

GOVERNOR WARNS ASTORIA AGAINST RED LIGHT EVIL

SALEM, Ore., April 8.—Governor West today sent a warning to Mayor Edward E. Gray of Astoria that he must not permit the establishment of a vice district in that city. Reports had reached the governor that such a step was contemplated. The message read:

"My attention has been called to your letters of April 5 addressed to Chief of Police of Astoria, in which it appears you are about to organize a municipal trust in sin. Please be advised that the maintenance and operation of houses of ill fame in this state is in violation of law and that any municipal official who permits or indulges the existence of these institutions lays himself open to prosecution under section 2044 of Lord's Oregon laws. This office will expect you promptly to join with Sheriff Burns and Chief Karney in cleaning up all such places. Otherwise we must take such steps as the circumstances demand."

COURT PREVENTS SALE OF RAILROAD

TACOMA, Wash., April 8.—By an order issued today by Justice Cushman of the federal court here, officers of every county in Western Washington have been temporarily restrained from attempting to forcibly collect delinquent taxes from the Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation company. The order was issued following the filing of a petition by attorneys for the railway.

In its complaint the company alleges that unless restrained by a court order the sheriffs and treasurers of the various counties will be forced under the statutes, to levy and foreclose upon the railroad property for failure to pay taxes, and that the business of the company as a common carrier of the United States will be interfered with. By distraining railroad property, the county officials will, it is contended, make the corporation liable to heavy penalties.

SOME WEEKS YET TO ADOPT NEW LAW

WASHINGTON, April 8.—It was announced today that it probably will be several weeks before the adoption of the constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of senators is proclaimed. Only 22 states so far have officially notified the government of the amendment's ratification.

BRIDGE MENACED BY HIGH WATERS IN THE NORTHERN PART OF NEW YORK STATE

This bridge, spanning the St. Regis river at Helena, N. Y., was in danger of going down any moment. The St. Regis river, like those of Ohio, had overflowed its banks for the first time in many years. Throughout the northeastern part of New York state, up and down the Hudson river and along its tributaries the heavy rains have swollen the streams till several towns were in danger.

better workers and merchants than any in the world. Aside from the duties laid upon articles which we do not, and probably can not, produce, therefore, and the duties laid upon luxuries and merely for the sake of the revenues they yield, the object of the tariff duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contest with the wits of the rest of the world.

It would be unwise to move toward this end headlong, with reckless haste, or with strokes that cut at the very roots of what has grown up amongst us by long process and at our own invitation. It does not alter a thing to upset it and break it and deprive it of a chance to change. It destroys it. We must make changes in our fiscal laws, in our fiscal system, whose object is development, a more free and wholesome development, not revolution of upset or confusion.

Build Up Industry.

We must build up trade, especially foreign trade. We need the outlet and the enlarged field of energy more than we ever did before. We must build up industry as well, and must adopt freedom in the place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build, not pull down. In dealing with the tariff the method by which this may be done will be a matter of judgment, exercised item by item. To some not accustomed to the excitement and responsibilities of greater freedom our methods may in some respects and at some points seem heroic, but remedies may be heroic and yet be remedies. It is our business to make sure that they are genuine remedies. Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment against us, we shall be fortunate.

We are called upon to render the country a great service in more matters than one. Our responsibility should be met and our methods should be thorough, as thorough as moderate and well considered, based upon the facts as they are, and not worked out as if we were beginners.

More Reforms Promised.

We are to deal with the facts of our own day, with the facts of no other, and to make laws which square with those facts. It is best, indeed it is necessary, to begin with the tariff. I will urge nothing upon you now at the opening of your session which can obscure that first object or divert our energies from that defined duty. At a later time I may take the liberty of calling your attention to reforms which should press close upon the heels of the tariff changes, if not accompany them, of which the chief is the reform of our banking and currency laws; but just now I refrain. For the present, I put these matters on one side and think only of this one thing—of the changes in our fiscal system which may best serve to open once more the free channels of prosperity to a great people whom we would serve to the utmost and throughout both rank and file.

The reason for the requested move is the stagnation of German provincial towns and the surplus of beautiful women without admirers there. It is figured that troops in these towns would keep the agriculturalists at home.
