FLAMES DESTROY THRONE ROOMING HOUSE, ASHLAND

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the two story Throne cleaning establishment at Ashland Monday night. Had it not been for the fact that there was an inch of snow on the nearby buildings it is thought the fire would have gained dangerous headway. As it was the flames mounted high in the air and attracted attention from all over the countryside. The Throne rooming house was owned by Henry L. White, who carried but $500 insurance. A Mrs. Mahan had been running the place as restaurant and rooming house and her loss in fixtures is quite heavy. The smaller building, in the rear of which the fire is believed to have started, belonged to E. L. Hackett and was occupied by M. D. Wilson. Quantities of gasoline and benzine stored there are supposed to have given the fire added headway. The Van Sant rooming house, next door, several times was ablaze and was slightly damaged by water. The blaze was discovered at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening.

At noon the rescuers finished their exploration in the ruins at Idelwild and started clearing away the debris of an adjoining structure. It will require several weeks to complete the search for bodies.

HAZZARD LOSES SECOND PATIENT

SEATTLE, Wn., March 25.—A coroner's inquest is being held here today to investigate the death of Mrs. Ida J. Anderson of Stanwood, Wn., who, according to her husband, H. C. Anderson, died from starvation while under the treatment of Dr. Linda B. Hazzard, the fast cure specialist.

WARRANTS OUT SEATTLE FRAUDS

SEATTLE, Wn., March 25.—Warrants are out today for five election officials who are charged with wholesale frauds in the recent municipal election, especially with reference to the count on "proposition T" which was a "proposed partnership agreement" between the city and the Seattle, Renton and Southern Pacific Railway company. Those accused are Paul Redalob, A. A. Graves, A. B. G. Curtis, G. Lund and H. Williams. The election officials in this precinct are charged with having voted persons from vacant lots and houses, persons non-registered, and on top of that, deliberately miscounted the votes of qualified citizens. Proposition A was favored by the traction company and the precinct showed a vote of 101 to five in its favor, every voter apparently expressing himself on the issue.
