

PEACE CONFERENCE TO END BALKAN WAR POSTPONED AFTER DEADLOCK

ALLIES REJECT TURK'S DEMAND AT CONFERENCE

Permission to Re-victual Adrianople Refused and Peace Meeting Postponed Until After Christmas Holidays.

Envoys as Far as Ever From Agreeing Desire to Consult Home Governments.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—Hope that the meeting of Turkish and Balkan envoys here will result in peace in the Near East got a shock today when conferences to that end hopelessly deadlocked, were abandoned until Saturday.

The impasse came over the demand of the Turkish that they be permitted to re-victual Adrianople before proceeding to a discussion of the terms to end the war. Set as ever against this concession, the Balkan envoys flatly refused to yield. Then came the announcement this evening that the conferences would go over until Saturday on account of the Christmas holidays.

Far From Agreement

This, it is believed is a mere glossing over of the facts, and a subterfuge to conceal the certainty that the envoys are as far as ever from agreement. In fact, it was semi-officially admitted that all the envoys want further time to consult their home governments before taking the final steps which will mean peace or war.

Before resumption of the conferences here today between envoys of Turkey and the Balkan allies, the Turkish delegates stated they would persist in their demand that Turkey be permitted to re-victual Adrianople. It is conceded that a crisis in the negotiations will be reached at the formal meetings this afternoon.

The envoys met officially at four o'clock. Before going into conference it was admitted that a resumption of the war was possible unless one side or the other yielded on the Adrianople matter. Premier Danett officially stated that unless the Turks withdraw their re-victualing demands, the Balkan allies' delegates may recommend a resumption of hostilities.

Turks Disgust Balkans

Before the formal conference today the envoys conferred at their hotels. The Balkan envoys declared they were disgusted with the attitude of the Turks but the latter strenuously denied that they were playing for time and declared their demands were made in good faith.

Lady Hardinge fainted at the shock but was unhurt and soon recovered. At the request of Baron Hardinge the procession continued to Delhi fort, where Sir Guy Douglas Arathur Metwood, finance member of the council of India, held the Durbar.

It was learned later that an unidentified boy in the crowd was struck by fragments of the bomb and killed. Several natives were also injured. Fragments of metal struck Hardinge three times in the back but did not penetrate the flesh.

NEW ENGLAND TRAFFIC CHIEFS ARE INDICTED

Mellen of New Haven and Chamberlain of Grand Trunk Accused of Criminal Restraint of Trade in Making Combine.

Seven Specific Overt Acts Involving Various Steps of Alleged Conspiracy Are Cited.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Indictments charging criminal restraint of trade were returned by the United States grand jury here today against President Mellen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad; President Chamberlain of the Grand Trunk railroad, and Alfred Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk board of directors.

The indictments are the result of an investigation which showed an alleged traffic agreement between the Grand Trunk and the New Haven lines.

Both Mellen and Chamberlain wanted to testify before the grand jury but their requests were denied on the ground that they would gain immunity by so doing.

The indictments review at length trade relations between the New Haven and Grand Trunk lines. It alleges seven specific overt acts, involving the various steps of alleged negotiations between Mellen, Chamberlain and Smithers.

The general counsels for the New Haven and Grand Trunk systems were notified that they must be able to produce Mellen, Chamberlain and Smithers in court either late today or tomorrow to enter the pleas. The government, it was said, is determined to rush their trials.

BOWERS ASKS COUNTY TO PAY COSTS IN MEDFORD BRIDGE CASE

Prominent Citizens and Leading Taxpayers Leave Bowers Holding the Sack in the Injunction Proceedings.

"Attorney Briggs for Benton Bowers requested that the county pay the costs for Mr. Bowers in the Medford bridge case appeal, and offered not to ask a rehearing in the case if the county agreed to the proposal," states County Judge J. R. Nell. "I told him that the county would do nothing of the sort, as far as the old court was concerned, and he would have to deal with the new court. There is no reason why Mr. Bowers should not pay his own costs."

Mr. Briggs then appealed to Judge-elect Tom Velle, who stated that the old court would have to settle old matters as the new court would not consider it.

It is a hard luck story that Mr. Briggs tells of "leading citizens and heavy taxpayers" who aided and abetted Mr. Bowers in bringing the injunction proceedings, promising financial support, and now leaving Bowers to hold the sack and foot the bills himself. One of the wealthiest

DEMURRER IN MEDFORD RATE BILL OVERRULED

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 23.—Federal Judge Wolverton today overruled the demurrer filed by the state railroad commission against the charge of nine railroads doing business in the state to the effect that the Medford rate bill is too intangible to be strictly followed, and the clauses that can be interpreted are altogether too arbitrary.

The state was given until January 6th to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be filed against the bill. A temporary injunction has already been secured.

The verdict was returned Saturday. The case will be appealed.

Young Flaugherly was employed by the electric company as a line-man and was at work on the top of a pole near Jacksonville when he came in contact with a live wire which instantly killed him.

SMASH RAILROAD CONTROL OF ALL PRIVATE CANALS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—That Corporation Commissioner Conant's report will result in an extension of the O'Shaughnessy resolution now before the house urging a congressional probe into the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to include a general investigation of control of waterways is the expectation here today.

The democrats probably demanded legislation tending to remedy present conditions where railroad and steamship combines have destroyed competition. It is asserted that the railroads now control ninety per cent of the private canals of the country.
