BULGARIA ENDS PEACE EFFORTS TO RENEW WAR

Premier Danef Empowered to End Negotiations, Calls Everything Off—Bulgarians Deceived as to Conditions at Adrianople.

Turkey Offers to Cede One-Half of Adrianople But Offer is Not Accepted.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Despatches from the Premier of Bulgaria to Dr. Danef, that country's chief envoy here in the Turkish negotiations, empowered Danef to end all negotiations at his own discretion. The despatches declared that Bulgaria is prepared to resume the war immediately Danef says negotiations are ended. While no definite statement is forthcoming it is hinted by the Bulgarians that they have been grossly deceived regarding conditions at Adrianople. It is stated that supposed refugees who fled the city declaring conditions were awful were in reality spies sent out by the Turks to deceive the besieging army of the allies.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Offering to cede half of Adrianople to the Balkan allies while retaining that half of the city comprising the Moslem section, and asking for a resumption of the peace conference here, is the text of an unconfirmed report received from Constantinople here today.

Premier Danef admitted he had heard the rumor.

Diplomats here were pleased today with the developments of the Balkan negotiations, and the impression is growing that Turkey will at the last moment agree to the demands of her foes, rather than again submit to the arbitration negotiations.

News agency despatches from Constantinople today declare that a representative of the Balkan allies has delivered an ultimatum to the Porte, saying that the armistice in force will be terminated within 14 days unless a peace agreement is reached.

BLOODY RIOTING MARKS STRIKE OF GARMENT WORKERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Bloody rioting marked today's developments in the garment workers' strike here. Strikers were badly hurt, scores suffered minor bruises and a dozen men were arrested.

Trouble started when strikers clashed with strikebreakers at the entrance to a Spring street factory. Three guards and five strikebreakers were roughly handled when they attempted to enter the shop, and a free for all fight followed.

Police reserves rushed to the scene charged with drawn clubs when more than 1000 strikers showed fight. The manufacturers are inflaming the strikers to violence by attempting to break the strike with outsiders.

More than 25,000 waist and dress makers, it is reported, returned to work today.

LEGISLATORS IN WYOMINGENJOY REAL FIST FIGHT

Factional Differences Over Election of Successor to Senator Warren Results in Rough and Tumble Scrimmage.

Confusion So Great That House Is Forced to Adjourn Until Afternoon—Clash Is Over Contested Seat.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 20.—Factional differences over the election of a successor to United States Senator Warren today led to a first fight on the floor of the house of representatives here between Speaker Pratt and Speaker Pro tem Wood. They came to blows when Pratt called Representative Hunter, a republican, to the chair instead of Speaker pro tem Wood. Trouble broke when today's session opened. The democrats introduced a resolution at the outset which provided that a special committee be named to pass on the merits of three republican representatives whose seats are contested by the democrats. If the republicans are unseated it would give the democrats control of the legislature on joint ballot and enable them to name Warren's successor.

The resolution was tabled, Pratt insisting he was authorized by law to name the committee and did so, appointing three republicans, three democrats and himself. This gave the republicans control of the committee. The democrats objected to this procedure and re-introduced the resolution. Pratt declared they were out of order, and the democrats appealed from his decision. The speaker then called Representative Hunter to the chair, maintaining that no one could be called but him.

Wood insisted on taking the chair. Pratt picked Wood up bodily and hurled him at the wall. Wood rushed back, and the two were battling hammer and tongs when they were separated.

Thereafter both Pratt and Wood insisted on presiding and the confusion was so great that after 30 minutes argument both sides agreed to adjourn until this afternoon.

TO SHOW DETERMINATION NOT TO WORK UNTIL DEMANDS ARE GRANTED NINETEEN GIRL "MARTYRS" LEAD 60,000 GARMENT STRIKERS THROUGH STREETS

STRIKING GARMENT WORKERS AT UNION SQUARE MASS MEETING AFTER BIG PARADE.

Sixty thousand striking garment workers, led by nineteen young women who were just released from jail after serving a sentence of three days, marched defiantly through the lower east side of New York city to show their employers that they were as firm as ever in their demands and their determination not to return to work until they were granted. Fearing a disturbance two police inspectors, several captains and two hundred uniformed police men and many detectives marched with the strikers through more than three miles of east side streets to Union square, where a meeting was held. Here the strikers proclaimed their fight for better wages and improved sanitary conditions in the workshops. Fifteen hundred women, singing and waving banners, led the army of strikers, and six bands supplied the music.

The nineteen young women who served a prison sentence in Brooklyn for doing picket duty were the heroines of the day. They carried a banner telling of their martyrdom. The sight of this inscription brought forth wild cheering.

ARCHBALD ORDER IS OVERRULED BY SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The U. S. supreme court handed down a decision today holding unjustifiable the revocation of an important order of the interstate commerce commission by a decision of the commerce court which nullified a reduction in rates ordered on the Louisville and Nashville railway between New Orleans and Mobile.

