CLUB NOTES

The regular monthly meeting of the Greater Medford Club was held in the club rooms at the library Monday afternoon, February 24th.
 A communication from the city recorder was read, together with a copy of Mayor Eifert's policy requesting the Greater Medford Club to appoint a representative to sit on the mayor's advisory board and it was thought advisable to have a committee from the club confer with the mayor and ascertain just what the duties of such a representative and such a board would be. Accordingly Mrs. Charles Scheffelin, Mrs. E. B. Pickel and Mrs. E. H. French were appointed by the chair.

The ladies then took up the matter of having Mr. Howard Evans, Weed here early in March for the purpose of giving two lectures on landscape gardening with a view to awakening civic pride. Mr. Weed is a noted lecturer and it was decided to have him for two lectures, "Plants, Trees and Flowers," and "A More Beautiful Medford." These lectures will be illustrated by stereopticon views, many of them showing the "before and after" effects. It is to be hoped that these lectures will be received with enthusiasm and that all Medford will turn out to hear Mr. Weed.

It was also decided at this meeting that the club join the General Federation of Women's Clubs; this brings all clubs closer to the national federation and there are many benefits to be derived.

It was decided that the club place a bulletin board at the entrance to the library for the benefit of those using the building, and Mrs. John Hoot and Mrs. F. W. Hollis were appointed to look after this matter.

Dr. Deane, desiring to get the assistance of the club in working for the new armory then addressed the meeting. He was given close attention and said in part: "I have been constantly connected with the national guard for thirty-two years and in that time have had the handling and drilling of many young men, not only for military purposes but in school and church work, and I find that military drill and exercise, both for boys and girls, is very beneficial in many ways. The armory will be available for Y. M. C. A. purposes, gymnasium work, etc. It will have a thoroughly equipped gymnasium, shower baths, exercise rooms, training track and a large drill room which can be opened for the use of all school children under their instructors, at all hours of the day."

The next card party will be given at the Medford Hotel Monday afternoon, March 10th, with the following committee in charge: Mrs. J. A. Perl, chairman; Mrs. John Orth, Mrs. O. E. Osborne, Mrs. Florence Halliday-Haight, Miss Ivy Isenberger, Mrs. Mable Evans, Mrs. J. A. Perry, Mrs. G. L. Porter, Mrs. M. M. Putnam, Mrs. Ed Pottinger, Mrs. C. W. Palm, Mrs. E. B. Pickel, Mrs. O. J. Patton, Mrs. M. Purdin and Mrs. H. E. Porter.

This closed the business meeting and the program of the afternoon was in charge of the Home Economics department.

Miss Mabel Mears, instructor in the Domestic Art Department of the high school read an excellent paper on the scope of the subject of home economics. She suggested that the first division of the subject, the production had passed almost entirely out of the home and all the attention was given to consumption, putting into the hands of the housewives the expending of a very large amount of money. The outline of the instruction given the girls in the schools was very interesting to the ladies.

Since obtaining the right of citizenship a great many women have been at a loss as to what to do with it. A woman is not content simply to mark a ballot and deposit it in the box designated at the polls.

She wants to know why as well as how. To make an intelligent citizen she must be informed on the laws governing her country and how they are or should be enforced.

She must know the duties of the officers and what powers they have. What rights and privileges she as a citizen has, and what her duties and responsibilities are.

The Greater Medford Club, on the alert to meet the needs of her members along various educational lines, has established a department for the study of civics, government and parliamentary law. This department met last Tuesday in the auditorium of the library. A short parliamentary drill was followed by the history of Medford given by Mrs. Helen Gale. Then followed the lesson on the city charter.

The next meeting will be next Tuesday afternoon, March 4th, at the same place. After this meetings will be every two weeks. Parliamentary drill will be made an especial feature of this department as organization and federation are becoming more and more necessary among women every day.

The study of municipal government will be followed by county and state government, study of state legislature, state institutions, asylums, schools, etc.

All the women of Medford are invited and urged to attend and take part in these meetings.
 Our program for next Tuesday will begin at 2:30, and will consist of parliamentary drill, a talk on initiative and referendum by Mr. B. F. Mulkey, and lesson on city government.

