Three out of four easterners who come to the valley write a poem about Roxy Ann. Some are printed in the indulgent press and others are hidden among the family treasures or skeletons as the case may be. Ours has never seen the light of day until this evening.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE BOOSTS.

TN the Chicago Sunday Tribune of November 24, 1912, in a department devoted to the answering of queries appears the following article on Medford and the Rogne River valley. The only error is in regard to the population of Medford, but it will doubtlessly be worth much to the

Where Apple Raising Pays CHICAGO, III. - (Back to the Land Bureau). - Kindly give me any availble information regarding the land in the vicinity of Medford, Ore. N. M. McC.

Medford is a wide awake town of tomorrow with a population of about 6000-well paved streets, parks, beautiful homes, schools and newspapers, and Hes in the Rogue River valley, surrounded by majestic snow capped countains, in the extreme southwestern portion of the state, and at an altiinde of approximately 1500 feet.

Here Nature has showered her choicest bounties, for this valley I known as one of the garden spots of America. Acre upon acre of choice apple and pear trees is under cultivation and the farms clear from $500 to $1500 an acre.

Jackson county, at the south end of the state, has an area of 2000 square miles, one-half of it being covered with productive orchards. The soil is rich, deep, and alluvial, much of it being black vegetable mold. Even the highest ground and mountain slopes are highly productive.

An average mean temperature of 50 degrees is reported, and during the coldest day the mercury never fulls below 20 degrees. The wet season ex-tends from D-cember to April. Spring never begins later than the first of March. There is an abundance of rainfall during the wet months and nor the stomach. It is proable that droughts are unknown. Fruit growers are always certain of an abundant The good roads movement has brought town and country near together.

Every farmer has his daily or tri-weekly mail, besides telephone connection, and many of the residences and barns are electric lighted.

The valley has become famous for its Bartlett pears and apples, especially the Accoups Spitzenbergen and yellow Newtown pippin. Blenhelm apricots and peaches attain a remarkable degree of perfection. Tokay and benefit. concord grapes, English and French walnuts, plums, prunes, and cherries do exceptionally well. Some of the most famous orchards in the world are located in this fertile valley, and first class fruit land can be bought for
