WOULD-BE ROMB PLANTERS ARE SOUGHT BY POLICE

NANAIMO, B. C., Dec. 3.-Diligent search is under way by the police here for the would-be "bomb planters," who placed fifty sticks of dynamite under the Trent River bridge, but which failed to explode, owing to the cold weather.

A fifty yard fuse was burned to the cap, but the explosive, being frozen, failed to go off.

It is believed that the attempted dynamiting was to prevent the hauling of coal to Union Bay, the shipping point for Canadian collieries.

Impossible Conditions

This proposal, it is believed here is based upon the desire to demanfrom Servia impossible conditions and the determination, when prompt refusal is received, to proceed to war.

That Russia is by no means averse o a test of strength is indicated in dispatches from Cologne. The Cologn Gazette, which heretofore has scouted the possibility of an European war, says today: "If Austria strikes sail, before Servian stubbornaess her prestige will be so weakqued that her value as an ally of Germany will be greatly lessened. It requires only a word from Russia to bring Servia to terms. The world has awaited that word in vain."

Russia Grows Fruit

It may be of interest for you to know that Russia also grows commerof a peace protocol being signed with cial varieties of fruits. For instance, it grows Anjou, Bartlett, Bose, Flewish Beauty and Winter Nellis pears in the district between the Crimea and Charkow. We also grow the European varieties of apday, despatches say, the Buda Pest plea. Sweet cherries, such as Royal Ann, are also grown. But Russia is that the king of Servia be compelled a very large country and cannot supto appear in full regalia before the ply its own markets. The fancy fruits are put in 40 pound boxes and regrets for the aleged insults to are sold in the wealthy cities of Mos-Counsel Prochaska at Prisrend and cow, St. Petersburg and others. The prices for fancy pears sometimes reach $1.00 a dozen. It would seem to me that the fruits of the Rogue River valley would find ready sale in Russia. Of course, I understand that the cost of shipment is high; but, with the opening of the Panama canal, your fruit could be loaded on ships which would go direct to points on the Baltic Sea.

I am returning to Russia after seeing the entire northwest, and much of the eastern part of the United States. I go with the feeling that the part of the country which most impresses me is the Rogue river valley. When I return, I shall impress it upon my people that the way to grow fruits and have fine or chards is to practice scientific horticulture in the way it is practiced in the Rogue river valley.
