

NEW YORK WINS HARD FOUGHT GAME FROM BOSTON, SCORE 2 TO 1, DEVORE SAVING DAY

RED SOX LOSE DESPITE RALLY NINTH INNING

Marquard Pitched Game Throughout For Giants Against O'Brien and Bedient—Hits Even and Merkle Makes Only Error of Struggle.

Teams Evenly Matched But Giants Hits Bunched—Red Sox Plays Errorless, Clock-work Game.

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—New York came back with Rube Marquard today and made it even-all, with the Red Sox, taking the third contest of the world's series by a score of 2 to 1.

The Sox, fighting desperately and forced to come from behind, made a sensational ninth inning rally that threatened to pull the game out of the fire when Marquard faltered and the Giant defense threatened to crack. But Cady, who had replaced Carrigan behind the plate, was unequal to the task put up to him in the pinch and when Devore pulled down his long fly the agony was ended and the race was evened up.

Marquard, who had been a question mark in the Giant battery cast of characters, came back with a flash of his early-season 19-in-a-row form and, given a lead of one run in the first innings, held the Sox safe all the way.

O'Brien's Classy Showing Buck O'Brien, who opposed the Giant southpaw, pitched a grade of ball that would have won with lots to spare had he been pitted against the Giants' exhibition of yesterday, but the luck was not with him and the Giants backed Marquard up in a fashion that must have made Mathewson envious.

Bedient made a ninth inning entry after O'Brien had given way to a pinch hitter, and held the Giants safe in the closing stanza.

Receipts are $63,142; the attendance today was 34,624; receipts $63,142.

Of this the National Commission's share is $6,314.20; players' share, $24,096.68. Each club receives $11,365.62.

The total attendance for the three games was 102,593.

That the ninth inning rally did not at least tie up the game was unquestionably due to the fact that the Boston coaches went up in the air at the critical moments.

With Speaker out of the way, Lewis singled and Gardner combed a stinging double down the right field line. Devore and Merkle handled it poorly, while Lewis scored Gardner was held at second, and a moment later was nabbed at third when Stahl rapped a hot rounder to Marquard, who threw to Herzog. Wagner then tapped to Fletcher, who shot one straight and true to Merkle for what should have been the closing out, but the first baseman dropped the toss.

SENATOR J. M. DIXON

Scenes of wild disorder are of common occurrence during the hearings of the Senate committee investigating campaign funds now being held in Washington. Senator Dixon, manager of the present Bull Moose campaign, and Senator Pomerene, a member of the investigation committee have had frequent fits, which at times become so hot that a free for all fight seems imminent. In fact, at one stage of the proceedings, during exchanges between Mr. Pomerene and Mr. Dixon, the latter was invited "outside" by Senator Pomerene, who shouted:—"I don't propose to have you slander the members of this committee without a protest." Senator Dixon testified he had spent $28,000 in the progressive primary campaign, which was not included in the figures of $141,000 presented by the treasurer, E. H. Hooker.

IDEAL WEATHER FOR THIRD GAME FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—At noon the weather was clearing rapidly, and the forecaster predicted ideal conditions for this afternoon's game, the third of the series between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox for the world's baseball championship.

The crowd was slow in arriving. At 1:45 the unreserved and bleacher seats were packed. Many women were in the grand stand and it was apparent that yesterday's attendance would be surpassed.

Tris Speaker was presented with the automobile voted to him as the most valuable player in the American league. He invited Captain Larry Doyle of the Giants to sit beside him, and the two sped around the outfield.

The Red Sox had engaged in twenty minutes practice before the Giants appeared on the field. The National leaguers were warmly applauded as they trotted from the clubhouse.

Despite wild rumors that Joe Wood and Jeff Tesreau might pitch this afternoon, it was generally believed that Stahl and McGraw would stand by their first announcements and that O'Brien and Marquard would be on the mound. The big New Yorker was anxious to start. He said he was twelve pounds heavier than at the closing stages of the National league season and when the opposing batters were hitting him freely, the Giants regard Buck O'Brien as one of the sturdiest flingers Boston has.

Batteries: Boston—O'Brien and Carrigan. New York—Marquard and Meyers. Game started at 2:01 p. m.

WILSON FIRST, ROOSEVELT SECOND, TAFT THIRD IN NEW YORK HERALD'S NATIONAL POLL OF VOTES

The Chicago Record Herald of Sunday, Oct. 5 states as a result of the poll made by it and the New York Herald:

With election day four weeks away the results of the national political poll show that the candidates are maintaining the same relative strength they displayed a week ago—Wilson leading, Roosevelt second, Taft in the rear. The final month of the campaign stretches before them, a period strewn with hazards and pitfalls in every close fought election—the fight might be won and lost a dozen times over in the thirty days between Oct. 6 and Nov. 5.

