

OPEN DOOR FOR ATTACK UPON MEXICO CITY

Orozco Hastening to Join Zapata—
Southern Pacific Appeals to Uncle
Sam for Protection—Border Village Summoned to Surrender

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 11.—Washington officials, through their action in permitting Mexican federal troops to move across Texas and Arizona to facilitate warfare against the rebels, who have been active along the border of Sonora state, have played, it is believed here today, directly into the hands of General Pascual Orozco, the rebel chief. With the main body of Madero's army proceeding across Texas, a general movement southward from Sonora by the rebels is reported to be in progress to join General Zapata for a general attack on the capital. The federal force about Mexico City is badly crippled. President Madero having sent a large part of the garrison to assist in checking rebel activities along the American border.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Formal demand for protection of the company's Mexican interests has been made to the state department at Washington by the Southern Pacific Railroad company, according to announcement today.

Accounts of property damage inflicted by rebels will run into the millions, according to official reports. Fifty bridges along the company's line in the state of Sonora have been wrecked and hundreds of feet of track destroyed.

An attack by Indians, heretofore unpublished and in which nine men were killed and a train burned, has reached Judge Lovett.

Surrender Demanded
DOUGLAS, Ariz., Sept. 11.—Demanding surrender within twenty-four hours on the alternative of an attack by his rebel command, Colonel Antonio Rojas today served an ultimatum on the village of Agua Prieta, Sonora, across the boundary from Douglas.

The federal garrison of Agua Prieta numbers 230. Rojas has nearly 1000 well armed rebels under his standard.

Walter Douglas Escapes
DOUGLAS, Ariz., Sept. 11.—Evading a hundred Mexican rebel scouts who had been detailed to capture and hold him for ransom, Walter Douglas, millionaire head of the gigantic Phelps-Dodge copper interests, arrived in Douglas today after a perilous flight from Naco, Sonora.

Douglas and his companions were compelled to ford streams twenty-seven times, finding every bridge between Naco and Douglas.

WILSON PLANS
WEEKLY SWINGS
AROUND CIRCLE

SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 11.—Weekly campaign trips, which will keep him busy from now until election is the plan mapped out for himself today by Governor Woodrow Wilson, the democratic presidential nominee.

Discussing his plans today, Governor Wilson insisted that these weekly trips could not be construed as a "swing around the circle." He explained that he would start out each time with a definite destination in view, complete the trip and return to Sea Girt. Then, he said, he would start on a new trip.

Governor Wilson will leave for Syracuse, N. Y., tonight. Members of his campaign committee believe that Wilson's presence there will have an important bearing on the democratic situation in New York state.

COLLINS TURNS STATES EVIDENCE AGAINST WOOD

Accomplice of Millionaire Textile Manufacturer Tells Details of Dynamite Conspiracy to Implicate
Strikers at Lawrence Mills.

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—William M. Wood, millionaire president of the American Woollen company, indicted by the grand jury here for conspiracy to "plant" dynamite during the Lawrence textile strike, may be convicted on the testimony of Dennis J. Collins, an alleged accomplice, who agreed today to turn state's evidence. Collins was indicted on a similar charge to that against Wood.

Angered by what he termed an attempt to shift the blame for the Lawrence affair to his shoulders, Collins sent for District Attorney Pelletier and told his side of the case. He freely admitted that he was involved in a conspiracy with mill owners and that he did plant dynamite in the homes of Lawrence operatives in an effort to discredit the strike.

Tells of Conspiracy
Collins told the prosecutor that he met John Breen and Ernest Pittman in Boston. Pittman, he said, delivered a package to Breen, who divided it into bundles. One of these bundles, Collins said, was given to him. It contained dynamite. Collins declared he took his bundle to Lawrence and placed sticks of dynamite at locations designated by Breen.

Pittman, mentioned in Collins' confession, was a member of one of the largest textile mill construction companies in New England. He learned that an indictment had been returned against him and committed suicide when told that the probe would be complete.

Paid Breen's Fine
When arrested in Lawrence for planting dynamite Breen refused to go on the witness stand. He was found guilty and fined $500. District Attorney Pelletier says he can prove that Wood paid Breen's fine. After subjecting Breen to the "third degree" in Boston, Pelletier declared that Breen deserved a ten years' sentence.

Evidence intended to show that many Lawrence mill owners and city officials knew that dynamite was to be planted was submitted today to the grand jury by Pelletier.

LAND IN ANTARCTIC SAY GEOGRAPHERS

LONDON, Sept. 11.—That there is a land in the Antarctic which equals the area of Australia and Europe combined, and that Africa, New Zealand and South America and Australia were once connected with the Antarctic continent, were the contentions made at the Royal Geographical Society, held here yesterday.

For the purpose of discussing the question of South Pole exploration, the society met with Sir Clements Markham, the president, in the chair.

In his introductory speech, Sir Clements said that Captain Scott, who is now in the South Polar regions, was the greatest of all polar explorers. In the opinion of the chairman, Captain Scott reached the pole on January 4.

