

BOURNE RUNS INDEPENDENT FOR SENATE

NOMINATION BY 16,000 VOTERS IS ACCEPTED

Senior Senator Asserts That Call From Twelve Per Cent of Oregon Voters Ought to Meet His Response—'Popular Government' Candidate

More Extended Statement as to Candidacy and Platform to Be Issued Next Week by Candidate.

PORTLAND, Oct. 5.—United States Senator Jonathan Bourne, junior, today accepted an independent nomination for re-election and will go on the official ballot in the November election as a "popular government candidate." Senator Bourne's acceptance of the nomination followed the filing with Secretary of State Olcott at Salem of a petition signed by sixteen thousand Oregon voters urging him to run. The petitions were circulated and all the signatures were obtained within five days.

"Since the people have adopted a constitutional provision," said Senator Bourne today, "permitting eight per cent of the voters to propose a law under the initiative and to demand the referendum upon a measure by petition of five per cent of the voters, I feel that this petition of twelve per cent of the voters of Oregon is a call to which I ought to respond."

Statement Coming Up

The senator promised to make a more extended statement regarding his candidacy and the platform on which he would stand early next week.

Senator Bourne's entering the fight for election to the United States senate was made after he had apparently been eliminated from the senatorial race. He was defeated for the republican nomination in the state primaries some months ago after the most unique campaign ever made by a candidate for a high office. In fact it was no campaign at all.

Before the primaries Senator Bourne astonished Oregon and the nation by announcing that he would make no personal appeal to the voters. He asserted that he stood on his record as a progressive republican and as a competent representative of Oregon in the senate.

Made No Campaign

"The people of Oregon are on trial, not I," said Bourne. "If the voters want me, well and good; if not I shall be satisfied with their verdict at the polls."

Senator Bourne during the campaign preceding the primaries, did not enter Oregon. Consequently he was beaten by Ben Selling, a Portland merchant, though he polled a heavy vote.

Senator Bourne was prominently mentioned at the state convention of the bull moose party recently in connection with the nomination of that party for United States senator.

When the bull moose bailed to nominate Senator Bourne his friends began the circulation of petitions asking him to run on an independent ticket.

VOTE TICKET YOU THINK BEST URGES WILSON

Democratic Nominee Tells Packing House Employes to Support Party "You Think Will Do Best What You Want Done"

Great Rally at Lincoln Tonight When Both Bryan and Wilson Will Address Crowd.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 5.—While passing through the yards at Cedar Rapids the private car of Woodrow Wilson, democratic nominee for president, was struck by a freight car early today and the observation platform wrecked. No one was injured in the collision and Wilson did not awake.

Upon his arrival here Wilson was greeted by Charles Bryan, Senator Hitchcock and Mayor James Dahlman. The democratic nominee delivered six speeches en route.

Talks to Packers

Addressing the workmen at the packing houses here, Wilson said he favored a federal department of labor. "I do not ask you to vote for me," said Wilson, "but to vote for the party you think will do best what you want done. If you vote that way, you vote as Americans and I shall be willing to accept your verdict."

A great democratic rally at which Governor Woodrow Wilson, the democratic candidate for president, and William Jennings Bryan will be the principal speakers will be held at Lincoln tonight. Before leaving for Lincoln, Governor Wilson told the newspapermen that he was more than satisfied with his trip.

Magazine Article Check

Governor Wilson also told of writing a magazine article, discussing the campaign issues. Later, he said, he received a $500 check from the publishers. He returned the check explaining that he could not receive compensation for such an article.

The magazine editor insisted, however, and Wilson finally suggested that the money be given to the democratic national committee. The committee, however, rejected the money on the ground that the publisher is a corporation. The matter was finally arranged by Wilson accepting the check and turning over the money himself to the committee.

TAMPA TERRORIZED BY 8 ASSASSINATIONS

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 5.—Residents here are in a state of terror today as a result of eight assassinations in the past two weeks and twenty-one fires within three days. The police believe the crimes to be the work of a demented negro.

The climax of the reign of crime was reached when Estades Cardoso was shot to death as he sat in front of his store. The police, taunted by letters from a man who boasts of committing the crimes are completely balked in their attempts to effect his capture.

ASIATIC HOOKWORM HOOKED HERE

The hook-worm has arrived! While its existence in Josephine and Douglas counties and throughout the Willamette valley has long been suspected, the first living specimen in Oregon has been corralled in this city. It is an imported animal, however, which accounts for its presence here.

Dr. E. H. Porter and Professor P. J. O'Gara are the two vaqueros who roped and hog-tied the terror of the south. Said terror has been properly labeled, bottled, classified, ossified, pickled and placed upon the shelf.

The hook-worm was discovered a day or two ago when a patient called upon Dr. Porter for treatment. Dr. Porter suspected the hook-worm and called upon Prof. O'Gara for the proper classification, as the professor previously probed hook-worms considerably in the south where John D. Rockefeller poured out his millions to check its ravages. The one now in captivity here came from the Philippine islands and is of the Asiatic variety which differs slightly from its southern friend.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 5.—With a crowd of 75,000 spectators in attendance the grand prix automobile race started here today at 10:10 a.m. The course is in excellent shape for the event which covers a distance of 410 miles.