GENERAL CLUB NEWS

In the president's address at the last meeting of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, she recommended that the opening of the Panama Canal be made a basis of the study and work of all the clubs of the federation this year. Further, that as a part of the law-making body which must legislate on these and other conditions, that some time be given in every club to the study of civil government; and that prior to elections special consideration be given to initiative and referendum measures. A study of the almost two score on our last ballot would have revealed the fact that there was not one but affected, more or less, the home, directly or indirectly.

Mrs. Evans quotes from William Hard's valuable book, "The Women of Tomorrow." "One cannot study sanitation, fresh air, pure food, adequate housing, the care of children, the protection of the family from disease, the maintenance of a proper environment and the regime of health and efficiency, without instantly perceiving the closeness of the relationship between the life of the individual and the life of the community."

Mr. Hard reviews the attempts of the modern woman to improve conditions and says: "I am thinking now of the millions of women who, after all their home duties are done still have some time they could give for a more livable world life."

The women of Spokane have organized a "Buying at Home" league which is having the encouragement and support of the public. At a recent dinner the entire menu was made up of articles grown or manufactured inside the boundaries of the state.

Ada Wallace Unruh gave three very interesting and helpful talks while in Medford. Wednesday afternoon it was along the department work of our W. C. T. U.; Thursday afternoon she talked on the prevalent question of the hour, "Social Hygiene." She also talked to the high school girls about the creative system and said it would only be a few years until sexual hygiene would be taught in the schools. The lecture in the M. E. church Wednesday evening was the strongest of the kind we have had in Medford. Out of 1166 measures that were before the legislature this year 40 were moral questions, 39 more than was ever before the legislature. She gave all the praise to our God-fearing governor, Oswald West. We are more than glad that the bill for the industrial school for girls passed, but sorry we could not get the same if not more appropriation for our girls as the farmers did for their pigs and sheep and cows. But of course there is no money in girls redeemed. The W. C. T. U. have taken up the study of civil government and are educating their women on how to use the ballot intelligently.

Miss Van Epps of Clinton, Iowa, a visiting guest of Mrs. Behling, was guest of honor at a bridge luncheon given Monday afternoon by Mrs. Behling at her home on Mistletoe street. The five-course luncheon, served at one o'clock, was followed by three tables of lily auction bridge. Place cards and score cards were in the shape of hatchets. Flags also were used in table decoration. Miss Van Epps leaves next week for California to visit in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Those enjoying Mrs. Behling's hospitality Monday afternoon were Misses Van Epps, Merrick, Kentner, Thomas, Emerick, Watt, Le Hough, Dahl, Hutchison, Mrs. Ralph Bardwell and Doctor Cameron of Ashland.

WEEK IN SOCIETY

A surprise star party was given by Mrs. Allison V. Jordep for Mr. Jordan Sunday evening at their home on West Eleventh street, guests arriving for six o'clock dinner, with a social evening following. The dinner table was tastefully arranged with violets, asparagus ferns and yellow candelabra, favors and place cards being of humorous nature. Miss Lorraine Bliton assisted the hostess. Guests present included Messrs. C. Y. Tengwall, Rutherford Kerr, Frank Farrell, Donald Rader, A. E. Swarthout, A. V. Jordan.

A linen shower was given for Mrs. Mammie Moore Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Alfred Jerome on North Orange street. Mrs. Jerome being assisted by Miss Pickens and Miss Charlotte Banks. After a pleasant social evening, the gifts were presented to Mrs. Moore and refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served. Bouquets of daffodils were arranged about the rooms.

The engagement of Mrs. Moore to Mr. Basil Gregory was informally announced recently. Other guests of Wednesday evening included Misses Josephine Gregory, Lorraine Bliton, Frankie Offutt, Mabel Jones, Jennie Hansen, Jessie Olson and Mrs. Ari Burgess.

An enjoyable afternoon was spent by the Golden Link bible class of the Baptist church Tuesday, at the home of the teacher, Mrs. C. B. Young, on North Holly street. Guessing contests will rally to the cause and help raise the needed funds for their pledges.

