JOLTS AND JINGLES By Ad Brown Most any man you meet these days is a railroad expert.

"If there is anything that makes me disgusted," said one man to me the other day, "it is to see some fellow trying to be funny."

In this case the man wasn't disgusted until he read a jolt that concerned himself.

It is always surprising when a ministerial looking man walks into this office and asks for the returns from a prize fight.

I made six resolutions And have them neatly listed. And if they are not broken I'm sure they're badly twisted.

With some of us singing it in the new year would be starting off with discord.

Woodrow Wilson got the first parcels post package. Before he is through he will be used to having packages handed him.

Somebody sent Pres. Taft a dozen eggs on New Year's day. There is a man whose admiration knows no bounds.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The choir of the Presbyterian church, under the direction of George Andrews, has arranged the following musical program for Sunday evening, January 5, at 7:20: Organ voluntary, Miss Flora Gray. Hymn, congregation, standing.

MUSICAL PROGRAM AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The special musical numbers at the morning service will include the beautiful duet, "Crucifix" (Faure), sung by Miss Florence Hazelrigg and William Yawter.

The O. A. C. experts are wasting their time in Jackson county, where they are not needed, and neglecting eastern Oregon, where expert advice is badly wanted and conditions are serious in orchard districts.

"We have the deadly fire blight scattered all over the valley, and ignorance is so dense that it is impossible to get concerted action, and unless concerted action is obtained our splendid orchards will soon be ruined."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK CHEERFUL

FAVORABLE conditions are in the majority as the new year opens, states Bradstreet's summary of the past year and forecast of the coming twelve months. Easily first in this category are basic crop results, which tend to exert a steadily widening influence as they pass into human and animal consumption.

Conservatism bred of past years of strain has made for cautious buying, and nowhere are burdensome stocks pressing for sale, while activity in trade abroad, with high prices prevailing, precludes dumping of surplus foreign goods coincident with the confidently expected revision of the tariff.

In this connection the firmness of the money market will have, if anything, a favorable effect by tending to limit speculation and to modify what might otherwise tend to be oversanguine reaching out for new fields of endeavor.