Judge Archbald wrote the commerce court decision, which was overruled today. The interstate commerce commission in its order held that the rates which had been raised had been in effect 20 years and were fully compensatory. The commerce court enjoined the enforcement of this order.

Justice Lamar wrote the supreme court decision which today overruled the commerce court.

After rendering this decision the supreme court adjourned without deciding down any other important decisions.

CARSON CITY, Nev., Jan. 20.—"Down with divorce colonies and finish prizefighting." This was the statement of Governor Oddie in his annual message to the legislature.

The Washoe county delegation, which includes Reno, was hit hard. They had high hopes of defeating new divorce legislation if the governor kept out of the fight.

Although Nevada has been the scene of no big pugilistic contest since the Johnson-Jeffries fight at Reno July 4, 1910, Governor Oddie wants the law permitting finish contests repealed.

BRITISH WOMEN TO LEARN VOTING FATE ON FRIDAY

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Thirteen million British women, on next Friday, will learn whether or not they will be enfranchised, when the measure carrying the suffrage clause comes up in the Commons for division.

With the members of the cabinet equally divided, the house membership is also split. It is reported that 295 of the membership have been recorded as favoring the suffrage clause; that 220 are against it, and that the votes of 150 are in doubt. Two days' debate will precede the vote, on which hangs the outcome of the long and bitter warfare waged for the ballot by the suffragettes.

Announcement was made today that a section of the suffrage supporters, opposed to window smashing and mial destruction, are to turn to prayer as an aid to their cause. Lena Ashwell, an actress, and Lady Henry Sherrey, as leaders of the non-militant suffragettes, plan to pray five minutes every noon that Providence may interpose in behalf of "Votes for Women."

SOCIALIST PLEADS FOR ELIMINATION OF WASTE

OLYMPIA, Wn., Jan. 20.—"Elimination of waste," is the hobby of Representative W. H. Kinery, lone socialist member of the legislature here, and he practices what he preaches, for since he has not wasted a minute of his own time or the legislature's time since it opened. Kinery has listened to all arguments, read all bills, and voted on every measure or resolution according to his own convictions, but he hasn't made a speech. "What's the use of wasting the time," said he. "It costs $3 a minute to run this legislature and as we can't hope to get any socialistic legislation passed, I won't talk until I have something to say that is worth that much money."

AMERICAN TOBACCO GOES UP SEVEN POINTS

SECOND TRIAL OF DARROW FOR BRIBERY BEGINS

Attorney for McNamara for Second Time Within Year Faces Los Angeles Court—Securing of Jury Is Most Difficult Task.

Loyal Wife Sits by Side of Defendant Who Is Confident of Acquittal in Bain Case.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—In a gloomy court room hung with heavy curtains and oil paintings of dead jurists of the Los Angeles county superior court bench, Clarence Darrow, labor lawyer and attorney for the McNamara brothers, went to trial today for the second time within a year on a bribery charge growing out of the McNamara trial.

It was quickly seen that the task of procuring a jury would be as difficult as on the occasion of Darrow's first trial. Of a venire of 150 (ablemen, half a hundred were quickly excused. Almost every man called apparently had a valid reason to be excused from duty. Many who were subpoenaed to appear failed to respond to their names and court officers were sent to search for them.

Loyal Wife With Him
Loyal throughout her husband's fight for honor and liberty, Mrs. Darrow appeared early in the courtroom and took a seat at her husband's side. Throughout the procedure she talked confidently with him, occasionally patting him on the sleeve with her gloved hand.

Darrow himself appeared confident and almost carefree, in direct contrast to his first appearance in court on the occasion of his former trial.

The specific charge against the veteran labor attorney was the bribery of Robert F. Bain, a juror in the McNamara case. It was one of two contained in indictments following the McNamara trial. The other the bribery of George Lockwood, Darrow was acquitted upon.

Resume of Case
The present indictment against Darrow charges the bribery of Robert F. Bain, the first juror accepted in the trial of J. B. McNamara for the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, Oct. 1, 1910. McNamara pleaded guilty with his brother John J. McNamara and was given a life sentence for that crime. The state alleges that the McNamaras' plea of guilty was brought about by the defense attorneys because of the alleged bribes becoming known.

There have been many delays in the second trial of Darrow and for a long time it was believed by many that on account of his acquittal of

$2,000,000 FOR FEDERAL BUILDING AT WORLD'S FAIR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Uncle Sam's appropriation of $2,000,000 for a government exhibit at the San Francisco exposition, as provided in the Rotenberg bill, Pacific coast congressmen say here today, will go through the house without opposition. This prediction is based on the unanimous approval of the measure by the sub-committee of the house committee on industrial arts and exhibitions.

The full committee will receive the sub-committee's report tomorrow and while there may be some discussion on certain clauses of the bill it is unanimously agreed that its main features, including a commission of seven, will favorably be reported to the house.

The bill provides that the building to be constructed on the seaside in San Francisco must be permanent, insuring big additions to Uncle Sam's reservations there.
