BOGG'S IMMUNITY BATHS.

IN DEFENSE of his letter promising protection to the keeper of the city's solitary dive in exchange for her testimony in the Millar trial, City Attorney Boggs, in a public letter, asserts:

With reference to the letter published in the Medford Mail Tribune Saturday, March 28, I have to say that any lawyer or any layman who will give the matter a moment's consideration knows that there is a difference between promising immunity to a witness and promising protection.

"Proprietress" is good. It requires a word all its own to fit the occupation—and the resourceful city attorney has met the emergency.

In the subtle reasoning of the official, there is a vast difference between immunity and protection—yet to all intents and purposes he has given the "proprietress" an immunity bath—protection from police interference and immunity to operate.

Councilman Millar is accused of immorality, but instead of confining evidence to the charge, the City Attorney is trying to prove that he sold liquor in his restaurant to minors. Why not try him upon this charge? Why besmirch his reputation with one charge and proceed to prove a matter outside the charge?

If liquor was bought by minors, why not help stop the illegal proceedings by arresting the minors also, who are breaking the law just as much as the liquor dealers? Yet Mr. Boggs gives them protection also.

Mr. Boggs has been city attorney for three months. During this time he has made no attempt to close the Royal. Why?

The Mail Tribune believes in law enforcement, but enforced impartially. It does not believe in converting law enforcement into a political game to punish opponents. It does not believe in promiscuous immunity baths to "proprietresses" of off-colored resorts and to youthful hoodlums, in order to "get" some one who cannot be whipped into line to support a political program.

That History of Oregon Fake

To the Editor: Dear Sir—I read with interest your article exposing the publishers of the "Centennial History of Oregon," and how they victimized many of your citizens. I handed the article to the Morning Democrat here and they republished it. I enclose that article, also a letter that I wrote for publication in the same paper here.

With her husband, but she in company with her husband came here together after the war—presumably the war of the rebellion. I don't remember if it says anything else of importance about Samantha, but anyway she came here, and as she promised to pay the twenty-five bucks for the privilege of having her name enrolled among the stung, of course she had to have her name recorded, so that the public generally could at all times have free access to the great army of easy-marks. Now, here as in and around Medford, there are a number of people who resent the insinuation (insinuation is correct,) that they are as easy as they look, so many of us have not paid for the work. I think work is proper, for it fits in so nicely with worked; so I refer to the set as the work of frauds, nor do we intend to voluntarily pay for having our names enrolled in the work of easy-marks unless the courts (a place wherein justice is done) compels us to come hither with twenty-five hard-earned simoleons.

GREEKS WILL HOLD SALONIKA AS SPOILS

ATHENS, March 31.—Despite the absence of King Constantine from that city, the Greeks are determined to hold Salonika as part of their spoils in the Balkan war. The hero is here to attend the funeral of the slain king Wednesday, but will return to Salonika at the conclusion of the obsequies.

AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN HOME UPON A VISIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 31.—After a brief tenure in office, Lars Anderson, United States ambassador to Japan is returning here today with Mrs. Anderson. They will make a brief stay in this city before departing for the east.

FLOODS CRIPPLE TRAFFIC INTO LEWISTON, IDAHO

LEWISTON, Idaho, March 31.—Railroad traffic into Lewiston is badly hampered by slides and washouts caused by the heavy rains of the past two days. The Snake and Clearwater rivers have risen about five feet and with the rains continuing today, the situation is becoming serious.

CLEAN UP DAY TO BE ARRANGED FOR

The ladies of the Greater Medford club are planning to arrange a clean up day in the city and to that end have sought the aid of the city officials.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

By A. C. Howlett.

Wm. C. Daley of Lake Creek came out last Wednesday to go to Jacksonville to pay his taxes.

Last Wednesday we had quite a serious accident in our town when John Miller, an old man over 80 years of age, was thrown from a wagon and quite badly, although not seriously hurt. Chris Natriek was coming down from his work on the road above trail and picked him up at the Joe Hannah place, five miles this side of Trail and they came along together, he having another young man with him until they came near Eagle Point, when Mr. Conover and Walter Woods got in and just after they passed the old grist mill one side of the tongue became detached from the axle and the tongue dropped down and the horses began to run and the three young men jumped out and just about about that time the horses ran against a telephone pole, which was about five inches thick, broke it off at the ground and also broke it near the center, tearing it loose from the two wires, then ran about seventy-five

The trial date was set for May 20.