The Sunset Club of the West Foot-hill drive was entertained at the home of Mrs. R. Manning Thursday afternoon. Every member but one being present, showing the great interest and enthusiasm of women in this part of the valley. The club was organized last year, and a course of study mapped, which has been carefully carried out. The principal object to the club is the study of woman through the modern drama, the social problems of the day, politics and social intercourse.

The officers of the present year are: Mrs. Jas. Herring, president; Mrs. R. Manning, vice president; Mrs. Florence Goffe, secretary and treasurer.

The meetings are held twice each month at the homes of members, a light lunch being served at one o'clock, leaving the afternoon free for study and discussion. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Herring. Subject: One of Bernard Shaw's plays will be read and discussed. The present membership consists of the following women: Mesdames R. L. Wilson, Alan Brackinreed, J. W. MacClatchie, J. L. Tracy, A. E. Stratton, R. Manning, D. J. Stone, L. W. Zimmer, A. Hopkin, Kirby Miller, George Rebec, Frank Tidate, J. F. Root, Florence Goffe, Jas. Herring.

Members of the Pan-Hellenic Association enjoyed an informal social afternoon at the home of Miss Ruth Merrick last Saturday. The only business feature was a lecture, "First Aid to the Injured," by Miss Carlin.

The members of the socialists' local met Wednesday evening at Smith's Hall, enjoying cards and dancing. Mr. E. C. Root was heard in a violin solo. Mrs. Satchwell and Mrs. Cotterill constituted the committee.

A subscription dance was given last evening in the small Natatorium hall which was enjoyed by a large number.

Mrs. F. E. Merick entertained a few friends informally at her home Thursday evening.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. J. W. MacClatchie entertained Mr. and Mrs. L. Tracy for lunch at the Hotel Holland previous to their departure for Minneapolis to make their home. They expect to return to Medford in the fall during the fruit picking season.

Mrs. R. L. Wilson of Rancho El Nido entertained Mrs. J. W. MacClatchie for the week-end.

Mrs. Florence Goffe of Mona-Linda ranch entertained Mrs. Alan Brackinreed for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Tyler Smith arrived in Medford the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barneburg have returned from two weeks' visit at Cove ranch, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kellogg. The ranch is situated twelve miles above Ashland.

Mrs. Jack Neff returned on Wednesday of this week from Portland where she has been visiting for two months.

Miss Mammie Moore leaves soon to visit a sister in the northern part of the state.

Mrs. O. P. Ellis left this morning for Corvallis to join Mr. Ellis who has been in that city for several weeks.

Friends of Mrs. J. A. Westerlund, who left for Chicago, Illinois about six weeks ago, will be glad to learn of her recovery of health and also of the pleasant time she is enjoying. Mrs. Westerlund is at present at Orion, Illinois, where she recently attended the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Westerlund, parents of Mr. J. A. Westerlund.

FUTURE EVENTS

The marriage of Miss Zela White of Medford and Berkeley to Mr. Ivor Foley of San Francisco will take place the fifteenth of this month. The wedding, which will be a quiet home affair, will be witnessed by immediate relatives and friends only. The couple will reside in Berkeley after a honeymoon through southern California. Miss White is being entertained to a great extent, having many friends in social and musical circles of the bay cities.

The Washington and Roosevelt Circles of the Parent-Teachers' Association will hold a joint meeting March fourteenth at the high school. The afternoon's topic will be "Stories and Story Telling," with Misses Robertson, city librarian, and Miss De Vore, primary teacher, as leaders.

The fourteenth of this month Mrs. Vawter entertains the club members with a character party.

REST ROOM

The women's rest room has been well appreciated the past week, and its popularity will increase as the women of the valley realize the comfort and freedom of the rooms. The liberal donations from the patrons testify to their enjoyment of the accommodations.

