SUFFRAGISTS REMOVED FROM STREETS IN LONDON

LONDON, March 4.—Following the ejection of several noisy suffragettes from the hall, John Burns, president of the local government, had all the women removed to the street before he would start his speech.

JOLTS AND JINGLES By Ad Brown

A feller in Washington, D. C., wants $2,000 because Admiral Dewey's dog bit him. Doubtless there are others who would pay almost that much for the honor.

If young Rockefeller could effectively apply his sermons to his own family we could bear with him with more patience.

When the bunch comes home from Salem the facts must all be noted that here and there and everywhere the whole gang's been misquoted.

If I had an auto and it wouldn't go I would curse and swear at it? Oh, no, no, no. I'd paint it and patch it and wash it up clean. And then find a sneaker to buy the machine.

You, who are still skeptical about there being something in a name, are asked to note that the Greater Medford Club has invited a Mr. Weed to talk about gardening.

De way, de way, de way, de way, To Sleepyville, Is down noddin' valley En up drowsy hill, Till you come to quiet pond Where everything is still—Den, afore you know it, You are safe in Sleepyville.

Oh Joy! She's Down.

President Wilson's induction to office was put in the shade today by an event of far greater national importance—the removal of that old Cuthbert sign, so long an eyesore to the community. The building at Central and Sixth looks like a new one, the whole street feels the effect of the rejuvenation and each and every citizen of Medford goes about his work feeling better for the change that has come for the better. It has been a long and bitter fight with the hosts of reform boldly arrayed against the army of inaction. But the sign came down and the man who took it down, whoever he may be, is deserving two niches in the hall of fame. In the meantime the money subscribed to the removal fund is still in the treasury. Any suggestions?

WILSON'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

EVERYONE should read Woodrow Wilson's inaugural address. It is brief and to the point. Different from any inaugural address hitherto delivered, it will rank as a classic and among the really great speeches of the day. Woodrow Wilson, in his every utterance since election, rings true. There seems to be every prospect that the man and the hour have come together, and that the problems of this transitory age are to be solved by the master, who better than anyone else, understands them. The selection of Bryan as secretary of state is a pledge of a progressive administration. It is assurance that the democracy of the nation, for the first time in half a century, will rule the nation and remake it. Sincerity and a sober realization of the crisis he confronts is breather in Wilson's inaugural. He leads a divided party of divergent ideas that will scatter with the spoils. But he will build up a party of humanity upon ideals so high that it will vouchsafe a new birth of freedom for the nation.

BOURNE AGAIN MAKES GOOD.

SENATOR BOURNE is entitled to the gratitude and appreciation of everyone in southern Oregon for his efforts in behalf of Crater Lake. Occupying a position of strategic importance in passing upon appropriations, he has twice been able to force large appropriations for the park through a house of representatives openly hostile to the park and its improvement, with the result that $75,000 more was voted by congress and the policy of improving the park fastened so firmly upon the government that future appropriations would follow as needed.

Oregon's representatives cut a sorry figure in the house and were unable to get decent consideration for the proposed appropriation. Congressman Lafferty endangered the future of the park by his fool boast that Oregon was willing to take the park off the government's hands, a proposal that hampered the Oregon senators in their efforts to secure the money and necessitated many telegrams of denial from Oregon. Once again Senator Bourne has made good—this time as his last official act, and it is with keen regret that southern Oregon witnesses the expiration of the term of the man who has done so much to put Crater Lake park upon the map. Taft's veto, also his last act, nullifies all the senator's work and it is now up to Senators Chamberlain and Lane to carry out the program so well begun by Senator Bourne—and there is every reason to believe that with two such friends of Crater Lake at the helm, the park will not suffer.

