They were looking over the country as Mr. Haynes was so well pleased with it that he had serious thoughts of locating among us, and you know that if there is a good place for sale Mr. Huckleberry mountain. Coss knows it. Going a little farther I met one of the old pioneers, John Bryant and Miss Francis Heath. Miss Heath is attending the Medford High school and goes from here every morning on the P. & E. railroad, arriving in Medford about 8:15 a. m. About the first place I went was to the office of the Mail Tribune, to pay my compliments and attend to a little business for the Medford Printing company. Taking the 10:21 train, or rather the motor, I proceeded on my way to Grants Pass to have Dr. M. C. Findley examine my eyes again, and I had hardly taken my seat before A. W. Clemens, formerly of this place and later of Central Point, grasped my hand. He and his wife were on their way to Grants Pass to meet their son, John, who lives about twelve miles from they are doing well. They came up family. to visit their children.
