the Pinkerton detectives, who wanted to make a scapegoat of some one and who had picked on him because he had been living in Vancouver.

Bank Officials Testify

William G. Phipps, accountant of the bank of Montreal testified as to the condition of the bank when he entered, on being informed of the robbery, of the subsequent checking up and finding the missing amount to be $271,721. The stolen money, he said, would weigh about 259 pounds and would be equal to a two and a half foot solid cube.

Adam S. Johnson, who is appearing for the accused did not cross examine the witnesses, but entered objections to the evidence on several occasions and his objections were noted.

ATTORNEY STEALS TO CHANGE NAME TO SAVE CLIENT

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 5.—Resorting to thievery, according to the police, in an attempt to save the life of a client, Walter Hansen, former district attorney of this county and prominent in state politics, was arrested today as he emerged from police headquarters carrying the bullet riddled coat Thomas McGillis is alleged to have been shot and killed by Alfred Sorenson. Hansen is defending Sorenson.

Following Hansen's arrest five other men and a woman, alleged members of a gang of "phony" poolroom operators, were arrested on charges of attempted bribery. The woman was released.

The police allege that Hansen, acting for the alleged conspirators, attempted to bribe two city detectives to "protect" he poolroom operators from raids. The detectives are said to have turned the money over to Chief of Police Grant.

Hansen, according to the detectives, approached them earlier in the day, declaring that he must have McGillis' coat or his client would be convicted.

The detectives say they told him they would not personally steal the coat, but would leave the door unlocked. Then, they allege, they set a trap for Hansen.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, Hansen was still in jail, but he hoped to raise the required bail money before night. A brother of the accused attorney recently was appointed American consul at Hobart, Tasmania.

TO CHANGE NAME TO JONAH JINX

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 5.—"I am going to ask the courts to change my name to Jonah Jinx. I'm the champion hard luck man of Missouri, and that's the limit."

This was the wail here today of Ralph Dennison, a traveling man, who with his head swathed in bandages, bemoaned the luck he experienced in a "sky limit" poker game here last night. Just as Dennison was about to rake in the biggest pot of the evening the ceiling gave way, and a chunk weighing 75 pounds struck him on the head.

"Can you beat it? Dennis moaned. "All my life I've wanted to hold four buttons and a rattler. And the first four cards the dealer gave me after an hour of play were aces. Everybody had good hands and stood for several rounds. Then when I was called down came the ceiling. I wonder what became of the pot?"

"I had $13,000 worth of property razed by a Kansas tornado; four full-blooded horses that I owned were killed by lightning and once I sat in a whist game with thirteen trumps and never took a trick, but last night's experience was the worst of all. In the whist game my partner led an ace, and I was forced to trump. He kicked me out of the room without giving me a chance to explain. Me for the court tomorrow."
