CEOL CASE TO JURY BY NIGHT

The case of the state vs. Frank Ceol, an Italian, charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon W. C. Daley, a Lake Creek rancher, occupied the attention of the circuit court today. It was believed that the case would go to the jury by noon, but indications now are that the case will not close until late today.

The case is being bitterly fought, the defendant endeavoring to show that Daley had threatened him several times in regard to the ditch and that when he attacked Mr. Daley with a shovel and severely injured him he was acting in self-defense. On the other hand, the state endeavored to show that the assault was entirely without provocation. A large number of witnesses were placed on the stand on each side. Judge E. K. Kelley is conducting the defense.

DEATH CALLS AGED PIONEER AT EAGLE POINT

Isaac Findley died at the home of his son, Fred, at Eagle Point, Ore., Sept. 3, 1912, aged 70 years, 8 months.

Mr. Findley was a pioneer of Willamette and Rogue River valleys, but for the past two years had resided at Roseburg. He was born Dec. 25, 1842, in Wayne county, Mo., and at the early age of 17 came west and settled in Yamhill county, where he was married to Jennie E. Chamness, Sept. 3, 1866, and in 1899 he moved to southern Oregon. He bought a farm 15 miles below Grants Pass where he engaged in hop raising until about five years ago he sold the farm and moved to Medford, residing there three years, then moved to Roseburg where he lived until three weeks before his death, his son Fred going to Roseburg brought his father home with him thinking a change would be beneficial.

Mr. Findley was a member of the Christian church.

Mr. Findley leaves to mourn him eleven children, two having preceded him to that better land, Mrs. Etelle Malone, Langel Valley, Ore.; Mrs. Lena Smith, Eugene, Ore.; Mrs. Bell Trask, Grants Pass, Ore.; Mrs. Susie Grimes, Lyons, Ore.; Mrs. Jessie Viehwien, Jacksonville, Ore.; Mrs. Jessie Vernon, Eagle Point, Ore.; John H. Lyons, Ore.; William D. Lyons, Ore.; Fred P. Eagle Point, Ore.; Elmer G. Lyons, Ore. All were present except Will and James who could not be reached. Funeral services were held in the Baptist church by Rev. Simmons. The casket was taken to the depot and placed in a steel vault and shipped to Grants Pass and then taken to the Swan cemetery.