MUSIC

Not a few Medford people are watching the boards of the new Tivoli theatre in San Francisco which will be opened soon with an entrancing array of productions, a number from our city and vicinity planning to be present for the opening week. The following extracts from the San Francisco Examiner should be of interest not only to that city, but to the state, and in fact the entire Pacific coast, as it surely bespeaks the advancement of culture and the desire for the best in musical art. The article states in part:

"A theatrical event of importance to San Francisco and by all odds the biggest thing in the musical history of this city since the fire, will be the opening of the new Tivoli Opera house two weeks from next Wednesday night, March 12.

"The dedication of this temple of music will be made by the finest traveling organization in America, the Chicago Grand Opera company, which comes to this city in special trains carrying three hundred people and the complete production of twenty operas.

"Andreas Dippel, associative administrative manager of the Metropolitan opera house, who was elected to conduct the Chicago organization from the east as the base of operation, found it would take his entire time, and accepted the position of general manager of the Chicago Opera company, with headquarters at the Auditorium at Chicago.

"The list of operas selected for the engagement at the Tivoli comprises "Thais" and "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame," by Massenet; "Natoma," by Joseph D. Redding and Victor Herbert; "The Jewels of the Madonna" and "The Secret of Suzanne," by Wolf-Ferrari; Wagner's "Die Walkure" and "Tristan and Isolde;" "Louise," by Charpentier; "Carmen," "Noel," by d'Erlanger; "Crispino e la Comare," by Rizz; "A Lover's Quarrel," by Parelli; Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel;" "Lucia" and "Pagliacci."

"In addition to Louisa Tetrazzini, who will be assisted by Aristodemi Giorgini, a wonderful young Italian tenor, there will be many other noted European artists, while the number of native singers is another matter for congratulation: Mary Garden, Clarence Whitehill, Caroline White, George Hamlin, Eleonora de Cisneros, Henri Scott, Jane Osborne-Hannah, Frank Preisch, Minnie Saltzman-Stevens, Helen Stanley, Marie Cavan, Helen Warrum, Margaret Keyes, Minnie Egner, and two California artists, Edna Darch and Mabel Riegelman, may be named in this artistic roster. There are thirty-seven principals in all, including eleven sopranos, five mezzo-sopranos, eight tenors, nine baritones and four basses."

The musicale department of the Greater Medford Club will hold its second meeting in the Club room at the public library on Monday afternoon, March 3 at 3:30 p. m. when a very delightful and interesting program will be presented, which is in charge of Mrs. George Andrews. The object of the club is to bring all music-loving people of our community together for the study and beneficial enjoyment of our great artists and composers, their lives and works, that we may enjoy the ever-widening musical atmosphere in churches, schools and home. In a short time a definite course of study for at least a year will be planned and decided upon and the committees in charge of the different programs will have ample time to study up their subjects and as great interest is being shown, we hope for much benefit for our next year's work. The program for Monday afternoon will be as follows:

Owing to the sickness of a number of pupils there will be no recital at the Medford Conservatory this week. The next regular recital will be as usual, the first Saturday in April.

HOME ECONOMICS

At the regular meeting of the Home Economics Department on Wednesday the members studied the kitchen, including the modern furnishings and equipment. Special attention was called to the importance of the one-piece sink and back, the hood over the cooking stove, the proper working height of table and sink, shorter methods in dish washing and the advantage of aluminum over all other ware for utensils. All forms of cooking were presented with emphasis on the practicability of the fireless cooker.

The following ladies assisted in carrying out a very interesting program: Mrs. McClatchie, Mrs. French, Mrs. Mundy and Mrs. Scheffelin.

One of the hardware stores loaned for exhibition purposes a number of pieces of aluminum and a casseroles. The California-Oregon Electric company went to a great deal of trouble to set up an electric range, properly connected so that it could be used in demonstrating. Mr. Stoddard explained the superiority of this method of cooking over all the others, and answered many questions the ladies were anxious to ask in regard to expense, etc., of cooking with electricity. At the close of the meeting Mrs. J. G. Wilson served the ladies with delicious brown bread steamed in her fireless cooker and gave them a demonstration in the use of the fireless cooker.

The Home Economic Department has a large membership list and promises to be an important factor in arousing a desire for a better equipment for the profession of home-making.
