

LIGHT AND POWER FOR THE APPLIGATE

Superintendent H. C. Stoddard of the California-Oregon Light and Power company announces that the company is preparing to extend its light and power system up the Applegate valley, so that every farmer will have the benefit of electric light. Contracts with farmers are now being made. The extension will be made from Jacksonville via Ruch.

Sufficient contracts have been made with the people of the Fruitdale district to assure the construction of the distributing line into the neighborhood. It is proposed to build the line through Fruitdale and across the divide to Murphy, and thence up the Applegate from that point to connect with the Jacksonville extension. It is proposed to make a campaign in the lower valley for the disposal of power, the company desiring to extend the line that now supplies the Leonard Orchard company on to Wilderville.

ANOTHER CROWDED HOUSE SEE "PAID IN FULL"

An audience that completely filled the Medford opera house last night to witness the performance of Eugene Walter's gripping four-act drama "Paid in Full," called by the Manion Clamen Players "The Coward," paid sincere tribute to the realistic, powerful, convincing acting of C. P. Manion in the role of the despicable, base, cowardly Brooks by rising and hissing and calling for vengeance on the head of the contemptuous scoundrel-husband. A more obvious and emphatic recognition of splendid histrionic endeavor is seldom witnessed, and Mr. Manion well deserved this unique recognition of his uncommon art. Mr. Manion was not Manion, he was Jim Brooks, and in the entire history of stage villainy from Iago down, it would be difficult to find a character as vile as Brooks.

Tonight the Manion Clamen Players play "The Girl of the Hills."

Buy Your Piano of a Home Dealer

WE ARE THE ONLY DIRECT FACTORY TO HOME DISTRIBUTORS OF THE WORLD'S BEST PIANOS AND PLAYER PIANO IN SOUTHERN OREGON AT THE LEAST POSSIBLE EXPENSE TO EACH INDIVIDUAL PURCHASER.

We shun the High City rents and the High salaried help and the expensive city advertising which all the other concerns are forced to meet and by meeting these expenses they are forced to add to the price $85.00 to $100.00, which we save the customer on every piano we sell if you take quality into consideration when you buy that piano.

Pianos are like diamonds, there are good ones and bad ones, but let me tell you, Mr. Piano Buyer, there are more bad ones than good ones. As a rule the method used by the concern doing business represents the quality of goods they sell. We have contest fakers, we have check floaters, we have manufacturers sale conductors. With oil-tongue salesmen.

THEY ALWAYS PLAY THE GAME STRONG

The contest dealers never fail to run a so-called cut price sale in connection with their contests. They run these sales to make it appear that they are offering a further reduction. Sometimes they offer no excuse for running the sale except THEY WANT TO SAVE YOU MONEY.

Sometimes their certificates bear the name of some one piano factory yet they accept them on any other piano on the floor. They will even sometimes tell you that the particular piano they are trying to sell is the same thing (except the name of course) as a $500 world renowned piano; yet this particular piano would cost you less than one-half that price, deliberately giving you more than $250. We want to ask you:

WOULD A BANK GIVE YOU CREDIT FOR $500 IF YOU DEPOSITED $250?

All reliable one-price dealers are informing the piano-buying public of the methods used by contest dealers—not because we like it. We are forced to in justice to those who do not know and ourselves. And if you will investigate thoroughly you will learn even more than we have attempted to tell you.
