Bonded Warehouse Being Erected

That Medford is the natural distributing point for southern Oregon and northern California is further evidenced by the erection of a four story fire proof warehouse building by the Bonded Warehouse company at 12th and Front streets.

Eastern, Portland and San Francisco manufacturers and jobbers have sought responsible facilities which would enable them to ship to Medford in cars and distribute in southern Oregon and northern California and after investigation of a plan which would serve such manufacturers and jobbers Chas. S. Lebo, manager of the Medford Realty and Improvement company, completed the organization of the Bonded Warehouse company.

The officers of the company are Geo. M. Anderson, of the Essaney Film Manufacturing company, of Chicago, president; E. N. Warner, vice president, and Chas. S. Lebo, secretary and manager.

The building is to be of what is known as mill construction, the basement wall of concrete averaging 24 inches and the next three stories of brick from 17 to 12 inches thick. The basement floor will be of concrete and water proof. An electric elevator will be so arranged that it will be possible to back a wagon up to the same, eliminating not alone cost in handling of the merchandise and furniture, but eliminating as far as possible all breakage. No pains or expense have been saved in planning the building and the estimated insurance rate of only 65 cents per hundred on the building shows that the same has been constructed according to the underwriters rules.

Arrangements have been made with a large bonding company to issue a bond covering all merchandise or other goods stored, protecting the public against any loss or damage of whatever description. Burglary insurance will also be carried on the merchandise and thus Medford can hereafter offer to the public warehouse facilities equal to those of any of the large distributing points.

Several salesmen will be employed to handle manufacturers lines in territory tributary to Medford and this undoubtedly will lead to the development of many new enterprises here.

Household furniture will be handled and the company has made arrangements for a warehouse man for this department, who has had experience in handling same, so that the danger from breakage and marring will be reduced to the minimum.

Mrs. T. E. Kinsman is now tearing down the old building next to the city hall and plans to erect thereon a two-story building to cost $10,000.

Parcels Post is Used in Medford

Although the local postoffice was only open from 8 to 10 o'clock today as it is a holiday, it remained open long enough to show that the parcels post law which went into effect today will be well patronized by local people. Six packages were dispatched today. This number is a fair index as to what the business will be on ordinary days.

The local postoffice has been fully equipped for the new service, the special stamps, scales, and the like being on hand.

The Mail Tribune wishes to acknowledge the courtesy of E. D. Weston and Kunselman & Goring for many of the photographs used in this edition, and of the Oregon Journal in furnishing several of the cuts used.

200,000 Bottles of Milk a Year

The Medford Dairy owned and operated by J. W. Snider is doing its utmost to keep the strids with Medford.

Mr. Snider came here eight years ago from Ohio, and has been giving the people of Medford the best milk that good Durham and Jersey cows can give.

He has sixty cows that are well groomed every day. They are all healthy and kept so by the good attention they receive. Swinging stanchions have lately been installed which adds greatly to their comfort.

He has all modern apparatus such as filter, cooler, bottle filler, etc. The utensils are all heated to 170 degrees before using. Sanitary tickets and caps are used thus preventing disease being carried from one home to another. The milk is conveyed to the bottle room and cooled to 52 degrees shortly after being milked. All these have helped Mr. Snider to get the best score of any dairy in the valley.

Three wagons delivered over (200,000) two hundred thousand bottles of milk and cream in 1912. Two deliveries are made daily, delivering milk, cream, skim milk and butter-milk to any part of the city.

Mr. Snider wishes to thank the people for their patronage and says that 1913 will find him doing as he has done in the past, giving to the people the best. He invites the public to visit his dairy located one half mile west of Medford.