Dr. Bruce, who led the Scottish National Antarctic expedition of 1902, in a paper on the explorations of Scott, Shackleton and Amundsen, supported the theory concerning the connections between the Antarctic continent and the now populated countries.

CONNECTICUT FAITHFUL TO PRESIDENT TAFT

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 11.—Warm endorsement of the Taft administration is the feature of a platform adopted here today by the Connecticut republican state convention. The convention deadlocked on the nomination for governor with Lieutenant Governor Blakesdale leading.

CHARGE GIBSON WITH SLAYING OPULENT CLIENT

Attorney Accused of Murdering Rosa
Szabo, Whom He Claimed Was Drowned—Produced Will Claiming She Left $100,000 to Him.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Confident that Rosa Szabo, who met death here while boating with Burton W. Gibson, her attorney, was choked to death and not drowned—as originally reported, District Attorney Rogers of Orange county announced today that he would charge Gibson with murder as soon as he can get witnesses here from New York City.

An autopsy performed on Mrs. Szabo's body here showed that she died of strangulation, and a report to this effect has been made to District Attorney Rogers. Gibson, who produced a will showing that Mrs. Szabo had left her $100,000 estate to him, claimed that she was accidentally drowned.

"Our case against Gibson," said Rogers, "is complete. We have joined the last link."

Guarded by Detectives

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—When Burton W. Gibson, threatened with arrest on a charge of murdering Mrs. Rosa Szabo, a client, arrived at his office here today he was guarded by two detectives who were instructed to keep him from leaving the jurisdiction of the New York courts.

Gibson maintained an attitude of innocence. When informed that he was about to be charged with murder Gibson leaped from his chair.

"It is impossible," he cried. "I will not attempt to leave the building. I will submit to anything an unkind fate may have in store for me. I am prepared and can prove my innocence."

Admits Woman Choked

Gibson contends that a physician, whose name he says he will furnish at the proper time, attempted to rescue Mrs. Szabo. The woman, he declares, grabbed the physician about the neck and the latter had great difficulty in breaking her hold. Gibson says it is possible that Mrs. Szabo was strangled in the struggle, but he believes death was due to drowning.

GRAFT PROBE HURT BY MAYOR GAYNOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Furious over the belligerent attitude assumed by Mayor William J. Gaynor in testifying before the committee of aldermen which is investigating alleged corrupt police conditions brought to light by the Rosenthal murder, the probers decided today to attempt to force Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo to answer the questions which the mayor evaded. At a meeting of the committee it was admitted that the investigation was worse off, so far as material evidence was concerned, than before Gaynor testified.

The democratic members of the aldermanic body, who all along have opposed the investigation, today praised the stand taken by the mayor. The present mayor, they say, is the best New York has had for years. They assert that Mayor Gaynor, who appeared voluntarily as a witness, was not properly treated. The probers from the start, they say, tried to put the mayor on the defensive.

BELMONT'S TRACERY WINS ST. LEGER STAKES

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 11.—August Belmont's Tracery, ridden by Bellhouse, won the St. Leger stakes here today, the last of this year's classics. S. B. Joel's Maiden Erleigh was second, and J. Dugdale's Hector third.

As a social event, the meet was a fiasco, owing, it is said, to King George's late decision not to attend.

HAZEL ERWIN GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 11.—Hazel Erwin, the twenty-year-old girl, charged jointly with Willard Tanner, with the murder of Ray Wallace in their rooms here was today found guilty of manslaughter.

The jury returned the verdict early this morning. The Erwin girl was charged with enticing Wallace to the rooms occupied by herself and Tanner where Tanner is alleged to have struck Wallace on the head with an iron bolt, killing him almost instantly.

12,000 VETERANS MARCH IN PARADE AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 11.—Marching with heads high and shoulders squared, although in many instances the aid of cane or crutch was required, 12,000 blue clad, gray-haired veterans of the war of the rebellion paraded through the streets of Los Angeles today in the annual procession, the principal event of the 1912 national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

For more than three hours the parade moved through the business streets, more than 200,000 spectators cheering from curbs, buildings and reviewing stands. It was long past noon when the last tired company formation disbanded.

WAR DECLARED BY BULGARIA UPON TURKEY

"Grant Self-Government to Macedonia or Fight," is Ultimatum Sent Sultan, Who Replies by Rushing Troops to Frontier to Fight.

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—"Grant self-government to Macedonia or fight," is the ultimatum of Bulgaria to Turkey, according to a special despatch received here today by the Frankfurter Gazette.

As a result of the clash between Bulgarian and Turkish troops along the frontier it is believed here that war between the two countries is inevitable.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 11.—The war office answered today Bulgaria's ultimatum to give self government to Macedonia or fight by rushing troops to the frontier.

Cabinet officers characterized Bulgaria's attitude in Macedonia as "pernicious interference with Turkey's internal affairs."

VIENNA, Sept. 11.—Desperate fighting, marked by many casualties on both sides, is in progress today along the Turko-Bulgarian frontier, according to despatches received here from Constantinople and Sofia.