COMMUNICATION.

No Storms Here.

To the Editor.—Dear Sir: I have noticed for quite a good while that every time we have a little rainfall, or a few flakes of snow are waited into our little valley, or the wind stirs up a little dust in our streets, that you call it a storm. Pardon me, but I do not think these favors of Providence should be classed as storms. You see The Mail Tribune goes to the northwest, the middle west, east, south and then some; and people in these countries who rear these torm items in your paper will very naturally compare them to the real storms they have in their own countries, and will say well, if they have storms in southern Oregon, I will stay away from there.

I have resided in Medford for nearly five years and, honestly, I have never seen anything like a storm of any kind here yet; really, it makes an easterner smile to hear people here talk about storms in the Rogue River valley. The little wind that we have here sometimes would not be a gentle breeze back east, up in the northwest or middle west where they do have storms. Once in a while, frequently, rain, hail, sleet, snow and wind that uproots great trees; takes houses, barns and other buildings from their foundations and spreads them over the surrounding landscape, and very often all of these join forces and come together with an accompaniment of thunder and lightning; then it is some interesting.

No, we don't have any storms in southern Oregon, none whatever, Mr. Editor, and if you will allow me I would suggest that the word storm be left out of the weather reports for this part of the country. Yours truly, W. N. O.

Presbyterian Church

The communion service at the Presbyterian church yesterday was most impressive. Nine persons united with the church of whom four were by profession and five by letter. This make 84 who have united with this church this year.

Next Friday evening at 7:30 there will be the annual congregational meeting and social to which all members of the church and congregation are requested to be present. Reports will be made and officers elected. An interesting and enjoyable evening is anticipated. All come.

The woman's missionary society of the Presbyterian church meets in the chapel Tuesday afternoon, April 1. All the women of the congregation are invited. This is the annual meeting and the retiring officers entertain.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDED 7000 MILES AWAY

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The Georgetown seismograph recorded an earthquake from 11 o'clock last night to twelve thirty this morning. Its maximum strength was indicated at 11:25. The seat of the disturbance was estimated to be 7,000 miles distant.

yards when the rig turned over, throwing both men out. Mr. Natriek fell on top of Mr. Miller but fortunately neither of them were seriously hurt. At first it was thought Mr. Miller's eye was put out—he has but one good eye—and fears were entertained that he would lose his other eye but I saw him sitting up this Friday afternoon and he was feeling quite comfortable and thinks that he will be well able to go to Jacksonville by Monday.

T. C. Kelenburg, who bought part of the Young place west of town, was doing business here this week. W. W. Taylor was also in town the same day.

Roy Vestal, who had been to Medford on business, returned on the P. & E. train Wednesday afternoon and proceeded on his way up to his home on Reese creek.

Mr. McCloud, who lives on Rogue river near the upper steel bridge, came in for a load of grain Wednesday to sow on the Nellis place on Florence Rock.

There was a band of horses stopped with their keepers on the bank of the creek Tuesday night that the keepers seemed to be anxious to trade off but they did not succeed very well.

Archie Walker and family of Colorado, a son-in-law of our townspeople, Mr. and Mrs. Painter, came in Tuesday evening on the folks unannounced.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

One of Interest to Our Readers.

Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Medford man is confirmed after many years. A. Z. Sears, 231 Fifth St., Medford, Oregon, says: "Since publicly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills in 1907 I have used them occasionally and they have always brought good results. I was afflicted with severe pains in my back and I often found it impossible to stoop. The kidney secretions passed too frequently and this weakness was a source of much annoyance. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I procured a box at Haskins' drug store and by the time I had finished the contents I could see that they were the right remedy for my trouble. Gradually the pains and other difficulties disappeared and my health improved. I cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to every one afflicted with kidney complaint."

"When your back is lame—remember the name." Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Sears had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