OWEN REPLIES TO BAILEY DEFENDING OREGON SYSTEM

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Denouncing the conservative faction in the constitutional convention of 1787 as the reactionaries in joint conclave at Philadelphia, embezzerers of power for the good of the people, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, early this morning answered the attack of former Senator Bailey, of Texas, upon the initiative and referendum, as delivered in the senate chamber on Jan. 2. Senator Owens gave 27 reasons for his charge that the original constitution was un-democratic and designed to enshrine the people of liberties. He gave 24 reasons why direct legislation as it is in operation in Oklahoma, Oregon and California was "in harmony with, and makes more effective the principles of the sovereignty of the people upon which this republic was founded." To Bailey's assertion that the people cannot be depended upon to vote on initiative, or referendum measures, the Oklahoman replied with statistics showing a vote of from 60 percent to 100 percent by the people of various western states. Then he declared that Bailey himself had voted only eighteen times in the last 187 formal roll calls in the senate previous to his retirement last month. "President Taft six years ago, traveled 1,000 miles to make a speech against the initiative and referendum in the proposed constitution of Oklahoma, pointing out the dangers that would accrue from such hasty, irrational and immediate legislation, etc. The people of Oklahoma, having considered well the views of Mr. Taft, voted in favor of the initiative and referendum by 107,000 majority, substantially only the negroes, the republican office holders and the votes they could influence against it."

CHANGES TRIFLING IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 4.—Changes were trifling in the stock exchange today but trading was fairly active. Bear pressure on Can was resumed and that stock fell two points. New Haven stocks sold down to 123 1-4, the lowest in twenty-five years. A rally featured the mid-session but prices sagged thereafter. The leaders held fairly firm. Reading being the only issue to react. The market closed lowest of the day. Bonds were steady.

NOTICE ISSUED TO START SPRAYING

Notice has been issued to the orchardists of the valley to start their spring spraying at once and have it completed by April 7. If an owner of trees neglects to do this the county fruit inspectors will have it done and the work charged to the property. The spraying must be done with a lime sulphur spray of 4.5 degrees Baume (1.939 specific gravity) test.

PAVING TO START EARLY IN APRIL

According to Robert W. Telfer of the Clark & Henry Construction company the work of paving West Eleventh street and the Bear creek bridge will start early in April, the company making arrangements now to move a plant here soon to handle the work.

GRANTS PASS LOSES TO POWER COMPANY

PORTLAND, Or., March 4.—United States Judge Bean has today sustained the injunction of the California & Oregon Power company against the City of Grants Pass to prevent the enforcement of an ordinance which restricted a schedule of rates submitted by the power company to the state railroad commission, Justice Bean held that the city council did have the right to interfere with the ruling of the state railroad commission when it has fixed rates under the utilities act.

BOY IS KILLED BY KICK FROM FATHER

SOUTH VANCOUVER, March 4.—Dead as the result of a kick alleged to have been given by his father, the body of Stanley Crowley, aged 15, lies in the undertaking parlors of Messrs. Hamilton Bros., Fraser avenue, today, and Jeremiah Crowley, the boy's father, is in the custody of the South Vancouver police awaiting the coroner's inquest, which will be held tomorrow.

75,000 WATCH WILSON

administered the oath Wilson began his inaugural address. The crowd gathered around the capitol was estimated at 75,000 and hundreds of others swarmed the roofs of the capitol library and adjacent buildings. Moving picture photographers got reams of films.

STOMACH MISERY JUST VANISHES.

No Indigestion, Gas or Sourness After Taking Pape's Diapiesin. If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache—this is indigestion.

PARADE MOST PRETENTIOUS

to a great educator, President Wilson. Thousands of college men, alumni of practically every great university, and college of the country, were in line. Four Great Divisions. The parade was composed of four "grand" divisions. First was the army and navy, with nearly 7,000 men; second, the state militia, with about 12,000 men; third, war veterans, and fourth, civic organizations. Every state and almost every large city of the nation sent its quota to swell the stream of splendor.

GOLD DUST does more than clean

Gold Dust sterilizes and leaves your kitchen things sanitarly safe. The ordinary soap-washed utensil is not fit to eat from, because soap does not cleanse as thoroughly as it should—does not kill germs of decay which are bound to lurk in oft-used utensils.

Gold Dust does most of the cleaning without your assistance, and does it, too, in a quicker and more thorough manner than will soap or other cleansers.

Gold Dust makes pot and pan spick and span.
