GREAT INTEREST IN VOTE

thing but a disloyal faction."

The most intense interest of the afternoon was displayed when John Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists, and a veteran fighter for home rule, arose to speak for the Asquith measure.

John Redmond Speaks

"The bedrock of the opposition is a slender of the Irish people, not founded on fact," he said. "The quotations cited here by conservatives, from violent nationalist speeches made long ago, are unfair arguments. They are unfair, because those were foolish speeches, made in times of stress, which now have passed forever I thank God."

"The nationalists regard the Ulster men as Irish, not as aliens and we have invited them to assist in the government of their own country."

"I take it for granted that the lords will reject this bill next week, but I am convinced it will become a law within the lifetime of this parliament."

Note is Called For

As the last speaker sat down, Speaker Lovitt rose and in his usual dry manner, put the motion "That the bill be read a third time."

The division bells were rung and members rushed pell mell for the voting lobbies, while the party whips anxiously numbered their flocks. Messengers scurried up and down the corridors in search of stragglers and after the customary six minutes the bells were stopped and the lobby doors closed again. While the four tellers were checking their figures the house filled again to await with the most intense suspense and interest the official announcement of the result.

BOGGS SLATED FOR CITY ATTORNEYSHIP?

Interest which waxed at no time very strong before election is now keen as to who the appointees of the new administration will be. Mayor-elect Elbert has as yet made no announcements and the only line-up obtainable is through the talk of the streets, some of which comes from sources supposed to be close to the throne. It is widely current that Attorney Boggs of the Barnum railroad is slated for the city attorneyship, his name being the latest added to the list. Judge Colvig is also named for the place as is Holbrook Withington. It is understood that Oweny Patton will be the street superintendent and Hittson and Cingcaid both figure as probabilities as chief of police.

MEDFORD MANTLED BY THREE INCHES OF SNOW

Close to three inches of snow fell in Medford and vicinity Thursday and indications are that more snow or rain will follow. The snow was very heavy and sticky and when melted amounted to more than one-sixth water. In the hills the snow is considerably deeper though not so heavy. The slush resulting from the melting snow blocked the street sewers in several parts of the city and the street department was kept busy cleaning out the obstructions and making the crossways passable. A warm wind or decided change for warmer may occasion flood waters.

MONEY TRUST REAL DANGER

he was asked.

"Any excess of power is a menace," Reynolds replied.

"Isn't it a menace in its potentiality?"

"Yes."

Reynolds said he thought banks should not be operated by "voting trustees."

"The concentration of money power in the hands of a few men is natural under our banking laws," the banker added.

"You don't think any body of men should be permitted to kill competition in banking?"

"They should not."

Prohibition of "interlocking directorates" and purchase of stocks by banks would tend to break up money concentration, Reynolds believed.

DR. SMITH WOULD ABOLISH PRIMARIES

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 16.—What's the use of fooling with a primary? It costs a candidate twice as much as if there were just one election, and there are no party lines in Oregon anyhow.

This is the philosophy of Senator J. C. Smith, of Josephine county, who has introduced a bill to abolish the direct primary. His bill repeals every section of the direct primary law.

In the place of direct primary he proposes to substitute a provision for the nomination of candidates either by petition by five per cent of the voters or by filing a certificate of candidacy. There would be only one election, and the candidate receiving the most votes would win.

At the city elections held Tuesday, Gay Thrasher was returned from the first ward, Dr. Malmgren, the only new councilman, was elected in the second ward and Henry Shaffer was returned from the third ward.

Diek Posey, author and impersonator will give an entertainment under the auspices of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Friday evening, Jan. 24, in the auditorium of the high school. Parents are especially invited to bring the children to hear the "Poet of the Rogue." Several of Phoenix's celebrated singers will also appear on the program.

Mr. Hayman has rented the Frank Wilbur property and moved his family here the first of the week. Mr. Hayman recently came from Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crox of Lathrop, Calif., formerly of this place, are rejoicing in the birth of a daughter.
