

NEW YORK TRIMS BOSTON BY SCORE 5 TO 2

WATERLOO FOR RED SOX IN FIRST INNING

Marquard Pitches Pals to a Romping Cake-Walk Victory—Rube Breaks Boston's Attack at Every Turn After One Rickety Round.

Collins Pitches Wonderful Game But Brilliant Work Goes to Seed—Last Game for New York.

(By Grantland Rice)
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Driven to bay, the Giants led a last rushing, desperate assault against the Red Sox machine today and tore it apart within one round. Marquard pitched his pals to a romping, cakewalk victory by the count of 5 to 2. The rube, as in his first start, broke the Boston attack at every turn and after one rickety round—the second—stopped Stahl's slashing sluggers with a thud.

Tonight the Giants move back to Boston for another game stand, where Jeff Touseau and Joe Wood hook up for their third clash.
Lost in First Inning
The first round today settled the battle. Stahl stuck in Buck O'Brien and the Giants were ready. Knowing they had their backs against the wall, they rushed the Red Sox spitballer, which such savage ferocity that he was on the ropes in a twinkling, when he was slammed for six hits and five runs before Stahl could get another pitcher warmed up and into the fray.

Collins followed O'Brien in the second round, rolling back the Giants' rushes by wonderful pitching—sure and effective, but his brilliant work went to seed. For working on that five run lead, the rube, after a short lapse—through over-confidence—settled to his task and breezed in under wraps. From the second round on he was never in trouble, and sharp, sure support by his mates did the rest.

Assault a Classic
That first assault on O'Brien was a classic. Doyle led with a hit and steal. Then, with two out, Murray singled; Merkle doubled; Herzog doubled; Meyers, singled, and Fletcher dumped a punt which squeezed the Indian over with the fifth run. But this wasn't all, for in the middle of that wild melee and medley, O'Brien balked Doyle home with the first run, and Meyers and Herzog flashed a double steal.

In the second round Marquard erred on Gardner's tap, Stahl singled and Engle's double linked to Devoe's boot cost two runs. But from that period on, the two south-paws worked in matchless fashion

GREAT AMERICAN NAVAL REVIEW AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—With the saluting of guns at 9 o'clock this morning the greatest American naval review opened here, comprising 127 vessels of all types from dreadnaughts to colliers.
Admiral Hugo Osterhaus and staff formally called on Secretary of the Navy Meyer aboard the dispatch boat Dolphin. The squadron commanders followed. Then the members of the house and senate naval committees boarded the Dolphin and participated in the inspection and review.
President Taft, aboard the yacht Mayflower, waited outside the harbor to participate in the review.
The Dolphin started seaward past the lines of seafighters with their crews "dressing ship."
Admiral Osterhaus and the division commanders, accompanied by their staffs, called upon the president, who afterward returned the call and inspected the fleet.

BECKER PAID $1000 TO GANG SAYS WEBBER

"You Boys Have Rosenthal Croaked" is Statement Alleged to Have Been Made by Police Lieutenant Who Paid for Crime.

Meetings of Gang Detailed—Webber Praised for Good Work Accused Lieutenant of Police.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Full corroboration of the story told Saturday by "Bald Jack" Rose that Police Lieutenant Charles Becker wanted Gambler Herman Rosenthal "killed, dynamited or croaked" was given today by "Bridgey" Webber when the trial of Becker on a charge of having instigated the murder of Rosenthal was resumed.

"If the man Rosenthal," Webber swore Becker said to him, "ever sees Whitman it's all off. Why don't you boys have him croaked? I'll take care of you fellows after the job is done."

Becker Urged Haste
Webber, who is alleged to have been in charge of the gangsters who killed Rosenthal, testified that he told Becker he would "pull off" the job in a few days. But Becker, he said, kept after him to hurry up.

Webber then described the meeting of the gunmen on July 15, when arrangements were completed for slaying Rosenthal.

The witness testified that he met Becker, Harry Vallon, Rose and Sam Schepps just a short time before Rosenthal was killed that he located Rosenthal at the Hotel Metropole on the night of the murder; that he told the gunmen, who left immediately for the scene; The witness said he went to the Metropole at 2:10 o'clock in the morning and saw Rosenthal's body lying on the sidewalk.

Did a Good Job
At 5 o'clock that morning, Webber said, he met Becker and Rose. Becker, he said, was smiling, and said to him, after shaking hands: "Well Bridgey, you did a good job, don't worry. I told you I would see you through. The only thing necessary now is for you boys to lay low a few days."

Then Webber swore, Rose gave him $1,000 to distribute among the gunmen.
John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for Becker cross examined Webber, attempting to show that he was a user of morphine and opium.

