

JOHNSON SOBS WHEN HELD FOR $30,000 BONDS

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The big frame of Jack Johnson, negro heavy-weight champion prize fighter, shook with sobs when he appeared before United States Judge K. M. Landis today to have approved $30,000 bonds furnished for him by his mother in a white slavery case. The negro assumed the attitude of a persecuted man, asserting that his enemies were trying "to undermine his character and bring about his financial ruin."

Johnson's arrest followed the returning of a federal grand jury indictment which charged him with transporting Belle Schreiber, a white woman, from Pittsburg to Chicago for unlawful purposes. The pugilist's eyes filled when the officers put handcuffs on his wrists.

"I am not going to run away," sobbed Jack. "Don't do that. You ought to know better."

"You seem to feel sorry for yourself, don't you?" answered the officer as he locked the bracelets.

Johnson remained in jail several hours before securing his release on bonds. Judge Landis held Miss Lucille Cameron, the nineteen-year-old white girl, with whose abduction Johnson is charged, as a material witness against the fighter. Later Judge Landis refused to accept bonds for her release, fearing she would elope with Johnson.

OBITUARY

Doctor L. P. Black, who was a resident of Medford for the past three years, died in St. Vincent hospital in Portland on October 22nd. He had recently purchased an orchard in Ashland, his family moving there in July. The doctor was stricken with heart disease which caused his death. He was laid to rest in Riverside cemetery in Portland. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Boyd of the First Presbyterian church of that city.

Dr. Black came to Medford three years ago from Fort Worth, Texas. For many years he had been a practicing physician in that state. Here he was in the real estate business. He was an elder in the Presbyterian church of Fort Worth. Soon after coming to Medford he was elected an elder in the Presbyterian church of our city. He resigned that office a few months since. He was an earnest, sincere Christian, a loving husband and father, and a warm-hearted friend. His widow and two daughters will spend the winter in Medford, his two sons having charge of the Ashland property.

A. E. Cox of Ashland, brakeman on the Shasta Limited dropped dead from apoplexy Wednesday evening, Nov. 6, as the train neared Red Bluff. He leaves a wife and three children at Ashland. Funeral Saturday under auspices Ashland lodge H. P. O. Elks.

ROSENTHAL TRIAL IS POSTPONED FOR DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Because it is impossible to finish another case which Justice John W. Goff is hearing today, the trial of the Rosenthal gunmen probably will be postponed until tomorrow.

J. G. VAN DYKE, PIONEER, DEAD

In the death of John Gilmore Van Dyke, which occurred at the family home in this city, on Thursday, November 7, 1912, there is taken from the ranks of early pioneers another of its most energetic, daring, home-loving and home building members. Mr. Van Dyke was aged 76 years, 3 months and 10 days. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. F. Shields officiating.

Mr. Van Dyke crossed the plains in 1852, and fought Indians in the now historic battles in this and Klamath counties. In his life Mr. Van Dyke played an important part in the development of this section of Oregon and came here when but a boy. He lived here for sixty years and was one of the most widely known throughout the state of the old-timers. His dealings with the warlike Indians were both peaceful and warlike, as the occasion demanded. For a number of years he packed between this city and Crescent City. He was one of the founders of the Presbyterian church in Jackson county and a prohibitionist in politics.

When 12 years old he moved with his parents to Iowa, and four years later started for Oregon. Mr. Van Dyke was one of the most lovable of men and had a wide circle of friends in city, county and state.

A wife and seven children survive him. They are: W. S. Van Dyke of Ashland; Sam Van Dyke of Phoenix, Frank Van Dyke of Phoenix, Mrs. Carrie Thompson of Sterling, Colo.; Miss Edith A. Van Dyke of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Ed R. Van Dyke of Portland and Miss Sadie Van Dyke of this city.

LOSES LIFE TRYING TO SAVE JEWELS FROM FIRE

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Nov. 8.—Because she attempted to save her jewels from her burning home three miles from here, Mrs. J. T. Stocker, wife of a San Quentin prison guard, is dead here today. The explosion of an oil stove set fire to the dwelling. Mrs. Stocker rushed into an adjoining room, picked up her two little children and carried them outside. Suddenly she remembered her jewelry and despite the roaring flames, again entered the building.

