STAND BUILT FOR PRESIDENT'S PARTY AT INAUGURAL PARADE

COURT OF HONOR WHERE NEW PRESIDENT WILL REVIEW INAUGURAL PARADE

The above photograph shows the Court of Honor in Washington, D. C., where President Woodrow Wilson will review the inaugural parade on March 4.

Unique in the history of inaugurations was the "Court of Honor," erected for the new president's own review of the parade in front of the White House. Home life of Presidents Washington and Jefferson were drawn upon to weave a reproduction of the colonial mansions at Mount Vernon and Monticello, Va., for presidential grandstands. With a miniature forest of 50-foot pine and fir trees as a background, the two stands were the central figures of a long esplanade, banked by lights and festoons of shrubbery.

The presidential stand, seating 1300 "select" guests, was a replica of Jefferson's homestead. Four mammoth white columns of stucco were surmounted by a cupola, in which 140 newspaper men sat directly above the president's family. Across the street was the stand fashioned like the Mount Vernon "shrine," every one of its 6,570 seats filled—at $5 per seat. This "Court of Honor" was the show place of the parade. The Royal Box—Through thick plate glass, sheltered from the weather and warmed by electric stoves, President Wilson and his immediate party viewed the parade. A glass "box," just seven feet square, in the center of the presidential grandstand was fixed up cozy and snug for the new president. It was carpeted thickly with oriental rugs and decorated with ferns and flowers. An electric stove, supplied with current tapped from conduits in the street beneath, furnished heat and also warmed a "quick lunch" for the president.

Lillian Lorraine Hollis, who died in poverty in New York and was cremated, was well known to the early residents of Jacksonville, being an actress who occasionally visited that town professionally. She was identified as the daughter of Laura D. Fair, who in November, 1870, killed Judge A. P. Crittenden on a ferry-boat while he was en route from San Francisco to Oakland to meet his family, because he refused to acknowledge the paternity of Lorraine, who afterward gained fame as the "most beautiful woman on the Pacific coast."

With several important matters to discuss the city council will meet in regular session at the city hall tonight. Appointments will probably be considered again tonight.

Warren, Ind.—"I was bothered terribly with female weakness. I had pains and was not regular, my head ached all the time, I had bearing down pains and my back hurt me the biggest part of the time, I was dizzy and had weak feelings when I would stoop over, it hurt me to walk any distance and I felt blue and discouraged."

Another Case. Esmond, R. I.—"I write to tell you how much good your medicine has done me and to let other women know that there is help for them. I suffered with irregular and felt blue and depressed all the time. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and commenced to gain in a short time and I am a well woman today. I am on my feet from early morning until late at night running a boarding house and do all my own work. I hope that many suffering women will try your medicine. It makes happier wives and mothers."—Mrs. ANNA HANSEN, Esmond, Rhode Island.

Consumption. Anyone interested in the treatment of Consumption should get one of the booklets telling of recoveries by the use of Eckman's Alternative. Coughs, Bronchitis, Colds and Pneumonia may be the beginning of more serious troubles—Eckman's Alternative is the effective remedy. Read Mr. Kanaly's statement:—

"Gentlemen: For five or six years I was troubled with cough and expectoration. I also had a high fever. My case was declared Consumption by my physician. I was given Cod Liver Oil, Croscote and other medicines, all without benefit. At Christmas time, 1906, I was not expected to live. Calling Dr. R. H. McCarty, he advised the use of Eckman's Alternative, which I took with excellent results, and was entirely cured. I have gained in weight. I go out in all weathers and have had no cough or cold what-ever. I give these facts to encourage others to use Eckman's Alternative."—(Signed) JAS. W. KANALY, Esmond, Rhode Island.

ASHLAND MAY ENJOIN ROAD LEVY

Claiming that the Ashland charter exempts that city from paying a general county road tax, Attorneys Burns and Moore called upon County Judge Tou Velle today for a conference and following it stated that they would probably institute suit to enjoin the county from collecting the tax.

County Judge Tou Velle stated that he was of the opinion, and been so advised by attorneys, that the charter provision exempting Ashland from such a tax is unconstitutional. The case will probably be fought through the courts.

Mrs. Edmund Burke has been in Medford on a short visit.

SPRAY NOTICE

In accordance with the Horticultural regulations of the State of Oregon, and by order of the District Commissioner of the Third Horticultural District of Oregon, you are hereby notified that all fruit trees, vines and shrubs must be sprayed with the lime-sulphur spray of 4.5 degrees Beaume (1.030 Specific Gravity) test, such spray to be applied as directed by the inspector for this district. All spraying must be done on or before April 7th, 1913. All fruit trees, vines and shrubs found unsprayed will be sprayed at the expense of the owner of said property, providing such fruit trees, vines and shrubs are found to be infested with any pest whatever, at any time after the expiration of the date given in this notice. In accordance with the Horticultural law, the owner, agent or lessee, in charge of said property shall be required to fulfill the obligations set forth in this notice.

Arrangements have been made with Messrs. P. W. Watson and H. D. Powell, who have a power spraying outfit, to do the spraying within the city limits of Medford and such other properties adjacent to it. Those who are not prepared to do their own spraying will make arrangements with these gentlemen who are doing the work under the immediate direction of this office. A card addressed to them at Medford will receive prompt attention. P. J. O'GARA, Deputy Commissioner for Jackson Co. J. W. MYERS, Chief Inspector for Jackson Co. March 4, 1913.