POSSES CLOSE IN TO BATTLE WITH ESCAPED FELONS

RAWLINS, Wyo., Oct. 14.—Posses sent from Rawlins, Saratoga and Walcott today are concentrating in the hills south of here for a determined rush on the eleven convicts still at large, following jailbreaks at the state penitentiary here Saturday and Sunday.

Of the eight convicts who escaped Sunday, five have been recaptured. J. Gilmore, burglar, was found asleep in a manger at daylight. He surrendered without a struggle. The three men who escaped Sunday are still at large. They are Joe Richardson, murderer; Hans Buckstrum, burglar, and James Burke, murderer. These men are desperate, heavily armed and it is certain they will not submit to capture without bloodshed.

Antonio Paseo, a life term murderer, who led Sunday's jailbreak, was shot dead in his tracks.
The first break occurred late Saturday, when twenty convicts, led by "Butch" Dalton, bandit and member of the notorious Whitney gang, overpowered the keeper of the cell house, took his keys and released their comrades. Every prisoner willing to risk a battle with the guards made a dash for the gates. A fusillade of shots inside the walls followed and a bedlam of shouts echoed from the prison. The guards were overpowered and a few seconds later nearly a score of men dashed down the main street of Rawlins, armed with guns and knives. Holding residents of the town at bay, the refugees charged into a livery barn and hastily threw bridles and saddles over horses and rushed for the woods. Twelve of the convicts were captured later.

WIFE ACCUSES HUSBAND OF TRYING TO HANG HER

ELMER, N. J., Oct. 4.—Because his wife charges that he lured her to a barn on their farm for the purpose of hanging her Fred Simpson, a farmer near here, is held today by the Salem county authorities.

84 AUSTRALIAN MINERS BURIED IN BURNING MINE

HOBART, Tasmania, Oct. 15.—Little hope is held out for the eighty-four miners still entombed in the North Mount Level mine here, following the taking out today of five more dead bodies. This brings the number of bodies recovered up to six.

The rescuers battled their way through smoke and flames, and all attempts to reach the victims failed until a diving gear was pressed into service. This served as a protection from the terrific heat and after a violent struggle five bodies were finally brought to surface. Although air is being pumped down the 700 foot shaft, where the entombed men lie, little hope of rescuing any of them alive is now entertained.

Weak, tottering and exhausted, seventy-six men who were working at the 700 foot level, succeeded in reaching the surface, battling their way through the smoke that, time and again, threatened to suffocate them. One died on reaching the surface.

SECOND VENIRE TO TRY JOSEPH ETTORE

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 14.—The trial of Joseph Ettore, Arturo Giovannitti and Antonio Caruso, charged with the murder of Anna Lopizzo, a woman striker, killed in a street gathering of Lawrence textile workers last winter was resumed here today. A second venire of 350, from which a jury is to be chosen, was on hand. The talesmen were questioned by Justice Quinn.

MONTHLY EXPENSES IRON WORKERS UNION $1000 IN 1910

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 14.—The average monthly expenditure of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers of 1910 was $1,000, according to the testimony today of Mrs. H. A. Hull of Omaha, former stenographer of John J. McNamara, former secretary of the organization, now serving a fifteen year sentence in San Quentin prison, California. Mrs. Hull was the first witness called at today's session of the trial of the 47 union men charged with illegally transporting dynamite.

United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller alleged that most of this money was expended for dynamiting. Mrs. Hull testified, however, that the checks were supposedly drawn for an "organizing fund." She also identified union books and numerous checks, mostly for $1,000 each, which John McNamara had cashed. No record of these checks, she said, was shown in the union books.

MRS. WOODCOCK DEAD; ORIGINAL COW MOOSE

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 14.—Mrs. Mary Woodcock, original lady bull moose proponent in the state of Oregon is dead at an advanced age. For years past Mrs. Woodcock had marched at the head of all parades in this city bearing a banner on which Roosevelt's picture was placed and she always received a big reception. She first became famous when, armed with a revolver, she attempted to draw $1,000 she had on deposit with the Title Trust and Guarantee bank after the institution failed. It was her custom frequently to sit in the gallery of the city council chamber and throw flowers to the aldermen.

ROOSEVELT AT ADULLAM'S CAVE SAYS SENATOR

Teddy Not at Armageddon—Chamberlain Discusses the President That Is, the President That Was, and the President That Is to Be.

Declares Roosevelt Is Man on Horseback Eager to Plunge Country into War With Mexico.

Declaring that Colonel Roosevelt should have substituted the cave of Adullam instead of the field of Armageddon, Senator George E. Chamberlain addressed a crowded house on campaign issues at the Natatorium Saturday evening. The quotation referred to reads as follows: I Samuel xxii 1-2: David therefore departed thence, and escaped to the cave of Adullam; and when his brethren and all his father's house heard it, they went down thither to him. And every one that was in distress, and every one that was in debt, and every one that was discontented, gathered themselves unto him; and he became a captain over them; and there were with him about four hundred men.