GERMAN CROWN PRINCE HURT WHEN HORSE FALLS

THE GERMAN CROWN PRINCE & CROWN PRINCESS. FROM THE EUROPEAN EDITION OF THE N. Y. HERALD

The German Crown Prince, Frederick William, has been injured in a hunting accident near Denzig and is confined to his residence suffering from the effects. He was participating in a drag hunt in company with the Crown Princess, Cecilie, when his horse fell and threw him.

When he was picked up he was found to be suffering from injuries to the head, face and the right arm.

KANSAS ELECTS EDITOR GOVERNOR

TOPEKA, Kans., Nov. 8.—The election of Arthur Capper, republican, newspaper publisher, as governor of Kansas, is claimed by a plurality of at least 1,000 by republican leaders here today.

The democrats scoff at this claim, asserting that Hodge has a clear lead of 1500 votes over Capper. It is believed that the official count will be necessary to decide the election.

Wilson's plurality is 15,000 over Roosevelt.

LEM HOOKER WINS BET ON TOU VELLE

As the result of an ill advised bet with Lem Hooker of Applegate, C. M. Ruch of Ruch must wheel two sacks of flour from Grants Pass to Medford in a wheelbarrow. Mr. Hooker also has the privilege of riding if he sees fit on top of the flour.

Mr. Ruch had it figured on that George W. Dunn would be the next county judge. So strong was this belief that he proposed the novel wager. Mr. Hooker called him and now watch for the wheelbarrow, two sacks of flour and the ride.

CORBETT-ANDERSON BOUT GIVES PROMISE OF CLASS

When Manager Frankie Edwards of the Medford Athletic club, matched Freddie Corbett, the clever Chicago lightweight, to box Bud Anderson, the local pride, before his club next Tuesday night, he made no mistake, as it is apparent, judging by the class of men Corbett has met, that he is by far the classiest and most worthy opponent yet to meet Bud Anderson.

Corbett's record throughout the eastern states shows that he has met some of the best boys back there and is a boxer of some note and will make Anderson "steer down" to beat him.

That it takes a mighty good boy to cope with Anderson goes without saying, and any one to underrated Bud or not to concede him a chance to hold his own with the Ritchies, Mandots or Wolgasts surely could not be a student of form or be keeping close tab of the doings in the pugilistic world, for if actual happenings in the ring count for anything, which they certainly go, then Bud must be conceded to have a good chance with the best of them.

Hodge has accomplished a few tricks which the top-notch fighters like Frankie Burns, "One Round Hogan," Willie Ritchie and others failed to do, in his bout with Tommy McFarland Bud scored a comparatively easy victory in less than three rounds, while this same McFarland gave Ritchie and Hogan the battle of their lives to win a decision over him.

SUFFRAGISTS TO GIVE BANQUET

The Suffrage club will dine Saturday evening at the Hotel Medford, to celebrate the suffrage victories, regardless of the result in Oregon. The banquet comes in reply to a request from the national committee, and is one of many throughout the country. Those who have been of special assistance to the cause will be guests of honor and all who are interested are invited. Names may be left at the Hotel Medford.

WEDDING BELLS

At the Lutheran parsonage, two popular young people of Lake creek, Ore., Mr. Herman Meyer, Jr., and Miss Margaret Tyrrell were united in holy wedlock, Rev. C. Wilker, officiating.

Immediately after the ceremony, the young couple, accompanied by the hearty well wishes of their many Medford friends, departed for Lake creek, where in future they will make their home.

FRAIL, SICKLY CHILD

Restored to Health by Vinol—A Letter to Mothers

Anxious mothers often wonder why their children are so pale, thin and nervous and have so little appetite. For the benefit of such mothers in this vicinity we publish the following letter.

J. Edmund Miller, New Haven, Conn., says: "My little daughter ever since her birth had been frail and sickly, and was a constant source of worry. Several months ago we commenced to give her Vinol. I immediately noted an improvement in her health and appearance, and from the good it has done her I can truly say it will do all you claim."

This child's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cods' livers,—combined with the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol.

Vinol will build up and strengthen delicate children, old people, and the weak, run-down and debilitated. We return the money in every case where it fails. Medford Pharmacy.