The trouble started when a force of Bulgarians fired on Turkish soldiers patrolling the border. The Turks returned the fire, five Bulgarians being killed in the exchange. The Bulgarians retreated, and securing reinforcements, returned the attack. The Turkish commander armed peasants and added them to his force.

The battle, which raged all day yesterday, was renewed at dawn today.

WILSON BRANDS REPORT AS FALSE

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 11.—Unqualified denial of reports that Chairman William F. McCombs, of the democratic national committee, would be forced to resign through influence brought to bear by certain financial interests, was made here this afternoon by Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, the democratic nominee for president.

"These reports," Wilson declared, "are absolutely without foundation. I cannot but believe that such false and cruel rumors were founded and spread by malicious sources."

In an open letter to the editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, Wilson declared that McCombs would remain chairman throughout the campaign and would be the supreme dictator of his fight for the presidency.

"Even though Mr. McCombs, is now ill," the letter added, "his counsel is sought just the same."

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The stock market opened irregular. Canadian Pacific was down one, while the metal stocks, Harvester and Union Pacific, were strong. After the opening dealings the market almost halted. Local money conditions had a tightening influence. Call money opened at the highest rate of the present movement and reached 4 1/2 per cent before noon. Sears-Roebuck dropped four points.

MARKET CLOSING DULL AFTER IRREGULAR DAY

WHITE SLAVER FOR ORIENT IS CAPTURED

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 11.—That the disorderly resorts of Yokohama and other Oriental cities are recruited with white girls from Seattle, Portland, Los Angeles, San Francisco and other Pacific coast cities by an extensive system of white slavery was the admission wrung from Arthur Ward, who says he is a Seattle business man, here today following his arrest by government officers.

Ward's confession, federal authorities assert, makes certain the conviction of Bernice Ward, who is alleged to have passed as his wife, who was arrested aboard a Pacific Mail liner several weeks ago with two white girls, Helen Heath and Mabel Kelly, with whom she had started for Japan.

TEDDY'S PATH AT PORTLAND IS BED OF ROSES

Ovation Given Bull Moose at Oregon's Metropolis, Where Busy Day Is Spent, Concluding With Speech at Gypsy Smith Tabernacle.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 11.—Passing in an automobile parade through Portland this afternoon, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt met with a continuous ovation from the thousands that lined the streets along the route. Time and time again he rose in his automobile, his face, a broad grin, and waved his hat in response to cheers.

Colonel Roosevelt was escorted to the Oregon Hotel, where he held what was originally intended for a reception to the state campaign committee of the bull moose organization. The committee reception was soon turned into an old fashioned hand-shaking bee, hundreds meeting the colonel personally.

Throat in Bad Shape
The colonel's throat was in bad shape today, due to the exertion of speaking last night in the open air at Tacoma. On his physician's orders he tried today to take a little rest. Tomorrow's itinerary carries him through La Grande, Huntington, Nampa and Boise, Idaho, for short speeches, and the bull moose wanted to get in the best possible shape.

The City of Roses gave the colonel a royal welcome. He was escorted from the train over a bed of roses—a floral carpet over which he treaded gingerly and regretfully, while admiring the flowers. Up until noon the colonel had short talks with political leaders sandwiched in with rest periods. At noon he lunched with the Ad and Rotary clubs, and in the afternoon waved his greeting to crowds at various city parks, winding up with his big speech of the day at the Gypsy Smith tabernacle. In this address, the colonel outlined his views on the trust question, the recall of judicial decisions, the Panama Canal and women's suffrage.

Old Familiar Greeting
Steve Connell, head of the United States secret service in Oregon, was at the depot to watch for the former president's safety and when the colonel saw his old friend he gave a yell that could be heard about a block away. Running up to Connell, he grabbed him by the hand and thumped him on the back, the crowd shouting its approval of the while. "He's a real old wolf," yelled the colonel, "he's a wolf all the way through."

Roosevelt's admirers were heavily laden with roses and they pressed so many on the colonel that his arms were full as he stepped from the train.

He was hardly able to contain himself when he stepped on the rose carpet. "My, but this is a bully town," he said throwing back his chest and drinking in the sunshine.

BECKER'S TRIAL POSTPONED OVER WHITMAN'S PROTEST

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A sweeping victory for Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, accused of implication in the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal, was gained here this afternoon when Supreme Court Justice Biscoff, acting on the application of Attorney John McIntyre, of counsel for Becker, postponed the trial which was set for tomorrow until October 1.

District Attorney Whitman fought desperately for the trial to go on at the time originally set. But Attorney McIntyre argued that he had witnesses in Hot Springs ready to swear that Sam Schapps, apprehended there, told them that Becker, so far as he knew, had nothing to do with the slaying of Rosenthal. McIntyre's request that a commission be appointed to go to Hot Springs and take the testimony of these witnesses also was granted.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD MAKES MAN MANIAC

SANDUSKY, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Constant reading of the Congressional Record, sent him by Representative Anderson during the past year, has made a maniac of Carl Hessemeyer, according to the latter's statement in court here today.

Hessemeyer declared he got so he heard nothing else, until his mind weakened under the strain.