Barney Oldfield drove the Fiat entry instead of David Bruce-Brown killed here during the Vanderbilt Cup trials.

Drivers Burman, Fontaine, Tetzlaff, Hughes, De Palma, Wishart, Clark, Bergdoll, Bragg, Horan, Anderson and Oldfield started in the order named. Teddy Tetzlaff of Los Angeles, who is one of the favorites in the betting, received an ovation when he appeared on the track.

Aviator Fish, carrying a photographer, flew over the course, the latter taking pictures of the race.

Both Burman and Wishart were forced to withdraw from the race on account of accidents to their machines.

In the thirty-first lap Tetzlaff broke his distance rod and withdrew. He was then leading with an average of seventy-two miles an hour. This put Bragg in the lead with 252 miles in 2:13:40. De Palma was second and Bergdoll third.

In the thirty-second lap Burman relieved Horan.

BEE STINGS RESTORE SIGHT TO BLIND MAN

CHICO, Cal., Oct. 5.—Blind for sometime due to an illness, George Bailey of Placerville, apiarist, is today rejoicing over the recovery of his sight caused by a bee sting.

Bailey was changing a swarm of bees from one hive to another when several of the insects stung him on the face and eyelids. To his amazement he suddenly discovered that he could see again.

Bailey was about to journey to Sacramento to consult an eye specialist when his sight was restored.

To my friends,
Owing to a serious accident which has put my right hand out of commission, I am compelled to ask your indulgence for a few weeks. The accompanying cartoon is a first attempt to make my left hand do what my right hand has been attending to for many years. I hope it will prove intelligible at least.
W. A. Rogers.

W. A. Rogers, the well known cartoonist, whose drawings have been familiar to readers of the New York Herald and its allied papers for years, recently slipped and fell while attempting to board a car in New York and broke his right arm. Rather than disappoint those interested in his present political cartoons Mr. Rogers is endeavoring to continue his work with his left hand. The above drawing is the cartoonist's first attempt. The letter was written by Mr. Rogers in explanation of his left handed efforts.

ANOTHER MYSTERY Baffles CITY

Unless the democrats and republicans send representatives to argue the issue of the day with the Third Termers at the Fair Grounds Tuesday, the Bull Moose is going to toss a bomb that will shatter their parties to splinters. The bomb is in the shape of a letter written by a Medford citizen advising his party managers to keep away from the Roosevelt-Ware racing rally, barbecue, and speech-fest.

This is the awful threat made by Chief Bull Moose A. K. Ware. The enemy must either cough up the admission fee and debate Teddy's heroism or suffer complete annihilation. The Bull Moose has said it, it was in the Sun—it must be so.

And now the question is, who wrote that damning letter? Who was the villain? He must be uncovered ere dire vengeance overtake both old parties, even if old sleuth in the guise of Sherlock Holmes Singler is employed to unravel the mystery that is likely to rank with that surrounding the man who struck Billy Patterson.

It is generally supposed that Doc Keene wrote the letter. But the gen-

REBELS Routed IN NICARAGUA BY AMERICANS

Four Sailors and Marines Killed, Six Wounded and Hundred Nicaraguan Federals Slain in Decisive Battle of Revolution—Rebel Chief Killed.

Loss Means Collapse of War—Number of Rebels Slain Unknown—Southernland in Command.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Four Americans were killed, six wounded and one hundred Nicaraguan federals were killed yesterday in battle with the Nicaraguan rebels near Coyotepe. Nicaraguans, according to telegrams received today by the state department from M. Chamorro, the Nicaraguan foreign minister.

Fought to a standstill by a combined force of Nicaraguan federals and American marines and sailors under Admiral Southernland, the army of General Zeledon, the Nicaraguan rebel chief, was routed and Zeledon himself, wounded, was captured near Masaya, where he died.

The casualties of the rebels in the engagement are unknown and it is also unknown whether the American dead and wounded are marines or sailors.

Zeledon refused Southernland's demand to surrender and entrenched behind a hill near Coyotepe. Then the Americans and the Nicaraguan federals deployed on two sides of the eminence and attacked under a murderous fire.

The Americans fired on the rebels for more than half an hour after which Zeledon's forces, still fighting desperately, evacuated their position and fled with the Americans and Nicaraguan federals in hot pursuit. Many of them were captured but Zeledon himself eluded his pursuers for several hours before he was taken. More than 200 of the Nicaraguan federals were wounded in the engagement.

Zeledon's death leaves the revolution in Nicaragua without a leader and its speedy collapse is expected.

The American minister at Managua today confirmed reports of the battle which lasted thirty-seven minutes but failed to report on the casualties.

President Diaz had offered Zeledon amnesty if he surrendered. The rebel chief refused and the attack on his stronghold followed.
