ORANGEMEN TO FIGHT HOME RULE TO LAST DITCH

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Passed by the house of commons by the usual government majority of 110 votes, the Irish home rule bill today is awaiting its second reading in the house of lords.

The measure was given its first technical reading immediately after the common's vote last night, but on second reading it is expected the peers of the realm will promptly reject the bill, as the government can muster not more than 80 votes in the upper house. Should this occur, as expected, the government plans that the commons will re-pass the measure at the next session, which opens in March.

If, after the lords again reject the bill, the commons will pass it for the third time in 1914, the measure will become law, despite the opposition of the peers.

The prediction that "Ulster will fight" showed signs today of being fulfilled in news from Belfast. Great demonstrations followed the receipt of the news there last night that the commons had passed the home rule bill. Orangemen surrounded the city hall by thousands, burned a copy of the bill and made public speeches to fight its return to the last gasp.

SALEM WAKES UP TO VALUE OF FACTORY

Definite announcement as to whether the Dr. Korenek Stock Food and Remedy company will locate in Medford is expected to be made within a week. The people of Salem, where the plant is now located have learned that Dr. Korenek has been figuring on coming to Medford and have accordingly experienced a change of heart regarding the encouragement of the concern. It is said that Salem capital now offers to buy stock in the company in order to keep the factory there. The representative who has been in Medford for some weeks has met with some success in getting subscriptions for stock and the decision as to whether the company will move here or remain in Salem will soon be made.

POINCARÉ ELECTED PRESIDENT

announced he would withdraw from the race of the republican party should they decide that his retirement would end the deadlock.

Poincaré is still the popular favorite, crowds gathering in Versailles early and filling the air with shouts of "Poincaré."

"The members of the 'Left' party planned another caucus this afternoon, and if they fail to reach an agreement on a candidate, a formal notice to this effect will be issued. This would leave 117 'Lefts' who did not vote yesterday, but who probably will support Poincaré, will give the Premier a decided advantage. But even with the latter votes Poincaré will not have a sufficient number to insure election.

After the first ballot today, Poincaré's supporters predict the socialists will support their candidate, electing him on the second ballot.

The National Assembly met at 2:10 o'clock the balloting starting immediately. Poincaré's supporters predicted their candidate would be elected on the second ballot.

Efforts to confirm a report that former Premier Clemenceau, supporting the candidacy of Alexandre Ribot, had challenged Premier Poincaré to a duel, failed. It was said Poincaré had accepted the challenge on the spot, naming his seconds without a moment's hesitation. The report has caused great excitement here but neither Poincaré nor Clemenceau would discuss the affair.

'BATTLING' NELSON TO BE A SOUL SAVER.

Oscar Matthew Battling Nelson, onetime champion lightweight, but still the undisputed title holder of the typewriter division of the publicity league when it comes to dashing off masterpieces concerning B. Nelson, is going to turn evangelist.

The Battler reached this decision after hearing "Billy" Sunday turn Columbus upside down and back again and, in the vernacular, "kneel 'em off their seats." The Hegewisch-like exponent was amazed. He admitted that Sunday certainly made a fellow react every mean thing he ever did, adding that it made one long lingering impression on him and henceforth be intended sticking to the straight and narrow.

It is the intention of Nelson to join Sunday in a tour of the East, and he expects to tell those who attend the revivals of his experiences in and out of the ring during his career as a fighter.

At Medford the snow has melted almost as fast as it has fallen, though the surrounding hills are mantled in white.

NO TURKEY TROT AT INAUGURAL BALL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—In case an inaugural ball is held in spite of President-Elect Wilson's objections, the Turkey Trot, Grizzly Bear and other "rags" will positively be barred.

Vice Chairman Hamilton of the inaugural committee issued a statement to this effect, when before the house public buildings committee today.