Wilson Leads in Iowa Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey and Maryland and the solid south.

Illinois, perhaps, will furnish the great surprise to the politicians this morning, when they study the tabulation of the straw vote on presidential and governorship candidates. The test ballots indicate that Roosevelt would carry Illinois by a majority ranging between 30,000 and 200,000 if tomorrow were election day. They indicate that Funk for governor is running much stronger than the wise acres dreamed, and that downstate for the present he is apparently running almost abreast with Governor Deneen, splitting the republican votes so effectively that Dunne would win, if the election Nov. 5 does not overturn the situation as it exists Oct. 6.

Wilson Leader in Minnesota Minnesota furnishes another surprise in the Wilson strength indicated by the test ballots, which give the New Jersey governor a plurality.

Pennsylvania appears stronger for Taft than a week ago, owing to an increasing drift from the progressive party to the republican, but Wilson is holding almost the full democratic strength; Michigan is stronger for Roosevelt even than a week ago while California looks more and more as if it will be Wilson's, the democratic candidate getting an advantage when the state supreme court decided that a set of Taft electors cannot be put on the ballot, which will drive Taft men to Wilson.

South Dakota has entered the category of Chinese puzzles, the question being whether the personal popularity of Roosevelt can prevail against such of the Taft men as will vote for Wilson. Here, as in California, there will not be a set of Taft electors on the ballot. North Dakota is unsettled;

Wilson is locking horns with the bull moose. Here as in Minnesota, Wisconsin and South Dakota, the La Follette element will be the greatest factor in deciding the election.

Gaining in Indiana In Indiana Wilson and Marshall are apparently stronger than a week ago; in Ohio it appears from the test ballots that the democrats might get a majority instead of a plurality if the election were tomorrow.

In New England Taft undoubtedly has gained strength during the week, but at the same time Wilson appears to be holding the full democratic strength, and in some sections is drawing from republicans who fear that Taft has no chance. New Hampshire, which last week was in the balance, is stronger for Taft than a week ago, and if the election were tomorrow the president probably would carry it.

In Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut Taft has gained, but these states still lean strongly toward Wilson.

Washington is stronger than ever for Roosevelt. Iowa seems tending more and more toward Wilson. These are the most prominent changes of the week as indicated by the straw ballots.

OFFICIAL WELL PLEASED WITH VISIT TO LAKE

Clement S. Ucker, Chief Clerk of Interior Department who is in Charge of All National Parks was High Praise for Oregon Wonder.

Says Lake is Well Worth Traveling Thousands of Miles to Gaze Upon—Luncheon is Given.

Crater Lake ranks with the foremost scenic attractions of America according to Clement S. Ucker, chief clerk of the department of the interior under whose personal direction comes all of the national parks, who has just returned from a visit at the lake accompanied by Mrs. Ucker, Chief Clerk Frank Bond of the general land office, W. E. Kelly, chief clerk, under Mr. Ucker's, E. M. Dixon, inspector and Will G. Steel of the Crater Lake company. The party had a most enjoyable trip with the exception of two hours on the incoming trip when a rainstorm overtook them.

"Crater Lake is not overestimated when it is placed among the world's greatest scenic attractions," states Mr. Ucker, "and is indeed wonderful. The roads, while capable of improvement are not bad, and the trip is most enjoyable."

"For three years I have endeavored to work out some systematic plan for caring for the national parks of the nation which has culminated in a bill now before congress creating a bureau of national parks which will make one man responsible for them. In this manner improvement work can be handled far more easily."

"Will G. Steel is the father of Crater Lake and has accomplished wonders. He is very well and favorably known in Washington and the appropriation to improve the park with good roads is due to his efforts more than to any other man."

"When one thinks of what America has to offer in the way of scenic attractions and then of the money spent in going to Europe it makes one wild. Crater Lake is well worth traveling thousands of miles to see. I have a large picture of Crater Lake in my home in Washington which I will enjoy all the more now that I have visited the lake."

The party was entertained at luncheon at the Medford this noon. Local people present were: Mrs. Davidson, president of the Greater Medford club; Mrs. Helen Gale, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Root, Captain A. W. Deane, Judge Colvig, H. C. Garnett, Reginald H. Parsons, and A. S. Rosenbaum.
