ELECTROCUTION CHAIR COST IS BAR TO BILL SALEM, Jan. 30.—Speaker McArthur's bill providing for the substitution of an electric chair for the gallows, was up for discussion in the senate today for a few minutes but was referred to a committee to furnish data as to the probable cost of making the change. While McArthur has stated the cost would be only about $2500 this is understood to cover merely the price of a first-class electrocution chair, without reckoning the cost of installation, which might reach $15,000. In view of the agitation for abolishing the death penalty, which might make junk of an electric chair within a year or two, considerable opposition has appeared to such a large expenditure. GENERAL MRS. DRUMMOND DEFIES BRITISH LAWS LONDON, Jan. 30.—Defiance of British laws, its officials and police, was voiced by "General Mrs. Drummond," militant suffrage leader, when released this afternoon after having served a 30 day sentence, of which she served only a part, for disturbing the peace. An unknown sympathizer paid the $25 fine imposed by the magistrate. "I am far from being through with fighting," Mrs. Drummond told the police. "It is now war to the knife. There is all kinds of trouble ahead." ENABLING ACT PROPOSED TO BUILD JOINT BRIDGE SALEM, Ore., Jan. 30.—An enabling act, to give the state of Oregon authority to contract with other states for the building of interstate bridges, designed especially to make possible the co-operation of Oregon with Washington in the building of the Columbia river bridge at Vancouver was introduced in the house today by Representative Loftgren. This bill was introduced because it had been found that at present the state has no legal authority to cooperate with another state in such action. CRAWFORD POINTS NEED OF NEW LEGISLATION SALEM, Ore., Jan. 30.—Attorney General Crawford today sent a long communication to the legislature pointing out the need of legislation to assist the legal department of the state in dealing with purchases of competing transportation and telephone lines. He said there is little hope of accomplishing much under present laws in protecting the public against such acts, and closed by suggesting that an adequate anti-trust law would be the most effective means. SEA BREAKING OVER THE BOW OF STEAMSHIP CRUSHES TWO OF THE NOORDAM'S LIEBOATS

CRUSHED LIFE BOATS ON BOARD OF THE NOORDAM The power of the sea to destroy was visible on the forward deck of the Noordam, of the Holland-America line, when she reached New York, in the form of two of her lifeboats, which three days after she left Rotterdam were ruined by a great sea which broke over the steamship's bows. Like all the steamships which have arrived in New York over the North Atlantic lane within the last month, the Noordam encountered weather heavier than any ever met before in her career as a transatlantic steamship. There had been no such seas in the North Atlantic in twenty years as those reported recently. The boats which were ruined are beyond the powers of sea carpenters to repair, according to her commander.

WITNESSES TESTIFY TO LONG HOURS OF WORK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A special house committee heard several witnesses on the Peter's bill limiting the hours of service for women employed in Washington. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, the first witness strongly advocated the Peter's bill and all other measures making shorter hours for women. Miss Maud Younger, of San Francisco, prominent as a leader in the garment workers' strike in New York, declared several California laundry girls fainted with joy when the eight hour law for women passed in California.

WANTS STATE TO REFUND TAXES TO RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—A form of bill for consideration by the legislative assembly of Oregon has been forwarded to J. H. Upton, member of the lower house at Salem, at his request, by Congressman Lafferty, for the protection of the public in the litigation to compel the Oregon and California Railroad company to forfeit or to sell its grant lands to settlers at $2.50 per acre. This bill provides that all taxes paid by the company on these lands shall be refunded by the state in case the lands are finally declared forfeited to the United States. If the assembly does not adopt the measure it may be taken up on initiative petition. Congressman Lafferty has for several years been interested in trying to compel the railroad to sell its granted lands at $2.50, as prescribed in the government grant. As the company will urge in court that it has paid "a large sum"—18 cents per acre up to the date of filing of the present suit—in taxes, the state law proposed by Lafferty would remove that defense.

LOBBYING TO BE BARRED AT SALEM IF LAW PASSES

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 30.—The gentle pastime of lobbying will become a lost art if a bill introduced in the house by Representative Schuebel goes through. The bill proposes that any person who comes to the legislature to lobby must register his name and business with the secretary of state, and all lobbying must be done before committees. A heavy penalty is provided for violation of this proposed law.

LOSES $60,000 AND THEN BLOWS HIS BRAINS OUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—Losing $30,000 in a few minutes in a number of ill-starred ventures in San Francisco, Walter J. Tonkin, aged 55, blew out his brains today in the Casa Loma Apartments here. Tonkin came here from Virginia City, Nev. His daughter Celia Tonkin was with him a few moments before he ended his life. Meritol White Liniment. BUYS HORSES TO HAUL LIMITED

PORTLAND, Jan. 30.—John M. Scott, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, has been obliged within the past two or three days to cancel orders for between 50 and 60 heavy draft horses which he had no use for. The horses were ordered delivered to Mr. Scott by Jacob Arent, a "resident" of Salem, who told the owners of the steeds that Mr. Scott wanted them to pull the Shasta Limited through the snow banks between Ashland and Dunsuir. Arent ordered the horses from a dozen or more farmers in the vicinity of Shelburne and offered the owners fabulous prices for them. Finally when Sheriff Bodine, of Linn county, ran across Arent, it was discovered that he had escaped from the Salem Insane asylum a few days ago while the 300 inmates were being taken on board the special train to be taken to the new Eastern Oregon asylum at Pendleton. Arent disappeared in the darkness before dawn and liked it overland to Shelburne, where he began buying horses right hand and left. Mr. Scott said this morning that he had no use for the animals and that he never heard of Arent, who has been returned to the asylum at Salem. It has taken a bunch of telegrams to stop the delivery of the horses at the Southern Pacific freight offices.