For Equal Suffrage
It was the senator's first speech of the present campaign and he took as his subject the three presidential candidates, Taft, Roosevelt and Wilson. He prefaced his remarks with an appeal to the men of Oregon to vote for equal suffrage and give the ballot to their equals, the women, whose unerring instinct was always on the side of right and morality. He declared that the assistance and cooperation of the women were essential in the fight for better government.

Taft was described as a most agreeable personality, but one with a judicial instead of an executive or administrative mind. He said that the late Senator Dooliver's characterization was most appropriate: "An amiable body, surrounded by those who knew exactly what they wanted." The judicial temperament is to calmly consider the evidence and decide upon its preponderance, and as the only evidence heard by Mr. Taft, was presented by Messrs. Aldrich, Cannon, Smoot and other representatives of the interests, and no one representing the people was tolerated, of course Taft's decision was always in favor of those who knew what they wanted.

Taft a Failure
Taft, he declared, had not made good. Not a single promise of the republican platform of 1908 had been made good through him, and he had not originated one bit of progressive legislation—hence had lost out with

PROSECUTOR EDDY FAINTS ON ARREST

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 14.—When City Prosecutor Guy Eddy, charged with contributing to the delinquency of Mrs. Alma Jones, entered Judge Wilbur's courtroom for further preliminary hearing, he was served with a warrant on a new charge—that of contributing to the delinquency of Mrs. Alma Jones, a nineteen year old octoroon. The moral censors wife was at his side when the sensational charge was made.

Eddy was completely overcome by this new turn of affairs. He read the warrant and fell to the floor in a dead faint. He was carried into Judge Wilbur's chambers and recovered consciousness. Owing to Eddy's condition, no testimony was taken today, both cases being set for tomorrow morning, when the Phelps charge will be further aired.
Mrs. Jones swore that Eddy had made indecent proposals to her on several occasions during September.

PAGE SECURES FRANCHISE; TO BUILD AT ONCE

Work on New Theatre to Start Within 10 Days and Be Completed Ready for Opening February 1—Will Cost Approximately $30,000.

Will Arrive From Portland This Afternoon With Architect—Friday's Fire Precipitated Matters.

Medford will have a new modern fire-proof theatre ready for opening February 1. Work is to start in 10 days and the structure will cost approximately $30,000. It will stand on East Main street opposite the Sparta building. The builder will be Dr. F. C. Page.

The report Saturday that Dr. Page would erect a modern playhouse in Medford, was qualified by Dr. Page who stated that the entire matter rested upon his ability to secure a 10 year franchise, or contract, with the Northwest Theatrical association which handles the majority of attractions in this section. For this purpose Dr. Page left for Portland Saturday evening when he met a representative of John Cort.

Today Dr. Page wired that he had secured the contract and had agreed to have the new building ready for opening by February 1, if weather conditions did not interfere. The Page will arrive from Portland this afternoon accompanied by an architect who will immediately plan the building. Then work will be rushed.

Dr. Page stated Saturday that he had come up from Los Angeles some time ago to study the situation and erect a theatre if the people of Medford would stand behind him. The burning of the opera house Friday precipitated matters.
The new building will be fire-proof throughout and will seat 1200 people. The stage will be large enough to handle all of the larger companies on the road. Every modern device will be used in heating and lighting the building, while the seats will be chosen with an eye to comfort only.

WILSON'S FIGHT FOR PRESIDENCY COST $208,183

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—That he personally paid the expenses of Woodrow Wilson's presidential campaign for the first two months of the New Jersey governor's candidacy was the testimony before the senate investigating committee by William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee.

McCombs testified that his personal pocket suffered to the extent of $10,000. He gave the total contributions to Wilson's fund as $193,565, including $11,000 from himself; F. C. Penfield, Philadelphia, gave $12,000; Charles R. Crane, Chicago, $10,000; Cleveland Dodge and other Princeton friends $85,000; Samuel Undermyer $7,000; A. I. Elkins $12,500, and Henry Morgenthau $20,000.

McCombs submitted the account of Wilson's entire expenses, aggregating $208,183, and showing a deficit of unpaid bills of $14,617.
The Dodge fund for Wilson included contributions from Cyrus McCormick of $12,500; Thomas and David Jones $10,500 each, Edward Sheldon $1,000, and Cleveland Dodge $51,300.

McCombs said:
"Once I was personally in debt for between $30,000 and $40,000. Again, after the Illinois campaign, I was in debt again. Dodge helped me out. Dodge, McCormick and the Jones brothers are friends and classmates of Governor Wilson. There is not one dollar in that statement which reflects a promise, expressed or implied."
