

PONTIFF KEPT ALIVE BY AID OF INJECTIONS

Hypodermic Used Hourly to Sustain Heart Action—Impossible to Accurately Forecast What Next Day Will Bring Forth—Pope Cheerful

Vatican Prepared for Death But Unexpected Rally Follows—King Receiving Hourly Bulletins

ROME, April 17.—Quirinal and vatican are secretly conspiring to conceal the real condition of Pope Pius and are guarding against the election of a foreign cardinal to the papacy in the event of the pope's death. It is rumored here today. Both church and state fear an outsider will be elected in the event that there is a deadlock in the college of cardinals, according to the reports.

ROME, April 17.—Physicians to Pope Pius this afternoon posted the following bulletin:

"His Holiness passed a calm day without fever. His temperature was 98.2. Improvement in his bronchial trouble continues."

ROME, April 17.—Flat demand for a true statement of Pope Pius X's condition was made on the vatican here today by the Italian government. The physicians immediately answered, saying it was impossible to accurately forecast just what the next twenty-four hours would bring forth.

Hourly hypodermic injections were given the Pope today to sustain heart action. He slept much, his temperature standing practically stationary at 97. The Pope was in a cheerful frame of mind today, asserting this was the first day since his first relapse that he had felt relieved. His vitality is astonishing the papal physicians.

Unexpected Rally.

The night started alarmingly for the physicians of Pope Pius X but gradually developed into one of hopes and this morning it was believed that if the pontiff survives several days longer he has a chance to recover. At midnight he was restless and tormented by a cough. He was permitted to sit up, this partially to alleviate the discomfort. The Pope insisted on talking, however, and his temperature rose.

At an early hour this morning the pontiff suffered another coughing fit and then slept until dawn undisturbed.

The vatican prepared last night for the Pope's death. Manager Donnici notified Cardinal Gregina that the end was near and the latter was in constant readiness to assist in administering the last sacraments.

Prepared for Death.

It was reported that Cardinal Merry Del Val had requested all apostolic delegates to notify the cardinals abroad to be ready for a conclave of the Sacred College. Newspaper correspondents also heard a rumor that the government had agreed to hold up all telegraphic and cable communications in the event of the pontiff's death, in order to give precedence messages to church dignitaries.

Angelo Sarto, the pontiff's brother, has not left the sick room since he arrived in the city. His sisters also were summoned to the vatican last night and told to prepare for the worst. The Pope's married sisters, living outside of Italy, also have been summoned.

The King of Italy is receiving hourly bulletins concerning the pontiff's condition.

ORCHARDS OF ROGUE RIVER VALLEY IN FULL BLOOM, MAKE BRILLIANT SCENE

ROGUE ORCHARDS RUN RIOT WITH FAIRY COLORINGS

With nearly every variety of apples and pears, as well as peaches, plums and almonds, in full bloom at the same time, the orchards of the Rogue River valley are running riot with wonderful colorings and are attracting the attention of many of the city folks who are making special efforts to view them.

For the first time in several years the fruit trees of various varieties are coming into bloom at the same time. Cold weather with a sudden rise in temperature is responsible. Ordinarily the different varieties of fruit come into bloom at different times through the spring, but this year a deficiency in temperature held the blossoming period back.

The condition is entirely normal, asserts Professor O'Carra, and nothing is to be feared by reason of this fact.

Apples are fairly well in bloom now, but will not reach full bloom until Saturday or Sunday.

POLICE GARBED AS GHOSTS FORCED FAKE CONFESSION

ROCKVILLE, Md., April 17.—That policemen garbed as the ghosts of murderers who had been hanged in the state, tortured him by letting dozens of lizards into his cell and bathing the cell in ghastly blue lights until he admitted that he murdered his sweetheart's mother, Mrs. Annie Henry, was the statement made by Norman McCleary in his trial here today. McCleary repudiated to the smallest detail the confession dragged from him by the police.

The witness swore that while he was held in the county jail he was repeatedly haunted by white garbed nocturnal visitors, who moaned and groaned that they were the spirits of men who had died by the rope. He stated that the apparitions were driving him crazy until he learned that the eerie forms were those of regular bluecoats.

It was then that lizards were turned loose to crawl about him and waken him from sleep, he said, and he finally made the pseudo confession to rid himself of torture.

CALIFORNIA TO EXCLUDE JAPS ASSERTS KENT

Golden State to be White Man's County Declares Congressman—Social Reasons Make the Japs More Objectionable than Chinese

Race Problem Involved, Which is Vital Element in Whole Contention Japs Cannot be Taken Care of

WASHINGTON, April 17.—That California is absolutely determined upon exclusion of the Japanese, that Californians are set like steel for a white man's state and why they are so set, was explained here today by William Kent, congressman of California, in a lengthy statement dealing with conditions now agitating the golden state. He said:

"Chinese exclusion was based on economic and social reasons. The economic reasons were fallacious. If the Chinese did our work without demoralizing our democracy, there was no reason why he should not do it. But in working he kept out white labor and thus demoralized our social status."

Japs More Offensive.

"The same reasons were cited as objections to the Japanese. He was found to have a much less valuable economic quantity than the Chinaman. He did not have the same ideals of commercial integrity and his social attitude was more offensive. The exclusion laws undoubtedly would have been passed against the Japanese if their government had not entered into a treaty to provide against issuing passports to its laboring classes coming to America."

"The practical effect of Japanese land tenure is shown by Japanese settlements in some of the most fertile portions of California. The white people shun these sections. This may and may not be due to the prejudice of white neighbors, but California, this far, has been a white man's country and it is the intention of the people of California to keep it so."

Race Problem Involved.

"It is a curious fact that the Japanese persistently deny that, in their case, a race problem is involved and refuse to recognize this as a vital element in the whole contention. To a thoughtful student of the situation there can be no assumption of superiority as lying back of the racial question. We may admit, if we choose, that the Japanese are, in some particulars, our superiors. We cannot deny, however, that, taken racially, they are different from the white race. They cannot be assimilated into our population. Introduction of permanently defined groups of non-assimilable population must necessarily create bitterness and misunderstanding and hamper the development of democracy."

"The privileged classes in California—the land-owners and great employers of labor—may clamor for this cheaper labor, but the vast majority of Californians look forward to a great state wherein similarity of population will make an enlightened democracy possible."

ORGANIZED LABOR TO BACK TY COBB

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 17.—Organized labor may stand back of Ty Cobb, the star holdout outfielder, in his controversy with President Navin of the Detroit Tigers.
